CEMETERY TRUST FUNDS.

In compliance with the vote of the town at the last Annual Meeting I herewith submit a report of the condition of the Cemetery Trust Funds.

Owing to the fact that the ending of our financial year does not correspond with the dividend paying dates of the banks, it is impossible to give the exact amount of interest due at the time of making this report. This will adjust itself from year to year but there will always be a fraction of six months' interest remaining in the banks at the time of making the Annual report.

Some of these funds, deposited during the past year have not earned the full year's interest, and one deposit of $300.00 was received too late to be entitled to any interest for the time covered by this report.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:

I hereby submit to you the following report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year. Feb. 2, 1909, a heifer was quarantined under suspicion of having tuberculosis, examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau, found tuberculosis, killed and stable disinfected.

March 18, a cow was quarantined under suspicion of being tuberculosis, examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau, found tuberculosis, killed and stable disinfected.

March 20, rabies appeared in town, a dog died and after being examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau was said to have rabies, one other dog was killed and buried as the owner did not wish to keep it in quarantine. Four other dogs were quarantined for a certain length of time but as these dogs did not show signs of rabies were released.

April 26, two cows were placed in quarantine under suspicion of being tuberculosis, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, found tuberculosis, killed and stable disinfected.

August 16, another cow was quarantined under suspicion of being tuberculosis, examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau, found tuberculosis, killed and stable disinfected.

In October, as usual, instructions were received from Chief of Cattle Bureau to make a complete inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, goats and swine in town.

During this inspection 65 stables were visited in which are kept 556 cattle, 2 goats, 5 sheep and 484 swine.

Three of these cattle were killed on sight, examined by myself, all found to be tuberculosis, and buried, stable disinfected and reported to Chief of Cattle Bureau.

Two other cows were placed in quarantine at this time as being tuberculosis, examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau, found tuberculosis, killed and stable disinfected.

I am very glad to say we have not had any farcy or glanders in town during the past year.

Yours respectfully,

GEORGE S. CHENEY,

Inspector of Animals.

At the last Annual Meeting we recommended an appropriation of $800, which was granted and appropriated and we have endeavored to use the same to the best interests of the cemetery. We have regraded a part of Wheelock avenue, commencing near the Langley lot, continuing westerly and southerly to Main street raising the grade a part of the way eighteen inches, and lowering the grade a part of the way ten inches.

We raised the bank the lower side of avenue to conform to grade of avenue and sodded same; we added stone steps to the ones already in lower bank to bring them up to grade of avenue. We put in a hundred feet of wall about two feet high to hold bank where we lowered grade of avenue and paved gutter to hold wall.

The avenue now has a gradual decent to a point near the big oak tree where it falls rapidly to the street; we lowered the paved gutters where they emptied on street and carried them under the sidewalk where they empty into street gutters. We put in fifteen cement steps in path leading from Wheelock avenue to Wilson avenue near the bridge, graded and sodded the banks and gravelled the path with gravel from M. C. Adams' pit in Millis; we also gravelled a large part of Wheelock avenue with gravel from said pit.

We trust we have taken care of the cemetery as a whole to the satisfaction of the citizens generally.

We would respectfully recommead that the sum of $800 be appropriated to be used in the cemetery this year.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWIN V. MITCHELL,	} Cemetery } Committee.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:

Last year all the colonies of the gypsy moth with the exception of those in the woods were carefully looked after. In the orchards all cavities were tinned, the trees scraped and tinned and later burlapped. The wood colonies' side of the highways were thinned, brush cut and burned and later the trees were burlapped. We put on one thousand burlaps. These were turned at the proper time and a goodly number of larvæ found. In December we started on the annual scouting, looking the orchards, shade trees and woods by the highways over carefully. We have not scouted in the woods back of the highways but have creosoted all known colonies. There is an increase in the number of colonies over last year. We now have eighty-six colonies outside of the woods and twelve that we know of in the woods.

Our scouting shows that with proper care the moths can be kept down in our orchards and shade trees with very little expense. There were very few places where we found eggs in an old colony. The wood colonies' side of the highway are more difficult to control as where there are white oaks the larvæ will not all come down to the burlaps. We were able to keep the moths from increasing in these colonies.

In the wood colonies back from the highway we creosoted all the eggs that could be found and will not do any cleaning up on account of the expense. In all of these colonies with one exception we have found less eggs this year than last. This colony last year had about five hundred clusters. It was burned over a few years ago and the dead wood and loose bark make it difficult to locate all the eggs and furnish an ideal breeding place. This year we have creosoted two thousand eight hundred and forty-one clusters in this colony.

We have two wood colonies on Pine street that reach up to the highway that will require a good deal of care to keep them from spreading. In one we creosoted five hundred and twenty clusters, in the other seven hundred and fifty-five clusters. We have not finished creosoting in the last colony. The eighty-six colonies are scattered all over the town, in the village and on the farms. There is no section that is free from them although we have not found many in the vicinity of Noon Hill. Most of the colonies are small and easily handled.

It now looks as though in a few years the parasites and predacious beetles now being bred by the Government would be able to help in suppressing the moths and that in the future the moths will be kept down so that they will do no damage.

The moths have quite a start over the parasites and it will take time for the parasites to become plenty enough to do that. At the present time it is necessary for us to keep the moths from spreading and doing too much damage.

We have creosoted since the first of December five thousand, one hundred and seventy clusters of eggs. A cluster averages about five hundred eggs. These colonies will require a large amount of work this year. It will probably be found best to substitute spraying in place of burlapping in some of the colonies.

We have cut off five hundred and fifty-five browntail nests. This moth will probably never become as plenty here as in some places.

We sprayed three hundred and fifty of the elm trees last last year for the beetle and I think that the results prove that it was a good move and should be repeated this year.

I would recommend that the town appropriate six hundred dollars for the moth work and at least three hundred dollars for spraying the elm trees.

 REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

We have to report a prosperous year. We are still maintaining open shelves and find that our patrons appreciate the advantage of being able to select their own books. We are constantly making additions, and welcome suggestions from all interested.

There are now upon our shelves 5,283 volumes. Loaned to individuals, 7,162. Loaned to schools, 73.

We acknowledge receipt of the interesting book, "Ireland's Story," from the Ladies Auxiliary, A. O. H.

The Librarian offers the following suggestions, first: Always return your book to the desk. Otherwise it will stand charged against you on the slip. Second: Please do not use the shelf rooms as places for conversation. Do that if you must, in the reading room, and so modulate your voice that it will not disturb others. Third: Familiarize yourself with the card catalogue. It is very probable that we have many books, of which you were not aware.

We are preparing a supplementary catalogue, which will be ready in a few weeks. One copy will be furnished free to each household. The expense of this catalogue will materially reduce our unexpended balance.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The Annual Report of the School Committee for the year ending Jan. 31, 1910 is herewith respectfully submitted:-

Mr. Waldo A. Fitts was re-elected a member of the Committee, at the annual election.

The Committee organized with L. K. Conant chairman and C. H. Williams secretary.

On the first day of October Mr. Williams resigned and a joint meeting of the Selectmen and School Committee was held, as provided by law and elected Allan A. Kingsbury to fill the vacancy for the balance of the year.

Mr. Waldo A. Fitts was elected Secretary.

We have had our usual change in teachers during the past year. This is unavoidable, as we cannot hope to equal salaries paid by our larger neighboring cities and towns.

Mr. Chisholm accepted a better position in the Brookline High school and Nowal B. Spinney was elected principal in his place.

Miss Crocker resigned and Miss Freeman was added to our corps of High school teachers.

Miss Walker was elected to the 6th and 7th grades, but resigned at Thanksgiving and Mrs. Morey was elected in her place.

Miss Fisher was appointed to the 4th and 5th grades in place of Miss Kirby who resigned.

The Committee feels that all the schools are making steady progress. The standard of the grades in the Grammar school is being raised from year to year.

The High school has passed from the experimental stage into one of steady development along broad lines.

There has been throughout the country, during the last few years, a decided change in the attitude of the people as to what our High Schools should try to accomplish.

The demand has been that the High School be something more than a mere college preparatory school.

The courses of study were laid out for the few, instead of the many, but now people demand courses that will help those who are not going to college but to work.

We have followed these lines in our High School courses and now offer our pupils their choice of a college preparatory course, Normal School course, Scientific course, or a business course.

The popularity of the commercial course is very gratifying to the committee and convinces them that they are surely working in the right direction.

In laying plans for further development, it has seemed to your committee that whereas, those pupils that are planning to go into business, to college, normal school or scientific school, are given all they require for such preparation, those girls that are to stay at home and help keep house, are being neglected.

With this end in view, we are making plans for a course in what we might call "Household Economics." This would include the management of a house, cleanliness, sanitary conditions, economy in buying meat and provisions, sewing and cooking.

While as yet, we have not had money enough to accomplish very much, we have since the first of January introduced sewing.

This gives an idea of the definite line of development we have laid out.

The school buildings are in very good condition. Whatever repairs are necessary are attended to at once. The Ralph Wheelock School should be painted next year.

A new room was finished off in the third story of the Ralph Wheelock School for the use of the Commercial department. This places our Chemical laboratory and typewriters on the third floor by themselves.

We have decided to make the Superintendent's office on the first floor into a reference library for the whole school. This will add greatly to the efficiency of the school.

The graduating class last June, very kindly presented a set of Shakespeare for the library. There is also a sum of money raised at various entertainments, that has been given for the purchase of books, so the library seems an assured success.

Mrs. J. De Forest Danielson very kindly gave the school a number of classical pictures appropriate for the High School room and the library.

There seems to have been for the last two years a misunderstanding about the graduation exercises. The graduating scholars have a few tickets for their parents and friends, with a few seats in the hall reserved for them. Outside of these few seats, the exercises are free to the public, and we trust all interested in our schools will attend them.

The Committee ask for the co-operation of the parents in all things pertaining to our schools. We are giving our best efforts for their development and ask that instead of giving abuse, you realize that any step we have taken, has been only after careful thought and study, and our decision should have some influence on those who might be tempted to criticise.

Our recommendation for the school appropriation for the ensuing year is $6,600. The increase of $300 from last year is to take care of the painting of the Ralph Wheelock school.

Respectfully submitted,
LEWIS K. CONANT,
For the Committee.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF MEDFIELD :

In accordance with custom and by your request, I hereby submit my second annual report, which is the eleventh in the series of annual reports of the Superintendent of the Public Schools of Medfield.

The portions submitted by the High school principal, supervisors of music and of drawing, are important parts of this report. Those of us who view from the outside, a special line of work, being deprived the privilege of having definite first hand information, must rely upon the specialist to enlighten us. Possibly we, as a public, may sometimes criticise, and advance our opinions as to how certain things should or should not be done, but our sober, sane thoughts really convince us that the specialist knows more of his or her subject than we can possibly know, both as to the success and as to the failure of what he or she is doing. It is the duty of teachers to have ideals of good to be accomplished, and to lead pupils and the public to cultivate desires for the best that can be obtained. Teachers know more than their critics about the failures of school work, and a majority of them have sense enough to know that the failures and evils would be intensified and increased if they were continually being paraded to view.

It is the duty of specialists to point out things which need to be improved and to suggest ways to make the change. They may err in judgment but we must give them the credit for sincerity of purpose.

I ask for a careful consideration of these reports. Reference to the teacher's directory shows numerous changes since the report of last year, but we hope for a less number in the next year.

While there is always the possibility of, and quite likely to be, a loss when a change in the teaching force occurs, I am confident that, on the whole, no retrograde, either in professional training or in ability to accomplish the required work effectively, has been made.

Our next duty after obtaining good teachers is to provide the facilities for them to render the best possible returns from a conscientious use of their training and skill. If their energies are scattered by requiring them to teach too large a group of children, in more than one, or even in only one grade, an injustice is done both the teacher and children. Lack of time to give individual instruction retards the advancement of the pupil. The child of average ability may obtain promotion under such circumstances, without being thoroughly fitted for it, while the slow child fails, when he might win if the teacher had time to aid with individual instruction. Such conditions also, bring great strain upon the teacher because so much of her work seems to be of no avail; her pupils do not get on, and parents, who do not understand the true state of things are led to be unjust in placing the responsibility.

Perhaps an attempt is made to obviate some of the difficulty by helping the pupils outside of regular time, or by assistance after school, but this is very likely to be such a strain on the nerves of both teacher and pupils, that the end sought to be obtained is defeated.

These conditions were very evident last year, have been this year and will be next unless a change is effected. My suggestion of last year to relieve the room containing the sixth and seventh grades by combining grade nine with the High school, and thus giving opportunity to divide the other grades, was not adopted. The situation was relieved somewhat by keeping grade six of the Lowell Mason School there another year, instead of sending these children to the Ralph Wheelock School as in previous years. It certainly will not be right to either the teacher or the pupils, to retain a seventh grade at the Lowell Mason School, but it may be possible to keep the sixth grade there next year. The room containing grades four and five, with fifty-one pupils, has been the largest this year, but will be relieved somewhat next year. The two rooms having grades six and seven, and eight and nine, according to present indications, will will be larger. If the children of these grades, just preceding the high school, do their part faithfully they have a right to claim sufficient help from teachers, to fit them to take up the High school course with confidence. It will cost something to make this improvement, but it is certainly worth the outlay. If it is not deemed advisable to combine grade nine with the High school, I suggest that some of the grades be divided and another teacher be hired. Now that we have two new rooms fitted for High school recitation purposes, this can be done even though thereby the High school is somewhat crowded, and more passing up and down the stairs made necessary. These inconveniences are but trifles when compared with the possible amount of good that might be accomplished. A third plan is to introduce what is termed the Batavia system and hire a teacher to give individual instruction to backward pupils in whatever grade. This system is used in many places with good results. Personally, I prefer a less number of pupils in a room and leave the individual work to the teacher of the room. I trust that this subject will receive your careful consideration.

Our High school has passed the experimental stage and the pupils are taking on, in a measure, the spirit of work, without which no High school can accomplish its purpose. The pupils must realize that it is not a place which they are to attend, simply with some appearance of regularity, for four years and then receive a diploma certifying that they have completed the course in a "satisfactory manner." High school pupils have come to the time when they are to finish school days or else prepare for more advanced school life. In either case it is a time when the frivolous side of social life, which weakens rather than strengthens character, should be entirely omitted. It is a time of life which should be characterized by earnest, thoughtful, intense, honest work. The places "at the top" are gained only by those who are willing to put forth the effort to climb.

The new room fitted, last summer, for the use of the commercial department of the High school, affords much satisfaction, and I suggest that a few more commercial desks and two typewriter tables be supplied just as soon as you can see your way clear to buy them.

A sum of money has been raised, through various sources, with the purpose in view of establishing a library and reading room in connection with the Ralph Wheelock school. The sum is large enough to purchase books to make a respectable beginning. If future classes will follow the commendable example of the last class, in making a gift, and other additions be made from time to time, a few years will suffice to provide a source of great help to the advancement of the High school.

Results of investigations in relation to the danger to health from the use of the common drinking cup have led to inquiries by the state Board of Health into the methods of furnishing drinking water to pupils in the public schools, and no doubt it will not be long before we shall be required to furnish individual cups or sanitary drinking fountains. I think that it would be wisdom on our part to make a move in this matter before we are forced to do so, and install drinking fountains in the Ralph Wheelock school.

Thanks to the care of the janitor, those children who stay at the building for noon lunch, are quite well cared for, but the conditions are not satisfactory. School desks are not just the things to use for dining table purposes, and I feel that we here have a chance to add to the comfort of the children, and possibly exert a wholesome influence over them along ethical lines. The epidemic of measles, which came to us last spring, is a very decided illustration of the rapid and widespread movement of disease among school children, and ought to prompt us to make a better use of our power to care for the children's health by enforcing the laws of medical inspection and cleanliness.

I report with some gratification, that the establishment of sewing as a part of the school work, starts in favorably. Commencing with the present term the efficient teacher of drawing, Miss Helen M. Allen, has been employed one-half day each week to give instruction to the girls of grades five, six, seven, eight and nine. As this work progresses and proves its worth, I hope to see more work along household economic, and industrial lines introduced. We have many boys who could profit by some kind of hand work in connection with their book study.

Seldom is a school of the size of the Ralph Wheelock school called upon to mourn the loss by death of two pupils in such a short time.

The sudden deaths of Marion G. Curtis of grade eight, Nov. 1, 1909, and of Ernest G. Bent of the junior class in the High school on Dec. 17th cast a gloom over the entire school. They were pupils whose example in upholding school duties are worthy of remembrance, and their loss, so deeply felt by the parents, we regard as our loss also.

The removal of Rev. Charles H. Williams from town took away a member of the school committee who was ever anxious to do his part to improve the facilities, and to advance the interests of the schools.

I congratulate you and the citizens that you were able to secure so efficient a man as Mr. Allen Kingsbury to fill the vacancy.

In closing I wish to say that all are working together to obtain results that will count in the future lives of the children, and this harmonious combination of active teaching force must produce good results.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. WEST,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

TO SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS :

Dear Sir,—I herewith present to you my first annual report as Principal of Medfield High School.

School re-opened Sept. 7th, 1909, with an enrollment of 35; total membership, 36.

Good health has prevailed in the school and the attendance has been well maintained. Requests for dismissal have been numerous, but trust an improvement will be made in this respect. Our school was saddened by the death of Ernest Bent, a member of the Junior class, which occurred the latter part of the fall term. A boy of unusual promise, studious habits, and high character, his loss is mourned by all.

In our work, we are endeavoring to secure thorough, concentrated habits of study—to encourage independence in thought and expression. All knowledge, to have real worth and power must be sought in this fashion. To supplement our efforts, we earnestly hope that parents will take an increasing interest in what their children are doing and insist on definite home study. Few pupils can afford less than three hours study outside of school. School should be made the first thing in the lives of the young—not as is too often the case, of secondary importance.

We would welcome a more active interest in the school on the part of parents and friends as shown by more frequent visitation.

We have established a rigid system of making up work, lost or incomplete through absence or other cause, pupils returning for afternoon sessions. This plan is producing good results.

Expenses connected with graduation reception and prospective trips, entail money making schemes on the part of pupils. Some of these activities are educative and all take time that in some cases, can be ill afforded. Possibly some better means may be devised to better serve the purpose.

I hope opportunity will be afforded for introducing some work in Agricultural Science into our High school course next year.

Also I would recommend that if possible one period each week, be devoted to general exercises in debating and rhetoricals. These could be well conducted under a school organization in the form of a club, participation in the exercises being required and credit given.

I wish to commend the faithful efficient services of my assistants.

I believe that in our boys and girls there is a deepening conviction that life is real and earnest and that they are to be commended for the zeal with which they are fitting for service.

In closing I would make grateful acknowledgement to all who have aided us in our efforts to Superintendent, for helpful advice and co-operation, to the School Committee for their unfailing and cordial support.

Respectfully submitted,

NORVAL B. SPINNEY,

Principal.

MEDFIELD, MASS., JAN. 28, 1910.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

MR. M. J. West; Superintendent of Schools.

I submit the following report of music in the schools of Medfield.

The Weaver System of Music is used in the schools and gives thorough graded work in all music principles and individual sight singing. It is the course of music instruction in demand because of the independent individual development. Last June the system of work was demonstrated with the children before the public. The growth of the technical music was shown by various grades. Music is a study in the schools—not wholly and primarily song singing. A large number of attractive songs are taught and an appreciation and liking for good music is inculcated.

Music has a charm in the home—it gives mood and spirit at the school.

The first year many deficient in pitch are by constant effort taught to carry a perfect scale. Simple reading is begun and increased in difficulty with the successive grades. The fourth and fifth grades sustain two-part music, the sixth and seventh, three parts and the eighth and ninth four parts. The High school consists of chorus work with the school and a girls' glee club. The writing of music is carried on throughout the grades, giving a clear understanding of the notation and also a prop toward creative and original writing for the child of genius.

There is remarkable talent in the schools of Medfield. There are many children of exceptional musical ability. I believe that two-thirds of the grammar children, if tested, would prove capable of reading understandingly whatever music is placed in their hands. This is the result of the teachers who give the conscientious daily work.

It is not a law of nature to do all things equally well. There are also natural hindrances in music. The changing voice is an unreliable, self-conscious time. Perhaps more than any other subject taught the music lesson needs enthusiasm, impetus, energy. We urge and incite to create that all-accomplishing earnestness in some of our boys and girls who cultivate rather a spirit of feigned indifference toward required work. The work is moulding and its progress is steadily going on influencing and shaping toward highest standards.

EMMA T. PERKINS.

Superintendent of Music.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF DRAWING

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

Through drawing as a common language for self expression and communication of ideas a pupil develops certain faculties which enable him to think independently and creatively. He also acquires a taste for beauty that readily applies itself to individual and community surroundings. These qualities are valuable aids in practical affairs of everyday life and their development should have an important part in school work.

With regard to such aims our work is arranged under the following topics: illustrative drawing, representative drawing, and design. Illustrative drawing is the main work for self expression and it consists of making pictures of personal experiences. Under the large topic of representative work we have mechanical work, object drawing with perspective study, and nature drawing. In design pupils study color and form and plan for a definite end by making and decorating certain objects.

The children in the primary grades draw familiar objects, illustrate stories, and make simple designs that are sometimes applied to objects folded from paper. Their work gives them a readiness for drawing that is of future value.

In intermediate grades the children begin to study the principles of drawing and learn to handle different mediums. Similar work with more advanced studies of the subject is carried on by the grammar classes until in the eight and ninth grades the pupils become masters of the elementary principles and have confidence in the use of mediums.

The High school has two drawing classes, one freehand and the other mechanical. The pupils of the mechanical class use instruments and learn to make and read working drawings, while those in the freehand class review the general drawing principles and study some light and shade.

In my lessons I have endeavored to work for careful understanding before good appearing lines and masses, consequently considerable time is required in order to obtain good results, but the progress is certain.

The teachers of the upper grades give one lesson a week and the primary teachers give several. Their interest in the work and their generous assistance is highly appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLEN,

Supervisor of Drawing.

REPORT OF SCHOOL PHYSICIAN

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

During the past year the school buildings have been inspected and found to be in good sanitary condition.

The pupils have been examined and found to be in apparent good health.

In examining the mouths and throats of the pupils it was found that some few had adenoids and that in many cases the teeth of the first dentition were interfering with and crowding out the permanent teeth from their proper place. Such cases were advised to consult their dentist.

The testing of the eyes and ears as carried out by the teachers is excellent, for children with defective sight or hearing are handicaped in their studies.

During the early part of last year an epidemic of measles with over one hundred reported and some unreported cases, was so widely spread and of such magnitude it was found necessary to close the Ralph Wheelock school for several weeks.

The epidemic was caused by the attendance of one of the pupils at a gathering of young men in a near-by city where he contracted the disease unknowingly and spread it throughout his grade before it had made itself manifest. While no one is to blame yet it plainly shows that we cannot be too careful for it not only interferes with the work of the individual scholar but with the school as a whole, there being in some grades from one-third to one-half of the scholars absent at the same time.

There was one case of diphtheria (during vacation), and in the fall term several cases of whooping cough in the first grade.

The appearance and cleanliness of some might be improved, but that of the majority is all that could be desired.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK H. CLOUGH
School Physician.

Tune—"Loved Alma Mater."

Lov'd Medfield High School,
Where we have studied long,
To thee we give a song,
On this bright day.
Our motto, "Gradatim,"
We follow with a vim
As we life's upward way
March step by step.

We love our blue and gold,
Symbols of truth and right ;
May they be ever bright
Just as of old.
May we be ever true,
Thus honor still the blue,
Mirror of heav'n's bright hue,

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Library is fulfilling its purpose so far as is possible. We have tried the experiment suggested by the State Library Association, of purchasing several copies of books most in demand. One is placed on the shelves for free circulation. The others are loaned for five cents per week, and are called seven-day books. If retained more than a week, the borrower is charged two cents per day, as per the regular rule. Many who desire the new books as they appear appreciate the new plan. While meaning to secure the best in the new fiction, we also provide books of travel and adventure and valuable reference books. To our list of magazines we have added the Literary Digest. During the year the following volumes have been donated:—

“Cost of Living in Massachusetts,” “The Melvin Memorial,” “Pathfinder of Discovery and Invention,” “Conference of the Health Officers of the United States,” “Massachusetts Minute Men of '61,” “World Corporation,” “Bacon is Shakespeare,” “Massachusetts Monuments,” “The Newell Relic and Curio Hall of Franklin, Mass.,” “Ireland’s Story,” “Dedication of the Statue of Rear Admiral John A. Winslow,” “Dedication of the Statue of Major-General Nathaniel P. Banks,” “Encampment of Department of Massachusetts G. A. R. 1910.”

A catalogue of books added during 1910 will be ready in a short time. That, with a recent purchase of books, will substantially reduce our surplus.

Number of books on shelves, 5,446; loaned to individuals, 7,549; loaned to schools, 89.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:

I hereby submit to you the following report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year. March 8, 1910, a cow was placed in quarantine under suspicion of having tuberculosis, and, after being examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, was found tuberculous, killed, and stable disinfected. In April a cow was shipped from out of the State to this town. She was tested before shipment, and the test papers came along with the cow. These papers were sent to the Chief of the Cattle Bureau, but for some reason he had the cow quarantined and tested by an agent of the Cattle Bureau. She was found to be all right, and was released May 2. A horse was quarantined under suspicion of having farcy. This was examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, who ordered him killed or rendered. It was killed and rendered and stable disinfected. May 6 a horse was quarantined under suspicion of having glanders, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, who found him all right, and was released. July 24 a cow was placed in quarantine under suspicion of having tuberculosis, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, who found her to be tuberculous, was killed, and stable disinfected. July 25 another cow was placed in quarantine under suspicion of having tuberculosis, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, found to be tuberculous, was killed, and stable disinfected. September 2 another cow was quarantined under suspicion of having tuberculosis, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, but was released. October 13 a horse was quarantined under suspicion of having glanders, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, and was released. In October, as usual, instructions were received from the Chief of the Bureau to make a complete inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, goats, and swine, and stables in which they are kept. During this inspection 67 stables were visited, in which were kept at time 570 cattle, 2 goats, 16 sheep, and 742 swine. These animals were apparently in a healthy condition, and I did not find cause to quarantine any of them, which is something I never did before when I made a complete inspection. January, 1911, orders have been received from the new Chief of the Cattle Bureau to make another complete inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, and goats and swine, and stables in which they are kept.

Yours respectfully,

GEORGE S. CHENEY,

Inspector of Animals.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The annual report of the School Committee for the year ending Jan. 31, 1911, is respectfully submitted. Mr. Allan A. Kingsbury was elected for one year and Mr. Richard C. Lincoln for three years at the annual election.

The Committee organized with Waldo A. Fitts, Chairman, Richard C. Lincoln, Secretary.

The work of our schools during the past year has been very acceptable, and we feel that our Superintendent and teachers should have a word of appreciation and encouragement for their faithful and efficient labor. It is no easy task to keep our schools up to the requirements of the present day, and a constant expenditure of time and energy is required. We are gratified that these requirements have been met and discharged with fidelity and earnestness of purpose by the working force of our schools.

The school buildings are in good condition, both inside and out, and no extensive repairs are expected at present.

The south side of the Ralph Wheelock School building will require shingling at some future date, but this need is not immediate, unless the spring storms should be unusually severe.

The heating plant is apparently in good order and working satisfactorily.

New shelves have been placed in the room now occupied by the Superintendent, and the Committee hope that these shelves will soon be filled with suitable school reference books, and that this room, now known as the Superintendent's office, may become the School Library. We have, for a beginning, several sets of books, presented by the graduating classes of 1909-10. There is also a small sum of money to be devoted to the purchasing of reference books.

The Committee would be only too glad to receive gifts from any who are interested in such a library for our schools, and would like to contribute anything for the enlargement of such an enterprise.

During the summer vacation the Centre School building received a coat of paint, which added greatly to the appearance and preservation of the building. Prior to painting, there was much more repairing required than the Committee had anticipated; also, by direction of the Inspector of Public Buildings, a bulkhead was put into the basement as an additional exit. These expenditures were over $200 more than had been expected.

For the first time in years the town has been required to pay tuition for children in the Noon Hill district. This year two children from the Haggerty Farm attend school in Norfolk, making tuition necessary.

With the advancement this year from the fifth grade there will be a large increase in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades, where there already exists a very congested condition. There is no question as to the ability of our teachers to instruct these large classes, but the pupils cannot receive the individual help that is necessary to produce the most satisfactory results. There is also more likelihood of some of the backward scholars in the classes having to repeat a year's work, a measure that not only is disappointing to a pupil, but to all who are connected with and interested in the work.

Our high-school principal has given most substantial aid by taking into his room after 2 P.M. the sixth grade for instruction in history. Even with this help the crowded condition of the sixth and seventh grades renders the work very difficult.

LOWELL MASON SCHOOL.

This building is in good repair, and work here goes on without interruption.

Pupils advanced from this school to the Centre School are noticeable for their thorough training. The only thing lacking in this district is a few more children to fill vacant seats.

Parents and friends of children are most cordially invited to visit school and inspect the work that is being accomplished. Although our schools are not factories, turning out each year finished products, yet we are endeavoring to lay the foundation for well-trained lives that shall go out into the world to do useful and creditable work.

Our recommendation for the school appropriation for the ensuing year is $6,600.

Respectfully submitted,

WALDO A. FITTS,

For the Committee.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF MEDFIELD:

I hereby submit my third annual report, which is the twelfth in the series of annual reports of the Superintendent of the public schools of Medfield.

Reference to the list of teachers shows that the usual number of changes has occurred, being more than half of the entire force. This is nothing unusual, however, for the same condition prevails in adjoining small towns. All the newly employed are teachers of experience, and have had the benefit of special training, and all of the changes but one came during the summer vacation. I am sure that care was taken in making selections of new teachers, and that no retrograde in teaching ability resulted. The natural promotions in schools large enough to have but one grade in a room necessarily bring the pupils into contact with a different teacher each year. With our system of two grades in a room the same result occurs, if a change of teachers comes each year. When we can keep a good teacher two or more years, the alternate classes are certainly the gainers, because they thus have the advantage over the children of a single-grade room by having the same teacher at least two years, provided changes are made only in the summer vacation.

When a first-class teacher is secured, the question of salary should not be the cause of a change. On the other hand, incompetent teachers should not be retained at even a minimum salary.

The one question which at present overshadows all others is how to alleviate the overcrowded condition of some of the rooms. It needs no argument to prove that many of our pupils are not receiving the amount of personal time from their teachers that they need and by every right should have. I have called attention to this condition in two previous reports, and have urged a remedy. In the mean time the conditions have gone on, and teachers have been overworked, and the pupils in the four upper grammar grades have been moving along towards the high-school age with every prospect of asking to be admitted to the high school handicapped with a poor preparation. As it is, we cannot refuse to admit them, and by so doing the whole standard of the high school must be on a low plane. Mr. Spinney has taken the sixth grade for one recitation in the afternoon, but this is but a partial relief.

Present numbers indicate that sixty pupils may be in the high school next September. Some of them may not attend, but the capacity for seating will be taxed to the limit. There are 108 pupils in line for the two rooms now taught by Miss Paine and Miss Gibbs, and I recommend that they be divided into three rooms, and that the town be strongly urged to appropriate the funds to effect the change.

The high-school membership of 50 is the largest since the adoption of the four-year course, and every seat is occupied. The quality of the work done by the classes above the entering class is in advance of that done in previous years in a marked degree, and I note this as a very encouraging feature. There are many chances to improve, and I am strongly of the opinion that a one-session plan is not the best for a school which is housed in the same building with the grades. The distractions seriously interfere with the work, especially when the rooms for the school are so restricted. The entire Ralph Wheelock building should be given over to the use of the grades.

All things in educational matters indicate that we are entering upon a period of great changes in school activities, and Medfield ought to put herself into position to get the benefits. New features of school life will call for more room, a longer school day, a better adaptation of work and play to the child, and more attention to the physical development. With such things in view it seems that it would be a wise policy to secure some location of several acres for a future high-school lot and playground. Land values in this region are sure to increase, and no better time than the present will ever come for obtaining such a lot as I have indicated.

I do not mean by this that the town must necessarily build this year or the next, but it is wise to prepare for future possibilities.

The work of drawing and sewing under Miss Allan's instruction progresses favorably, but we sadly need more chance to extend such hand-work with the girls in cooking and household economics and with the boys in wood-work and in other lines.

The improvements made in the girls' basement were much needed, and that now affords a good shelter for playroom during stormy weather. The need of a room especially fitted for a lunch-room is constantly with us.

The shelving which has recently been placed in the Superintendent's office makes our much-talked-of school reference library appear at last like an actual fact. Additional books will soon be purchased with the fund that we have for that purpose. The books which have been presented by the graduating classes form a good nucleus, and we are planning to make this library one of the very useful departments of the schools. In this connection the high school can take a leading part, and whatever the students do for this cause will be gratefully appreciated.

The one fountain bubbler which has been installed in the boys' basement does not fully comply with the law which forbids the common drinking-cup, because all of the children do not have access to it. I recommend that another be placed in the girls' basement and one on each of the two main floors. I see no better way to take care of this matter at the Lowell Mason School than to provide individual cups, unless the town is willing to install a force pump and a tank that will hold about ten gallons. This can be placed over the sink, and a faucet and bubbler can then be installed.

The exhibits made by the children of corn and potatoes at the grange fair were the results of work done in the corn and potato clubs which were organized in the schools last spring. The seed for this was furnished by the Massachusetts Agricultural College, and one half-pint of corn was given to each of the 54 in the corn club, and four potatoes were given to each of the 61 in the potato club. The fair was held so early in the season that the corn did not have time to mature, but the exhibits were creditable. Fourteen children exhibited corn, and Everett Wills was awarded the first prize. Eighteen exhibited potatoes, and John Connors was given the first prize. Of course, good yields of corn and potatoes were to be hoped for, but the main idea was to get the children interested in work of this character. I feel that something more definite can be accomplished, now that the children have had a year of experiment and can begin to settle down to the idea of what such work really means. I hope to continue this form of work another year as a summer training in connection with the schools. The grange, as an organization, and individual citizens may find this a chance to co-operate in a useful form of education.

Means of making our school-rooms more attractive are always under consideration, and help in this direction is much appreciated. Therefore, we wish to thank the Hannah Adams Club and Mrs. Chase for their work, which enabled us to purchase for the primary room the beautiful frieze "Boys blowing Trumpets."

In closing, I ask you to note that the average age of those who completed the grammar school course in 1909 was fourteen years, ten months, and in 1910, fifteen years, two months. This illustrates one of the differences that often occurs in the same grade on different years. It is reasonable to suppose that this average age might be reduced if the schools could be rearranged, as I have previously suggested. It is not unreasonable to expect children to complete the grammar grades at fourteen and high school at eighteen years of age.

The reports of the Supervisor of Music and of the Supervisor and Teacher of Drawing and Sewing are appended. You are referred to the reports for further information in their departments.

The associations of the year have been of the pleasantest nature, and I feel that our schools are moving in the right direction.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. WEST,

Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. M. J. WEST,

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

I present the following report of drawing and sewing in the Medfield schools:—

Drawing is taught as a valuable aid toward developing the brains and thinking power of children. It is a training received by the combined working of the head and hands. The course is arranged with regard to other studies, to the seasons, and to the general needs of the school.

Children in the primary grades learn to express by drawing, and they make things that are pleasing in shape and color. The fourth and fifth grades begin a study of drawing principles. In the grammar grades the study is continued and advanced until pupils can see objects correctly and handle various mediums easily. The high-school classes review all the principles, study light and shade, and work with more mediums. Pupils in the mechanical class study and work out problems in projection.

In all the grades the work being done shows a gradual progress in the right direction.

Hand-work is closely related to drawing, especially in the matter of design. Each article that is made requires thought concerning color, proportions, and usefulness.

Hand-work in the form of sewing has been established for the girls. One-half day each week is devoted to the work by the girls of the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. Each class sews forty-five minutes, and, though the time is short, the work done is certainly worth while, for it is important that every girl should learn to sew. It enables her to become neat, useful, and practical.

The lower grades learn plain stitches, and make small useful articles. The upper grades take up advanced work, and make things that require more thought and skill. They always sew on something that is useful to themselves or to their homes, and this fact keeps them interested and makes them anxious to do their best.

The work this year shows a great improvement over the work done last year, and it gives evidence of interest and practice at home as well as in school.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

It has been my aim in the schools in Medfield to follow the Course of Study for Public Schools, outlined by the Institute of Music Pedagogy, Northampton, Mass. The course of study designates certain definite principles to be taught in each grade.

Much importance is laid upon the individual work, for the true test is what each pupil can do. By carrying out this individual work in a systematic manner, we are striving to form habits of self-control, concentration, accuracy, mental alertness, and independence. We are also constantly trying to improve the tone quality, quality of tone, not the amount of tone, being the ideal before us.

A supervisor cannot do all the work alone. There must be co-operation on the part of the grade teachers, for to them falls the drill work every day. Owing to their faithful daily work, the music is beginning to progress.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN D. DAGGETT,

Supervisor of Music.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:

The gypsy-moth work has been carried on the past year in the same manner as in previous years. We had a large number of trees burlapped, and found a great many larvæ. The result generally was very good, especially in those colonies where the employees of the town did all the work. One woodland colony, which has been infested for three years, was thoroughly sprayed. Owing to a number of oaks, the burlap system had not reduced the number of moths, although it had kept them from increasing. This fall we found the least number of eggs there since first locating the colony. Some shade-trees in different parts of the town were sprayed, with equally good results.

The scouting this fall and winter has shown quite an increase in the number of colonies. We now have one hundred and twenty-one known colonies. Many of these contain only one or two clusters of eggs, while others are more seriously infested. They are scattered all over town. We have creosoted over eleven hundred clusters, without counting those in four of the woodland colonies. One of these is in bad condition. It is estimated that we creosoted over twenty thousand clusters there. In the second one we have not finished creosoting, but there has not been much increase. There is probably a thousand clusters there. In the third one, which was our worst colony last year, no work has been done, but from examination it looks as though there were not so many eggs as last year. In the fourth colony the owner has creosoted a large number, probably a thousand clusters, and there are many more there. There has been a large increase in this infestation. With the exception of the first and fourth colony here mentioned, there has been no serious increase in the colonies of last year. In a number of woodland colonies there has been a decrease in the number of eggs found. With our present method of work in woodland we do not expect to do more than to keep them from increasing.

In orchard and shade trees we get better results, and our scouting shows that well-kept orchards are not badly infested, and generally not at all. An apple-tree that has no cavities and no loose bark is seldom found with gypsy-moth eggs on it.

It would be better, and it may be necessary, to do more spraying in woodland the coming season. Spraying in woodland by hand power is expensive, and our present equipment of one pump is kept busy during the season of spraying on our shade-trees,—spraying for the beetle.

I have been unable until this year to get any parasites. In July I received and placed in one woodland colony a colony of the Anastatus bifasciatus, a minute parasite of the gypsy-moth egg, a native of Europe and Japan. Unfortunately, this parasite spreads very slowly, as the female, like the female of the moth, does not fly, and no immediate results can be expected. I also secured and placed in the same colony one hundred predatory beetles, the European Calosoma, from which good results are expected. We tried to get more of these insects, but were unable to.

The nests of the brown-tail were very plentiful, but no count has been kept of them. There were a number of thousands of them. This increase is not caused by any neglect to destroy the nests of last season, as most of these moths probably came to us.

On moonlight nights during their flight the wind will blow them many miles. They do not seem to be very prevalent in our woodland, and are easily removed from our orchard and shade trees without great expense. It is expected that parasites and a disease that may be spread among them will keep them in check.

The question is often raised that, in spite of our work, the gypsy moth is increasing. The Act under which we work, Chapter 385, 1905, is entitled to suppress the moth. We do not expect to exterminate it by present methods, but to keep it suppressed until its parasites can control it. If Medfield had done nothing for the past four years to suppress the moth, the moth would have increased to such an extent that it would be damaging our trees, and we would have many more colonies like our two badly infested woodland ones.

TREE WARDEN.

The shade-trees of our town are valuable to us in many ways, and add to its desirability as a place of residence. There are many places along our highways where it would be desirable to set out shade-trees. Last spring we set out a few that were given to the town, and a number were set out in different parts of the town by citizens. Mr. Benjamin Kimball offered the school children of the town trees, if they would plant and care for them, and many children accepted his offer. It would be well if the town could plant a number every year, but the trees we already have should not be neglected. Many of our trees have dead limbs, which, when they fall, may cause injury. In some places the limbs are so low they interfere with travel. With the amount necessary for proper trimming and the large amount we have to expend fighting insects, it does not seem wise to ask the town to set out trees.

If the citizens would set out trees along the highway, the expense individually would not be great, and it would add to the value of their land and beautify the town.

I have had printed and posted extracts from the shade-tree laws. It is the duty of a citizen to become familiar with these laws. Under these laws the owner of a wood lot or other person, in cutting off woodland, has no right to cut any tree within or on the boundary of a highway without a license from the warden. Under the law a tree on the boundary of a public way belongs to the town. If there is any question as to the limit or boundary of a public way as affecting a tree, under the law as it now is, the tree shall be taken to be within the limits of the highway until the contrary is shown. If owners of wood lots on highways would consult with the warden before cutting, especially where there is some question as to boundary, it would simplify matters for both parties. Where woods are cut off, it is to the advantage of the town to have a row of trees left for shade.

The past season again proved the need of spraying for the elm beetle.

I would recommend that the town appropriate six hundred dollars for the moth work and four hundred for the Tree Warden and spraying elm beetles. I think it would be advisable to have the Tree Warden and spraying appropriation in one sum.

There is some misunderstanding as to the moth law. Under Chapter 381 of 1905, as amended, gypsy and brown-tail moths are declared public nuisances, and the town is required and authorized to suppress them. This law does not apply to elm-tree beetles, scale, or other insects, and the Superintendent of Moth Work has nothing to do with them. The Tree Warden may exterminate insects, elm-tree beetles, scale, etc., on shade-trees, but has nothing to do with private property. The town is required to do the moth work, but the other work is voluntary on her part.

At the last Annual Meeting we recommended an appropriation of $800, which was granted and appropriated. We exceeded the same, as will be seen by our report. The reason for that we trust we may be able to explain satisfactorily. We commenced early in the season to put the cemetery in good condition for decoration. Up to that time we had spent nearly $500. From that time to September we spent about $250, leaving about $50 of the appropriation to be added to collections from care of lots, interest of Trust Funds, etc., leaving about $290 to take care of the grounds and make what improvements we could for the rest of the season. We then commenced at junction of Prentiss and Wilson Avenues to pave the gutters to the lake, a distance of 550 feet, making 1,100 feet to be paved. We found it necessary to make a fill of about two feet on the avenue for a considerable distance in order to get a grade that would carry the water. Then the question came up where to get the material to make the fill. After looking the matter over, we decided to see Miss Sewall and try to arrange with her for two lots that she owned in the north-west corner of cemetery. We arranged with her for the two lots at $25 each, the regular price of lots in the cemetery, the same to be acted upon at the next annual Town Meeting, and paid for by the town. By taking the gravel from both lots, we were able to make the fill required, and gravel the avenue the whole distance, besides making a nice entrance from Dale Street to cemetery, intersecting with Sewall Avenue, which, we think, was very much needed. And we have one of the lots left very much improved, which will readily sell for cost.

We now have two hills in the cemetery the gutters of which should be paved. Both together would not equal the distance paved this year. Considerable gravelling is needed. We think, an appropriation of $800 this year, would put the cemetery in fair condition, and we respectfully recommend that the sum of $800 be appropriated to be used in the cemetery this year.

CEMETERY TRUST FUNDS, 1910.

In compliance with the vote of the town at the Annual Meeting, March 1, 1909, I submit herewith a statement of the condition of the Cemetery Trust Funds.

I assume that the town is under no obligation to pay compound interest on these funds. We are not legally required, nor can it be reasonably expected that the town shall invest and take care of these funds without some recompense. If the unexpended current rate of interest is added to the original fund each year, the intent of the donors will have been complied with, and any surplus that accumulates in the form of compound interest the town is fairly entitled to as compensation for the extra labor involved by such care and investments.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ELECTED TO LOOK INTO THE ADVISABILITY OF SELLING
THE TOWN FARM.

Your committee has gone into the matter thoroughly and carefully with the Overseers of the Poor of this Town and those of neighboring towns.

As a result of investigation your committee unanimously advises selling the Town Farm, and amending the By-Laws by abolishing the Board of Overseers and having the Selectmen act in that capacity. Also that the Chairman of both boards be the same and that his salary alone be increased to $150.00 per year.

REASONS FOR SELLING THE FARM.

No. 1. The buildings are in such poor shape that in the very near future the State will demand repairs and remodeling which will cost several thousand dollars.

No. 2. While the appropriation is $1000.00 the actual cost is over $1800.00, viz.:—taxes lost, interest on investment, overseers' salaries, special appropriations and excess over regular appropriation.

No. 3. A large number of inmates can be supported nearly as cheaply as a few, so that several towns by joining together can maintain an almshouse much more economically.

No. 4. In one large up-to-date almshouse (as in Canton or Wrentham) the inmates will receive better housing and care, because the larger town farms are looked after more stringently by State Inspectors.

No. 5. On the average number of inmates, (5), it will be considerably cheaper to board.

No. 6. The town will still retain control of its poor.

No. 7. It shall be the duty of the proper officer to visit them at least once in three months.

Respectfully submitted,

GRANVILLE C. MITCHELL,
EDWARD M. BENT,
ALBERT C. SHUMWAY.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

I hereby submit to you the following report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year. In January 1911, orders were received from the Chief of the Cattle Bureau to make our annual inspection from Feb. 1, to March 15, of all neat cattle, sheep, swine, goats and the stables in which they were kept.

During this inspection nearly all stables were found in very good condition and only one cow was placed in quarantine under suspicion of having tuberculosis. This cow after being examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, was found to be tuberculous and was killed, and the stable disinfected.

July 13, another cow was quarantined under suspicion of having tuberculosis, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, found to be tuberculous and was killed, and the stable disinfected.

August 3, another cow was placed in quarantine under suspicion of having tuberculosis, examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, but was released.

I am very glad to say we have not had any Rabies, Glanders or Farcy in this town during the past year.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE S. CHIENEY,
Inspector of Animals.

At the last annual meeting we recommended an appropriation of $800.00, which was granted and appropriated. We have completed all the necessary paving. We think there should be at least one hundred trees set out this spring. A number of the avenues should be graveled with better material than we have, although they are generally looking fairly well. They need some harder gravel to hold them where they are. There should be a railing on the long flight of steps leading from the front or old ground to the pond. We think the cemetery as a whole is in better condition than it ever was and should have considerable money spent in it to keep it improving, and we respectfully recommend that the sum of $800.00 be appropriated to be used in the cemetery this year.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

While the gypsy moths are on the increase in Medfield, we have so far prevented them from stripping or doing any damage. During the past season we have used tanglefoot in place of burlap in almost all infestations. While tanglefoot is expensive, the labor cost during the summer is less, and the results have been very satisfactory. At the time of making this report I have not finished the scouting of the town and cannot make full report as to the conditions as compared with other years.

In the residential section I have not found so many eggs as last year. In the orchards we have not found any increase. In the section around Noon Hill, there is a slight increase along the highways, and in the pastures. In the woods there we do not find any signs of gypsy moth. On Elm St. we do not find any. We had two infestations there last year. There is some increase in the woods in the vicinity of Phillip and Elm Streets. On East Main the conditions are about the same as last year. On Hartford Street there is no increase, and the woods adjoining show no signs of moths, with the exception of a piece near the Dover line.

From the Asylum to the Sherborn line there is some increase but it is back from the road.

In the section around Harding there is no increase. Conditions are about the same as last year on North and Farm Streets. The scout in the woods and pastures, has been more thorough than ever, and partly accounts for the increase. The increase so far is in pasture white oaks, and in scattered egg clusters through the woods. We have not been through much of Rocky Woods. There is an increase in one portion and we also found a large section without any signs of moths. Many of the woodland colonies have not made any or only a slight increase.

The nests of the brown tail moths are very plenty this year on the apple, pear and white oak trees. There are also many on the maples along the highways. Many of the apple and pear trees in the village would have been stripped the coming season if the nests had not been removed.

I would recommend that the town appropriate $900.00 for the suppression of the gypsy and brown-tail moth.

TREE WARDEN.

During the past year we have removed dead limbs from many of the shade trees, and also trimmed off limbs that interfered with travel. There still remains more of this work to be done. I receive many complaints from different parts of the town, that limbs are interfering with travel. We sprayed more elms for the beetle this year, than in previous years. The results from the power sprayer, in the centre, were far from satisfactory. Those trees sprayed with the hand pump, went through the season in good shape, with very few exceptions.

For the coming year, if all the elms along our highways are to be sprayed, the town needs more apparatus. The spray pump the town now owns is all right, but as there is only a short period of time when effective work can be done against the beetle, it is impossible to do all the elms with it. I think it would be advisable, the coming season, to spray the large elms, that were badly defoliated the past season, twice. Spray them early to kill the beetle, and later if there is need of it, spray for the larvae.

The town might purchase another pump similar to the one we now have, or it might be economy to purchase a power sprayer, not one of the large solid stream sprayers, but one with sufficient power to use two lines of hose for mist spraying. It would not take as many men as two hand sprayers would, and the pressure would be steadier and the work more effective. I should judge that there was a very large number of beetles that came to maturity last summer, and that they would be very plenty the coming season.

Sec. 46 of Town By-Laws reads:—

“No person shall post or paste or paint any advertisement upon any shade tree.”

Sec. 1040 of Chap. 208 as amended by Acts of 1905 of the revised laws reads:—

“Whoever affixes to a tree in a public place a play bill, picture, announcement, notice, advertisement or other thing, whether in writing or otherwise, or cuts, paints or marks such tree, except for the purpose of protecting it, and under a written permit from the officer having charge of such trees in a city, or from the tree warden in a town, shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars for each offence.”

I recommend that the town appropriate $400.00 for the use of tree warden in spraying and caring for the trees.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON VALUATION.

Your committee met with the Board of Assessors, and have since decided that the entire question of valuation was in such a deplorable condition that only a complete readjustment would remedy it.

We therefore recommend that a citizens committee of 12 men be appointed by the Moderator before April 1st, to study the valuation of all real and personal property, and report to the town any suggestions or findings, with the idea of ultimately arriving at an equitable valuation for everybody in town.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The annual report of the School Committee for the year ending January 31, 1912, is respectfully submitted.

At the annual election Mr. Allan A. Kingsbury was elected a member of the Committee for three years.

The Committee organized with Waldo A. Fitts, Chairman, Richard C. Lincoln, Secretary.

In my report this year I wish to make a general review of the progress in our Public Schools, as they have come under my observation for the past few years.

The establishment of a four years' course in our High School has without doubt passed out of the experimental stage.

The very fact that we have such a course, and our sons and our daughters thereby can remain at home a few years longer, and those who for any reason are unable to go out of town to school, can now complete their studies, and receive a diploma, convinces one that there has been some progress in the Public Schools of Medfield.

As for our standard, among other High Schools. Each year shows improvement, but a higher standard can only be gained by the working together of parents, pupils and teachers.

The teachers alone, cannot raise the standard, no matter how efficient they may be. There must be co-operation of both parents and teachers, not only in the work done in school, but also in the amount of studying done at home.

The establishing in 1908, of the custom, of giving certificates to the graduating class, from the Grammar School, has been much appreciated by the class members, and has been an inspiration to many to try for a High School diploma.

The introduction of sewing into the grades, has met with much approval, and many mothers have expressed their appreciation of the helpful work that has been accomplished.

This year, Basketry and the art of weaving, have been added, and will eventually develop into sloyd and manual training. Thus an opportunity is given the boys to become skilled with their hands, and will, we believe, lay the foundation for trained mechanics.

Today we have a well lighted chemical laboratory, also a commercial class room. Both rooms are well equipped with up-to-date apparatus.

More than one-half of the heating plant has also been renewed.

Careful calculation has been required to meet all the expenses of teaching, supplies, repairs, improvements and new apparatus for establishing and carrying on the work in its various branches, so that the cost of maintenance should not be materially increased.

Few changes have been made in our teaching force in the past year, and we feel that words of appreciation are due to our Superintendent, Principal and teachers, for their untiring efforts and efficient work.

The school reference library is growing. Several donations of value have been received this past year, and we hope for continued interest in this department.

The union meeting of the towns of Norfolk, Millis, Westwood and Medfield, was held in Millis, and the usual business pertaining to the welfare of the schools was transacted.

The subject of transportation of small children from various sections of the town, especially from the Asylum district has been brought before the committee. Should such transportation be granted, and in some cases it seems advisable, it will be necessary to increase the school appropriation.

The grounds in front of the Ralph Wheelock school are very uneven and the expenditure of a few hundred dollars for grading would vastly improve the appearance, as well as increase the value of the property.

LOWELL MASON SCHOOL.

This building is in good condition both inside and out. The attendance is small, but the work is being acceptably done. The water in the well, has become contaminated by the roots of the trees. This well has been cleaned out many times but the water still continues to be unfit for use. A new well will have to be located or some arrangement made for water supply.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Bruce and Mr. Mason water has been supplied from their wells this year.

Our recommendation for school appropriation for the ensuing year is $6600.00.

Respectfully submitted,

WALDO A. FITTS,
For the Committee.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF MEDFIELD:

I hereby submit my fourth annual report, which is the thirteenth in the series of annual reports of the Superintendents of the Public Schools of Medfield.

The year since my last annual report has been one of progress. We have been able to retain nearly all of our best teachers, and we have been very successful in finding good ones to fill the vacancies.

One important change should be noted, because it is unusual for a small town to have the services of a teacher for the length of time that Mrs. Susan M. (Chase) Clark served this town.

For twenty-six years the impress of her individuality has been made upon the present and future citizens. For many years hence, she will be remembered, because she was ever ready with a helping hand to lead the seeker for knowledge over the rough places. In wishing her happiness in her new relations, and the hope that she will find the opportunity to exercise her desire for usefulness, I feel that I am voicing a wish of the many with whom she has been associated.

The crowded condition which has occurred for a number of years in the room which has contained the sixth and seventh grades, has been somewhat improved by placing the unusually large seventh grade of this year in a room by itself. To do this we were obliged to put grades one and two together. Of course this complicates the work of the primary teacher, but it became absolutely necessary to furnish a better opportunity for those who are nearing the high school age, even if done at the expense of the primary pupils. The town did not appropriate sufficient money for another teacher, at the last annual town meeting, therefore this plan is being tried with the hope that it will be of some benefit to the children. Fortunately we have, in Miss Carleton, a teacher who is doing excellent work, under the circumstances, with these primary grades, and they are learning self-reliance, and acquiring ability to study even at their young age.

The adoption of the rule that children must be five years of age, previous to the first day of September, before they are admitted to the first grade, has resulted, even so soon, in an increased maturity that will strenghten the work. Children are not recorded in the state school census unless they are five years old by the first day of September, and it is within the province of the school committee to fix the age for admission even as high as seven years.

The desire of parents, either through immoderate ambition or some other motive, I fear, is not founded on a study of the best interest of the child, and thereby numbers of children are subjected to the restraints and duties of school before they have physical and mental maturity which is necessary, if they are not to suffer by the great change from home to school. For the interest of the children, this rule must be rigidly enforced.

The civic pride which prompts a town to maintain a local high school is very commendable, and one wonders how it could be otherwise in a town having the excellent educational traditions that are connected with Medfield. To fail in this respect would lower the educational standards of the town. We should not be satisfied, however, with the mere fact that we have a high school, for the interest of all cannot be properly served unless its efficiency is of such a character as to make its influence felt. How to conduct the high school in order to make it best serve the community, is the question.

Because there is no great variety of important industries, nor no one great industry to offer employment for numbers of the young citizens, it becomes necessary for many of them to seek for their life opportunities away from home. In the competition for such positions, the young man or woman who has a good foundation in cultural training, will find it a valuable asset, therefore our school should strive to furnish its pupils with this side of education. Our course of study provides for instruction in cultural studies in a liberal degree, and any pupil who wishes to extend his education along special lines would do well to prepare for such special study by first completing a course in our high school. Having provided for the cultural side, our program of study should next include something of the industrial, but closely connected to the cultural, to meet the needs of some who wish training of this sort. In this we have equipment for a good commercial course, including the usual studies of that course and stenography and typewriting. We have in use four new Remington typewriters of the latest design.

If pupils are not well prepared to take up the work of the high school, and have but slight conception of its importance, they can do but a small part in elevating its efficiency, therefore it is important that a high standard of admission be required. This can be secured only by a high standard in the grades below, and by a somewhat rigid care in promotion of pupils.

We are making progress toward a better preparation by changing some of the work, more especially in grades eight and nine.

This year we are completing geography in grade eight and have taken "Geographic Influences" and "Industrial Studies" in grade nine in the time formerly given to geography. Next year we plan to complete United States History also, in grade eight, instead of in grade nine. This will allow time in grade nine for studies that are more especially helpful in preparation for high school, such as civics, English History, Algebra, and a more intensive study of English.

I feel that we are doing better work in arithmetic in all the grades, more especially oral arithmetic. Penmanship is also receiving more attention. The Aldine Method of teaching beginners to read is now well introduced, and the result is satisfactory.

With a program of studies adapted to the community, and a class of pupils capable of carrying forward this program, our next care must be to secure the best teachers possible. Even with all these in our favor, there is always a high percentage of failure if the co-operation of the parents is lacking. In what should this co-operation consist? In the first place, parents should realize the importance of education and the benefits to be obtained from having their children make the most of their opportunities. Their sympathies should always be with the teachers, having ever in mind the great responsibility upon the teacher and her need of encouragement in her efforts to do her duty. I can but pity the children whose parents always seem to be holding the teachers before them as enemies to be opposed.

In the high school, much more than in the grades, the time of the pupils is taken up with recitations, thus not leaving time for thoughtful preparation of lessons. This makes it absolutely necessary for the pupils to put a generous time to study outside of school, in order to obtain the benefits of the school. Especially is this true where a school is conducted on the one session plan. Co-operation, just here, means that parents should provide for this study and see to it that it is done. If parents cannot do that much with their children, I fail to see how they can expect the teachers to enforce requirements of study. When teachers offer repeatedly to assist pupils if they will return in the afternoon, but are met with the statement, "I work afternoons," or "I spend the time in school and I shall not do more," it becomes very discouraging to the teachers, especially when they know that the parents of such pupils are perhaps the loudest in condemnation of the schools, and in criticism of the teachers. When complaints come from parents, that their children are not marked high enough on report cards, investigation will universally show that their children do not apply themselves in school, are negligent about preparation of lessons, and often are allowed to engage in social affairs which produce physical and mental inability to do efficient school work. If a man neglects business he soon becomes bankrupt. Going to school is a business, and parents must not expect anything else but mental bankrupts, if their children are not regular in attendance and attend to business.

The general and reference library at the Ralph Wheelock School is becoming of great advantage, especially to the high school. In addition to money earned by entertainments, for the purchase of books, and the class present each year, kind friends of the schools have helped. One friend has given over $50 this year, and in all nearly $200 has been expended since my last report, without cost to the town. A good selection of books has been made, especially for reference in history classes and choice literature. I fail to know of any High School in our vicinity better equipped for reference in history. It is also a great help to have the valuable use of the public library.

The additional time for which Miss Allan is employed this year is given to the boys in doing reed work, and with the girls in sewing.

This is just a beginning for the boys and I trust before long to see it extended to other forms of hand training, such as wood working with tools. Certain of our children need just work of this kind in connection with their regular school studies, and I believe the town could make no better investment than to provide the equipment.

During the spring term, a course of six lectures, designed chiefly for the girls of the upper grades and the high school, was given by Miss Diana M. Constable, on pure foods, sanitation, domestic and personal hygiene. Here again friends of the young people and the schools showed their interest by providing for the expense of the course without calling upon the tax payers.

A good interest was shown in the corn and potato clubs under the direction of the Mass. State Agricultural College, and the aid of the local Grange, and good exhibits were made at the Grange Fair.

Such deviations from the old style school curriculum lead to the time when we can offer a course in household economics and domestic science.

The limited space of our school grounds, causing an ever present irritation to the young men, because of restraints upon games and healthful sports, is a matter of moral significance which cannot be safely ignored by the town. It is certainly unfortunate that our young people congregate in the streets, or else make an attempt to play where there is always the expense of broken glass and other damage to be considered. Under such conditions there is great danger of developing a spirit of disregard for property rights, and a temptation to evade the responsibility for damage done.

Under the circumstances one's sympathies are naturally with the young people, but at the same time, the public, both old and young, must remember that a school yard is not a public park nor a public playground, and that there is a severe penalty for disturbance of schools, and for damage to school property. Land is not likely to be cheaper and now is the time to provide for the children of this generation.

Miss Allan and Miss Daggett have made reports to which I call your attention.

Without in the least making reflections upon teachers of the past, the loyal, earnest, co-operative spirit of the present corps of teachers is so marked throughout, that I feel it a duty to publicly express appreciation, and I know that service such as they are giving will make the schools stand higher next June than they did in September.

It is a pleasure to work with a committee which leaves out all thought of personal ends, and places the good of the schools first, and I thank you for the cheerful spirit in which you have given your aid.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. WEST,
Superintendent of Schools.

Medfield, Mass., January 31, 1912.

TO MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

In my drawing work during the past year I have followed a course similar to that of the previous year, arranging all the lessons under several subjects with certain principles to be taught in each grade.

As drawing is a means of education through the use of the hands and eyes, the constant aim is to secure a better understanding of principles and a better quality of work.

Sewing has proved itself worthy of a special place in the regular school program. The work is graded so that the pupils advance in sewing as well as in other studies. The articles they make are practical and useful at home. Some of the girls have shown originality and skillfulness in their work.

This year arrangements were made enabling the boys of the sixth and seventh grades to learn a hand craft in the form of basketry. Such work is practical because it requires few tools. Then too it develops judgment and teaches boys to work systematically.

The pupils seem to take considerable interest in their special duties and I feel that altogether the work is advancing in the right direction.

HELEN M. ALLAN.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

In submitting my second annual report I wish to speak particularly of the good spirit shown by the high school boys. I have been very much pleased with the way in which they have taken hold of the work this year. I regret to say that the girls have not entered into the work with quite as much enthusiasm. All the grades are making fairly good progress.

"There is no art without the mastery of form." For many years music has been considered merely an art. It is now being recognized as a science as well, the true intellectual value being appreciated more and more as is shown by the courses allowed in colleges and some high schools. Song singing is our final aim, but to sing songs well and with understanding, the technical side must first be mastered. The future music of our country must come from the children of to-day. It is my aim to establish a thorough foundation of principles that will last. And by becoming familiar with standard works to create a love for and an appreciation of really good music.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN D. DAGGETT,

Supervisor of Music.

Tune:—"In Alma Mater's Praise."

Come, loyal classmates, sing in praise
 Of Medfield High School dear.
 Let all our hearts and voices raise,
 Commencement days are here.

And as the days go swiftly by,
 And into years they grow,
 We'll often think of Medfield High
 And days so long ago.

Though many are the paths we take Obeying duties call,
 Yet we will cherish of the past,
 Our school days most of all.

Now that we face this world of strife,
 And on new paths we start,
 With honor in the work of life
 May each perform his part.

Chorus.

In Medfield High School's praise, hurrah!
 In Medfield High School's praise,
 Afar and near send forth a cheer,
 Hurrah, hurrah, hurrah.

Mary J. Connors.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

I hereby submit my annual report as Superintendent of the Moth Work and as Tree Warden.

Last year we had a heavy infestation of brown tail moths in the apple and pear trees and in the oaks in the pastures and along the highways.

Fortunately we have never had many in our woodland. The nests were all removed by property owners or by the moth department before the first of April, with the exception of some in large oaks which were back from the highways. On these oaks it would have been expensive to remove them and there was not much danger of the caterpillars passing to fruit trees or other protected property, or of giving the rash to any one. On these oaks we later in the season made plantings of caterpillars infested with the brown tail fungus.

This brown-tail disease has done good work in many places in reducing the moths. Its success depends on weather conditions, the growth of the fungus being dependent on the right degree of warmth and moisture. We were unable to secure the disease as early in the season as we would like to have done. Artificial distribution of the disease is more easily accomplished in sprout woodlands than in the large oaks where we used it. We planted the disease in four different places and succeeded in introducing the disease, but not enough probably to have much effect in reducing the number of the moths. The disease will probably live over and spread the coming spring and we will also make new plantings.

The nests of the brown-tails are not as numerous this year as last. There are probably fifty per cent. less throughout the town and ninety per cent. less in certain localities. This is probably due in part to the thorough destroying of the nests last season and also to the fact that the towns to the northwest of us were cleared of brown-tails by the fungus. These towns have been infected from outside territory this year and if the wind is right during the flight we may get a heavy infestation the coming season.

At the time of making this report we have not cut many nests. This work will be taken up later. All nests should be carefully burned and not left upon the ground.

In the orchards, along the highways and in the residential sections it will not do to depend on the disease. The moths would do too much damage to the foliage and would cause so much discomfort with the brown-tail rash.

Spraying is not successful in the spring as the caterpillars commence to eat before the leaves are large enough to hold the poison.

Last winter the Gypsy Moth eggs on fruit and shade trees and in the woodland bordering the highways were creosoted and in June the trees were sprayed with good results generally.

We had the use of a state sprayer with a superintendent and engineer for half a day in spraying woodland along the highway. The town furnished the poison, the horses, and the men for handling the hose. We will probably need a state sprayer for about a week the coming season in spraying along the highways and in some wood lots.

The infected orchards were sprayed by private parties or by the department with the town's power sprayer with excellent results in most cases. The spraying was done for the moths but in most cases the owners have reported an extra fine crop of apples free from the codling moth.

In the Rocky Woods it was impossible to creosote the eggs and spray as the infected territory was so large.

In four colonies in Rocky Woods covering twenty-five or thirty acres we made plantings of the gypsy moth wilt disease. We afterwards had the disease in these four colonies and in one other where we did not plant it. It is claimed by the moth experts that we would have had the disease in these colonies without introducing it. The wilt disease is without a doubt a success in suppressing the moths under the right conditions. Under certain conditions the disease will come in naturally. Whether it can be introduced artificially and to such an extent as to greatly lessen the numbers of moths is a question yet to be settled. The disease without doubt killed many caterpillars and reduced the number of egg clusters in the colonies where it was planted.

The moths are increasing fast in our woodlands. In some places it is too expensive to creosote and spray as the infected territory is so extensive and the moths will increase in spite of our work. In other woodland judicious work will keep them in check a few years longer while in some woodland there is no sign of the moths except near the highways where they may be controlled.

There is no increase this year in the orchards or in the residential section of the town. There is some increase in the pasture oaks.

In June 1910, one hundred imported calosoma beetles and a planting of eggs parasites of the moth were placed in Rocky Woods. The parasites reproduced themselves the first year. I have had no further report of them. Undoubtedly they are slowly increasing. They would spread slowly and their work would be apparent only to those who have made a study of them.

No calosoma beetles have been seen since their introduction until last summer when they were found in woodland near Pine Street. As they fly they are probably scattered through the woods but are not numerous enough to be observed or to have any effect in clearing out the moths. They are spreading in some of the towns in the moth section and the work done by them is very apparent. It is hoped that in a few years they with the different parasites of the gypsy moths will hold the moths in check in the woodlands. We hope to secure a large number of parasites next summer.

The policy in Medfield at present is to keep the moths confined to certain localities where they are plentiful and to keep uninfested woodlands clear of them as long as possible.

We had a partial stripping of the foliage in about thirty acres of woodland last year and there will probably be more the coming season.

Owners of pine growth may save their pines, which are destroyed by one year's stripping by removing all deciduous growth. The young caterpillars are unable to live on pine alone and will starve if nothing else is available. If there is a mixture of deciduous growth especially oak they will feed on that and after becoming half grown pass on to the pine, and strip them. In thinning woodland other than pine it is well to remember that both the brown-tail and gypsy moths are very destructive of white oak. They do not care much for ash, hickory or maple. Tree Warden.

The gasoline power sprayer, the purchase of which the town authorized last year proved a good investment. An excellent sprayer was secured for the money spent and its work compares favorable with higher priced machines.

The elm trees went through the summer in as good a condition if not better than the elms in the neighboring towns. More elms were sprayed than in any other season.

We were greatly handicapped by the weather, as high winds and rains were very prevalent during the short spraying season. The high winds made it difficult to put the spray where we wanted it especially on the tall trees. Medfield has more large elms than most of the neighboring towns. Many people do not understand what spraying is. We do not sprinkle the trees but spray with as fine a spray as possible. Large drops of the spray material do not do any good. The drops must be fine to have any results.

Last summer it did not appear that the beetles were pupating in as large numbers as during the past three years and I thought that they might not be as prevalent the coming season. I have had some reports of the mature beetles in the houses. In one place they were very numerous. It is therefore uncertain as to how plentiful they will be the coming summer.

During the year we have removed many limbs along the highways in all parts of the town that interfered with travel and trimmed and shaped many of the trees. A number of de-cayed trees that were dangerous have been removed. Some dead wood has been trimmed from the elms and there yet remains much work of this kind to be done.

About two hundred dollars of the tree warden appropriation was spent in spraying for the elm tree beetle and the balance in trimming and removing trees.

I would recommend that the town appropriate for the coming year seven hundred dollars for moth work and four hundred dollars for the use of the tree warden in spraying and caring for the trees.

It will be seen that we exceeded the appropriation. It will also be seen that we paid $42.25 for trees; we paid $193.15 for graveling avenues, $14.30 for an iron railing on steps. We had the trees to set out, also had them to water two or three times a week for more than two months. All the foregoing being extra work and expense which we trust will be appreciated. We think there should be a few more trees set out, and more of the avenues graveled. We respectfully recommend the sum of $800.00 be appropriated to be used in the cemetery the coming season.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

I hereby submit to you the following report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year. In January 1912, orders were received as usual from the Chief of Cattle Bureau to make a complete inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, goats and swine and their stables in which they are kept, from Feb. 1 to March 15.

During this inspection 67 stables were visited and 556 cattle, 417 swine, 2 sheep and 1 goat were examined, nearly all the stables were found in good condition and four cows were quarantined under suspicion of having Tuberculosis, these cows were examined by an agent of the Cattle Bureau, two of them were released but the other two were killed and their stables disinfected.

April 4, a heifer was quarantined under suspicion of having Tuberculosis examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau, and was released.

April 30, another heifer was quarantined under suspicion of having Tuberculosis examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau found Tuberculous was killed and stable disinfected.

June 12, a cow was quarantined under suspicion of having Tuberculosis, examined by an agent of Cattle Bureau, found Tuberculous was killed and stable disinfected.

In July the Cattle Bureau was abolished and a department was hereby created to be known as the department of Animal Industry.

July 6, 13 cows were shipped from Connecticut to this town, 10 of these cows were tested before shipment and after being examined with satisfactory test certificates were released, the other three were shipped for immediate slaughter.

Aug. 23, seventeen cows were shipped from Connecticut to this town and Sept. 10, 22 cows were shipped from Vermont to this town, these cows were all tested before shipment and after being examined with satisfactory test certificates were released.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The annual report of the Medfield School Committee for the year ending January 31, 1913 is hereby presented.

At the last annual town meeting T. F. Kenney was elected a member of the Board, W. A. Fitts retiring.

The Committee organized with Allan A. Kingsbury, chairman and R. C. Lincoln, secretary.

The regular monthly and several special meetings, have been held, and thus the matter of improvements and expenditures has been carefully considered.

The general good appearance of grounds and buildings being aimed at.

The new steel ceiling and painting of the upper and lower Halls, the addition of two new Bubbler Fountains and Fire Extinguisher, together with the grading of the school grounds and covering the walks and driveways with tarvia, places the Ralph Wheelock School in splendid condition.

The Lowell Mason School for a number of years has been without drinking water, only as has been supplied by the kindness of neighbors. A well has been dug and a new pump put in.

These seemed to be all the necessary repairs, until the State Inspector visited both school buildings ordering various other changes, adding expense of about $118.00 for locks, changing doors, exit signs, bannister rails, etc.

At a meeting held in Millis, the Medfield, Norfolk, Millis and Westwood School Boards unanimously re-elected Mr. M. J. West, Superintendent of Schools.

The Committee has given the matter of selecting teachers a great deal of careful thought. We believe the only way to gain a high standard for our schools is to employ only the very best teachers obtainable. And we think this year's staff of teachers has given excellent proof of the theory. With the closing of last year's term, Mr. Spinney resigned and we secured Mr. Taylor as Principal.

The high school under Mr. Taylor and his assistants is making good progress and the best of harmony exists between teachers and scholars.

We have observed that a greater interest is being taken in music and drawing and the teachers of these branches and the teachers of all the grades are doing excellent work.

About a year ago a Library was started at the Ralph Wheelock School and through the generosity of Mr. Lewis K. Conant who donated a sum of $50.00 a set of Reference Books was obtained and these with Books presented by graduating classes has laid the foundation for a Reference Library which will be of great value to the school.

The committee wish to thank the teachers and parents for their co-operation in bringing the schools to their present standard, and we would like to see the people more interested and become better acquainted with the methods employed in teaching, and thus realize the necessity of larger appropriations.

Our recommendation for the school appropriation for the ensuing year is $7,200.00.

ALLAN A. KINGSBURY,

TIMOTHY F. KENNEDY,

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF MEDFIELD:

I hereby submit my fifth annual report, which is the fourteenth in the series of annual reports of the Superintendent of the Public schools of Medfield.

Six teachers have resigned since my last report, all to accept positions in larger towns and at salaries which argue well for the quality of the teaching force employed in Medfield.

In filling the vacancies, every effort has been made to select the best of those teachers who come in the class for which we have the money to pay. I venture to say that we have a group of teachers who are doing strong, conscientious work. Some have received flattering offers to go elsewhere, and it is too much to expect them to remain with us long without some substantial increases in the present salaries.

Care and money used to properly nourish and train the children in a home is the best possible investment that can be made.

Next to this is the investment of money for good schools in order that the best possible returns in the production of good citizens may be realized. If we look upon our schools as an expense forced upon us, and for which we grudgingly dole out the minimum amount of money, what wonder that we are often dissatisfied with the results.

No man with any sort of business ability would expect to build up a prosperous business without providing an equipment adequate for efficiency and growth. The management of our schools puts before us a business proposition, which should be met by the provision of funds which when that wisely expended would place our business in the forefront to meet the needs of the present times. The first thing to be considered should be, at least, an additional $500 to be used in increasing the salaries this next year. We ought to provide for manual training for our boys and domestic science for the girls. The prosperous condition of our high school with an enrollment as large as can well be accommodated in the present building, reminds us that we must provide for future growth. The outlook for next year indicates that twenty or more will enter from the grammar school, and there are now thirty-six in line to enter a year from next September. Even if we allow for quite a percentage of these to drop, it is hard to see where we are to put the remaining number unless more room is provided. It is none too early to begin plans for the future accommodation of these pupils. The Ralph Wheelock building could well be utilized for the grades and for industrial work. A new building should be provided for the high school. Such a large percentage of the pupils elect the commercial studies that the time of the teacher for those courses is so completely taken that the work of all the other courses devolves upon the other two teachers. The result is a crowded program for each teacher which ought to be relieved by an additional teacher or by the curtailment of the program of studies. The problem in the minds of educators, at the present time, is to provide for each pupil the elements of education which is most needed by the individual pupil, and this cannot be successfully done if the choice of studies is limited to a few fields of knowledge. The State Board of Education has offered suggestions along this line which I think can be used to give use an opportunity to simplify the program enough to afford relief for a time.

It may be necessary to provide one or more new typewriters for next year, in addition to the four that we have in use.

For further information in regard to the high school I refer you to the report of the principal.

The advantages which have been given to the present eighth grade, by having them in a room by themselves last year, and by the division of the grade this year, is serving to overcome some of the disadvantages of previous years. I hope that we may be able to give them the entire attention of one teacher for the year when they are in the ninth grade. Even then the deficiencies of their training in the lower grades cannot be entirely overcome. I trust that we may be on the alert to never allow overcrowded conditions to affect the lives of our young people again in this disastrous way.

This prompts me to again call attention to the importance of a high standard of promotion in the grades, in order to have efficient pupils in the high school. In our attempt to hold to a high standard the greatest obstacle is the effect of those pupils who are irregular in attendance, and whose parents are ever ready with trivial excuses for allowing them to be absent. Experience tells us that parents of these children are the ones who make the most noise about what they consider to be the defects of the schools, and also complain the most over what they term to be the injustice and prejudice of the teachers, when their particular children are not promoted. Teachers give a vast amount of time in their attempts to keep such children up in their work, but too often they receive something very opposite to thanks for what they do.

Work well done by any child is sure to bring promotion to that child, and it is rank injustice to require conscientious, proficient pupils to be held in the same class with those whose habits of work are irregular and slovenly. Parents have an important duty in this respect, and by meeting it from the right standpoint they could be of great benefit to the general welfare of the schools.

The products of the children's attempts at agriculture and other industrial work, which were on exhibition at the Grange Fair, show us that much more can be done in this direction if the right encouragement is given. The co-operation of Medfield Grange in this respect is greatly appreciated.

The attempt to continue in use old non-adjustable desks and chairs serves to work injuriously, at times, when it is impossible to find suitable seats and desks for pupils who are somewhat out of the regular order of height and size. We can not safely ignore the physical side of education, and I strongly urge that some adjustable desks and chairs be purchased to meet the needs of the class of pupils to whom I have referred.

In closing I wish to call attention to the reports of the supervisors of music, and drawing and manual arts; also to the statistics appended herewith.

The splendid spirit of the teachers is one of the main factors in the successful work of the year, and your co-operation and work has enabled me to put into operation influences which will be of everlasting benefit to the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. WEST,
Superintendent of Schools.

Medfield, Mass., January 31, 1913.

TO MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

DEAR SIR:—I herewith submit my first report as Principal of the Ralph Wheelock School. My few comments may be general in character or of High School reference, since you already have statistical and grade data at hand.

I am glad to acknowledge a growing response throughout the school to the rules of organization and personal conduct which are so essential to the well-being of our school-community. The interest of the parents is always appreciated and is essential to successful school work. There is every reason why the education of the school and home should be in harmony. Special forms of training, and methods only apt under the environment and peculiar conditions of either, must be employed, but obedience, honesty, fairness, and cleanliness, together with development of thought and abilities, are common purposes of our training. The teacher's judgment in dealing with her peculiar problems should be respected. When it is challenged by a parent, the child's faith in the teacher is injured, its insubordination is encouraged, and its profit by that teacher's instruction, lessened. Confidence and sympathy between parent, child, and teacher, make school-work doubly effective.

The most definite gain in the High School administration has been that of constructive organization. Class and athletic organizations have been given purpose, character, and system, and all have been unified in a general executive body of the school. Harmony, regulation, and mutual understanding and good-will have thus been made possible, and all of these subordinate interests have been brought into proper relation with the work of the school. The results of this policy are already manifest in general school spirit, and application to school-work, but its chief value will be realized in its usefulness in avoiding difficulties previously recurring and difficult of settlement.

In terms of general school efficiency I believe the action making the High School a two-session school, and thus coordinating the administration and operation of the two schools, has had invaluable results. You will remember that I spoke emphatically in favor of the plan when we first met together and the advantages which I then outlined have been fully realized. We would anticipate a wreck if the switchman were not at his post to direct the trains to cleared tracks, and grades cannot take care of themselves much better. A Principal's work in the grades, or the lack of the same, will show in High School attitude and general response. Moreover the direct benefits to the High School under the present plan have proved real in the working out of the experiment.

The school grounds were much improved by last summer's grading, and along the line of continued development, there are a few inexpensive devices which I should like to see located on the grounds in the spring for the healthful enjoyment of the younger children and girls. The field leased last fall for the older boys has been most serviceable in giving safe and legitimate opportunity for athletic exercises. Playground games have been encouraged. I trust the field will continue to be available.

In closing I desire to thank all those who have worked with me in executive capacity for their sympathetic and helpful co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

RALPH W. TAYLOR,
Principal.

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

It has been my aim during the past five months, to carry on the Weaver system of music, which has already been established in the schools. This system gives graded work in all music principals, and through the individual sight singing, develops independence, mental alertness, and concentration. As the growth of the technical music increases, the capacity for appreciating the aesthetic will also increase.

The first year many are found deficient in pitch, and by persistent effort are taught to sing a scale correctly. The latter part of the year very simple reading is begun.

During the second and third years, sight reading, increasing in difficulty, is continued, and many rote songs are taught.

The fifth and sixth grades sing two-part music, and the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades sustain three or four parts, according to the condition of the voices. There are many children who have exceptional voices and musical ability.

An effort is made in the upper grades to interest pupils in music written by the best composers, thus cultivating an appreciation and liking for good music.

The music in the high school consists of chorus work only. Short choruses were sung the first few weeks of the year. The past three months have been devoted to the study of a cantata, which we hope to be able to produce publicly later in the year. The interest shown by the chorus, and their willingness to respond to suggestions, are much appreciated.

In closing, I wish to acknowledge, with gratitude, the unfailing interest, and helpful co-operation and support of the teachers.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIEBELLE E. THAYER,
Supervisor of Music.

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

The arrangement of drawing supervision in the Medfield schools continues the same as the previous year. There is a constant aim for thorough knowledge in principles and better quality of results, and that, with steady practice gradually advances the general work.

Sewing lessons are taught in the grammar grades. A little raffia work has been added to the interest of some of the pupils. The girls of the eighth grade are able to make articles of clothing that require a sewing machine in the school. Doing a part of the work at home is not always satisfactory or convenient.

The boys of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades have continued basket weaving and chair caning. At present four chairs have been re-seated and eight others are in process. Sloyd should be taught to the older boys for they are able to do more energetic manual work.

The past year's work shows interest and improvement. In nearly every case the sewing and chair caning have been a direct benefit to the pupils.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN,
Supervisor of Drawing.

SCHOOL.

Tune, "Yale Boola"

Come, classmates, let us join in song
 To the praise of dear old Medfield High,
 We'll always love those good old days
 Which now to our sorrow have passed by.
 To our colors we will be true,
 And to our motto too,
 As "Onward," "Onward" we shall strive
 To make success of our lives.

Chorus:

Medfield High School, Medfield High School,
 May you firmly stand forever,
 And the class of nineteen twelve
 Bids to you their farewell.

Now we are gathered here to-night,
 To float on high the purple and the gold,
 For they shall always stand for right
 And shall keep our courage firm and bold,
 We'll wave our banners o'er our school
 As now we bid farewell,
 Our loyal voices let us raise
 Once more in Medfield High School's praise.

Chorus:

—Gladys Dawson.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

I hereby submit my annual report of the work of the Moth and Tree Warden department.

The work of suppressing the gypsy and brown tail moths has been conducted the past year by using the same methods as usual.

The whole town was scouted for the gypsy moth, the eggs creosoted, trees cleaned and fixed up and sprayed in the proper season. The brown tail nests were cut off and burned. More apple trees were sprayed than usual, the work being done by the department and by contractors and individuals. The results were very satisfactory.

We used the state sprayer for three days in spraying wood land along the highways and some wood lots where the owners stood the expense.

Our winter scouting shows a slight increase in gypsy moth eggs in shade and orchard trees. The infestation is becoming more general throughout the woodland although there are still many areas not infected. The moths in shade and orchard trees are not numerous enough to do any damage if they are properly attended to. We have one woodland colony where the oaks have commenced to die, caused by the stripping done by the moths. A number of acres of woodland were stripped last summer.

We find in the badly infested colonies, especially those that were stripped of leaves last summer, that there are not many new egg clusters. This is the result of the work of the imported calosoma sycophanta, a beetle from Europe and Japan which is being successfully colonized in New England. These beetles were introduced into Medfield in 1910, and were seen quite frequently last summer. They are increasing and spreading throughout the town and we hope that they and the numerous parasites that have also been introduced in this state will help control the moth in woodland.

The work of the parasites can be helped by judicious thinning of woodland and by removing those trees that are least resistant to moths. This is especially important in pine growth. Some thinning has already been done and more will be done this spring by the owners in co-operation with the State Forestry Department.

While we have a slight increase in the number of egg clusters on orchard and shade trees and a more general infestation of woodland, yet on account of the small number of clusters found in the bad colonies, there are probably less egg clusters in the whole town than last year.

The United States Department of Agriculture has thirty acres of woodland on Pine Street which it has thinned out and where different questions in relation to the moths are being studied.

There is probably a slight increase in the number of brown tail moths this year over last. In one section of the town where they were very thick last year there are not many this year. In the centre of the town there are probably more.

During the coming year there will probably be an increase in the work to be done. A larger number of apple trees, more shade trees and more woodland adjoining the highways will have to be sprayed.

The street elms with a few exceptions went through the summer in better condition than usual. The elm leaf beetles were not as numerous and the trees evidently did not suffer so much from dry weather as in previous seasons. Every summer lately they have been dropping their leaves all through the season but this year the leaves all stayed on until fall. The trees should therefore be in better condition to stand the winter.

As the weather during the spraying season was very unfavorable for spraying and the beetles were not so plenty and with the extra amount of moth work to do, some elms were not sprayed. Some of these went through the season all right while others were badly eaten. Unless the beetles totally disappear it will probably not be safe to omit the yearly spraying of the old, large elms, as they are not in a condition to withstand the attack of insects.

The town at the last annual meeting voted $200.00 for the purchase and setting out of shade trees along the street. One hundred Norway maples were purchased and a few maples were taken up about town. These maples were set on the following streets: Main, North, Pleasant, Oak, South, Green, Brook, Miller, Pound and Spring. They all lived during the summer with the exception of one or two that we dug up and did not get a good root system.

The people generally seem well pleased with the action of the town in setting out these trees. Many of our elms and maples are old and are not able to stand as much in the way of disease and insects as younger trees. The elm leaf beetle has sapped the vitality of many of our best elms and they are dying one by one. The dry seasons of the past few years have had a bad effect on elms and maples, and while the maple is very free from the attacks of insects some of the older maples are beginning to die in the tops, evidently the result of insufficient nourishment and moisture. A dry, hot summer stops the growth in a tree, then the fall rains will stimulate a late addition of cells which do not have time to properly harden off before the extreme cold weather sets in. This causes a severe winter, killing of the new cells, resulting in the death of portions of the roots which are thus unable to supply food and moisture to the tree and the tops commence to die. This condition of the tops dying is found in many of our maples.

Some think that it is a waste of money to spend it on our trees. They say the trees have taken care of themselves for centuries and will continue to do so. But times have changed and are changing, and some of these changes are not beneficial to our trees. We are not satisfied with the trees, shrubs and flowers that we have. We must have some of those that grow in foreign countries in Europe, Japan or China. We import foreign trees and shrubs and with them import disease and insect enemies which in their native countries are not fatal as nature has established a balance and created parasites which keep the insects down. The parasite is not imported with the insect or is killed by the sudden change, the insect flourishes in our climate doing great damage.

The brown tail moth is an example. It was first brought to this country probably on an importation of roses from Holland to Somerville. It is known in Europe as the common caterpillar. The parasites did not come with it or did not survive the sudden change. The people of Somerville were not familiar with it, it was allowed to spread and like many an emigrant it flourishes better than our native born. The gypsy moth, leopard moth, San Jose scale and other insects have been imported in similar ways.

Our trees not only have these new insects to contend with but there are other conditions that are not favorable to the healthy growth of trees. The soil many times is poor and impoverished by constant cropping. Trees need nourishment as well as corn or potatoes. Many times the good soil has been removed in grading or gravel, ashes or stone have been used in filling. Our cement sidewalks and tarred roads by shutting out air and moisture are not conducive to the health of trees, especially to the aged ones.

As many of the older trees are dying and will be dying every year it would be good policy for the town to appropriate two hundred dollars this year for the setting out of trees along our roads. Trees properly set out, not too near together and where they will not interfere with public travel, add greatly to the attractiveness of a town. A street well shaded with maple trees is certainly more attractive and the abutting property would be more valuable than a street without trees. We owe a debt of gratitude to those who planted the present shade trees. Should we not continue the work and plant trees to take the places of the old ones that those who come after us may enjoy well shaded streets?

During the past year we cut down a number of trees that were dead or dying and there will be others to remove the coming season. We have also removed some of the dead wood, taken off limbs that interfered with travel or made the streets dark by shading the electric lights. Many of the younger trees need trimming to give them proper shape. We have also thinned out the growth and cut the bushes on some of the curves on our highways where the growth obstructed the view of the road, and made driving dangerous. There is much of this work remaining to be done.

There are many places along our highway covered with a sprout growth. This growth could be thinned, leaving those trees that would make good shade trees and were moth resistant. This would improve the appearance of these highways.

Medfield has been visited the last two years by a large number of the apple tree tent caterpillar and last season we also had the forest tent caterpillar which is not a very familiar visitor. As not much was done for these insects they stripped many of the apple and wild cherry. Their eggs are very abundant at this time and they will probably be very plenty the coming spring. Fortunately these insects are native and have their parasites. Their parasites will soon check them and they will practically disappear.

The wild cherry is very abundant along our roadsides and in the fields. These trees are of no value whatever, but are the favorite breeding place of the tent caterpillar. If these were cut down it would be easier to keep the tent caterpillar down. The wild cherry is also infected with the black knot which spreads from it to the cultivated cherry and plum. The brown tail also is very fond of the cherry. This department has cut many of the wild cherry along the road and should do more the coming season, but the work would do more good if it were supplemented by property owners removing all wild cherry on their land. They would probably find it cheaper to cut the trees than to pay the town men for removing the brown tails from them.

I would recomemnd that the town appropriate eight hundred dollars for moth work and seven hundred dollars for the Tree Warden, two hundred of the latter to be used in planting trees.

I wish, at this time, to acknowledge the gift of fifteen dollars and the labor of men and team by Mr. Benjamin Kimball toward the pruning of the shade trees on the southerly end of South Street.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

I hereby submit to you the following report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year.

In January, 1913, orders were received as usual from the Commissioner of the Department of Animal Industry to make a complete inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, goats and swine and their stables in which they are kept.

This inspection had to be made between Feb. 1st and March 15, 1913.

During this inspection 67 stables were visited and 565 cattle, 422 swine, four sheep and two goats were examined, and most all stables were found in better condition than usual, although some will have to be improved in order to keep up with the sanitary conditions of the State Board of Health and the Department of Animal Industry.

During this inspection three cows were placed in quarantine under suspicion of having tuberculosis; these cows were examined by an agent of the Department of Animal Industry, two of these were released but the other one was killed and stable disinfected.

March 30, 1913, one cow quarantined, April 26, two cows quarantined and May 15, one cow quarantined, all under suspicion of having tuberculosis; these cattle were all examined by an agent of the Department of Animal Industry, found to be tuberculous, killed and their stables disinfected.

December 27, a bull was quarantined under suspicion of having tuberculosis, examined by an agent of the Department of Animal Industry, found tuberculous, killed and stable disinfected.

Jan. 27, 1914, a horse was placed in quarantine under suspicion of having glanders, examined by an agent of the Department of Animal Industry, but was released.

Oct. 29, 1913, a new law came into effect as follows: Any person importing or bringing into this state any horses, asses or mules from the states of New York, Connecticut, or Rhode Island shall immediately upon the arrival of the same notify the Inspector of Animals of their respective town; also to get a permit from the Commissioner of the Department of Animal Industry before shipment.

Respectfully yours,

GEO. S. CHENEY,
Inspector of Animals.

We think the cemetery is now in very good condition and we would like very much to maintain same, together with making further improvements. The fences need considerable repairing and some should be renewed, some of the paths and avenues need a little more gravel and there are a few dead trees which should be replaced.

We would respectfully recommend the appropriation of $800.00 to be used in the cemetery this coming year.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Board of Trustees for the year consists of Stillman J. Spear, chairman, Laprelette Wheeler, Lewis K. Conant, Albert L. Clark, Dr. Frank H. Clough and Nellie T. Keyou. Miss Lucretia Johnson, Librarian.

The library and reading-room have been open from 6 to 9 p. m. every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and from 3 to 4 p. m. on Saturday afternoons, with the exception of August, when the library is closed for the month.

Number of books in library Feb. 1, 1914	5,507
Total circulation for the year	7,918

During the past year there has been added, 146 books including "The International Encyclopedia," of twenty-four volumes, "Moulton's Literary Criticisms," eight volumes, and a "Cyclopedia of Civil Engineering," eight volumes.

Presented by Mrs. Edward Grew "Our Vanishing Wild Life" and "Useful Birds and their Protection."

The following periodicals have been subscribed for, for the year 1914, and are upon the tables of the reading-room:

×Harper's Monthly, ×Atlantic, ×Harper's Weekly, ×Scribner's, ×Century, ×Ainslie, ×Munsey, ×Good Housekeeping, ×Country Life in America, ×Lippincott, ×National Geographical, ×Popular Mechanics, ×Popular Electrical, ×Technical World, ×Review of Reviews, ×Outlook, ×Scientific American, ×St. Nicholas, ×Saturday Evening Post, ×Bay View, ×Dedham Transcript.

A great many books which have ceased to be of value, have been discarded. Many of them have been sold at five and ten cents per copy, and the remainder disposed of as junk.

During the August vacation, two of the book stacks were turned around, raised from the floor and drawers placed beneath, thus giving more available shelf and drawer room.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The annual report of the School Committee is respectfully submitted.

At the last annual town meeting, Richard C. Lincoln was re-elected, and committee organized with Allan A. Kingsbury as chairman, R. C. Lincoln, clerk.

The regular monthly, and a few special meetings have been held, one in conjunction with the committees representing Norfolk, Millis and Westwood at Millis, April 19, 1913, the usual business pertaining to the welfare of the schools was transacted. The work in our schools during the past year has been very satisfactory, a natural result, following the harmony existing, between Superintendent, teachers, and scholars. The pupils have given very good entertainments, and it is encouraging to see their efforts appreciated by the townspeople, to have them conducted in such a wholesome and acceptable way. We plead for such high standard in the future as much as in the increase of the genuine school spirit, which has rapidly developed in study, and athletics. The attendance has been excellent; the scholars are becoming each year more interested in the High School course, and with the present number, including a larger entering class than usual, makes the necessity of another teacher apparent. An additional sum of $600.00 will be required for this purpose, but will be money well invested. The school buildings are in good condition, and no extensive repairs are needed at present. The standard of all the grades is being raised, and schools rank very favorably with others in this vicinity. We are very anxious to study out the arrangement of studies in such a way, as shall make us more positive, as to whether we are preparing fully in the grades, in penmanship, English, and spelling, which shall prepare scholars for more rapid and correct work, when reaching the Commercial Department.

We see no reason why we cannot reach a greater degree of efficiency each year by a still more particular method.

We emphasize this line of work, it being not only most essential to one's future, but something we can make no excuse for not attaining.

The reports of Superintendent and Principal are full of knowledge as to conditions and do not necessitate any repetition on our part.

Respectfully,

ALLAN A. KINGSBURY,
RICHARD C. LINCOLN,
TIMOTHY F. KENNEDY.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF MEDFIELD:

My sixth annual report, which is the fifteenth in the series of annual reports of the Superintendent of the Medfield Public Schools, is herewith submitted for your consideration.

No school system can produce the desired results in efficiency unless the executive control works from the standpoint of a definite policy. No policy can be effective without certain elements of stability in its application. This stability depends largely upon the harmonious co-operation of the executive and the working force, all with a uniform purpose in view. It is the duty of the executive to point out the policy to be adopted, but the very best policy possible to conceive may become ineffective through an unstable teaching force. This unstable condition prevails in our small towns to such an extent that, often, nearly all, if not all, of a teaching force is changed within a year. It takes but little thought to understand the demoralizing effect of such changes upon a school system. Some changes are sure to come, even under the most favorable circumstances, but we should co-operate to work for the minimum in this respect. We should aim to secure the very best teachers possible to obtain, within our means, and then aim to make conditions favorable to retain them.

The popular view of the way to retain teachers is to do it by raising salaries. This is an important element, but those of us who know teachers intimately recognize that there are other influences which are sometimes greater inducements than a mere matter of more money. Of course the teacher who is worth retaining at all will constantly be making herself of more value to her school and more useful to the community. Such teachers are sought by the school officials of other communities who usually hold out an inducement in the form of salary, but this alone without better environment and prospects of future advancement may not cause a change. A sensitive teacher may be tempted to leave a position where she is doing good work, on account of the thoughtless and unjust criticism of the public. The constant nagging criticism and false reports circulated by some one parent, and allowed by the public to appear to be the general attitude of all, may so dishearten a good teacher that her usefulness may become lessened and she soon be put into a mood which may cause her to accept the first opportunity for a change. When we hear parents, as we sometimes do, deplore the loss of a good teacher, we wonder if they have really considered the perplexing problems which teachers must meet in the management and teaching of so many children, and if they have made any effort whatever to enable that teacher to adapt herself happily to the community.

We deplore the unprofessional attitude of some superintendents who induce teachers to leave positions when it is known that they are under contract, and are especially needed in the schools where they are located, and we fail to see how any teacher with self respect can break her contract and disregard her moral obligation by leaving a position without a release by the superintendent and school committee. It is a well known fact that school committees are so lenient towards teachers that they seldom dismiss, even an incompetent teacher though the children are being deprived of their rightful due by her retention, yet in spite of this, there is much agitation from some quarters to pass a law to restrict school committees in their power to dismiss teachers, while no power is given committees to prevent a teacher from leaving a position at a time when her going would cause serious detriment to a school.

Two teachers resigned at the close of the school year in June, but this did not cause so much loss because the promotions had been made and many of the pupils would change teachers anyway, with their change of grade. We hoped to continue our September force throughout the year, but were disappointed by the resignation of two before the close of the fall term. Their resignations caused a distinct loss to the schools, but fortunate selections of teachers for the vacancies seem to justify the belief that the year will show profitable results.

If we are to work for the best advancement next year, it would seem to be a wise policy for the town to provide funds to enable the school committee to make such increases in salaries as would, in their judgment, be for the best interest of the children and consequently for the benefit of the town.

On account of the lack of funds small towns are sometimes obliged to experiment with young teachers who have not proved their worth. Generally, however, these young teachers become valuable acquisitions to a school system after they have had the training which comes with experience and supervision. When they have become of value in this way they owe something in return to the schools. On the other hand the town should recognize their additional worth and be willing to furnish a corresponding recompense.

A very hard problem before us, and one which deserves the most earnest attention, is how to provide for the best and most efficient development of the high school. The number of pupils who were members last June, but who did not return in September amounted to about twelve per cent of the whole. The number who completed the ninth grade, but who did not enter the high school amounted to about thirty-one per cent of the whole of that grade. If we make an estimate on the same basis on the present number in the high school, and in grade nine, we shall have fifty-five pupils for the high school next September. This seems to be a conservative estimate for a canvass of the pupils shows a larger number who intend to be in the high school next year, therefore, I feel that we may safely count on sixty. As the present high school room has seats for but forty-eight, it can be readily seen that it is a question of how to find desk room for the pupils. The large class to enter will naturally continue larger than previous classes through the coming four years. The other classes coming along are of good size, consequently we can expect a crowded condition for four years, at least.

Our program of studies has been curtailed this year to meet the requirements of the State Board of Education in regard to the number of subjects, also the number of recitation periods per week, allowed to each teacher. If efficient work is to be done the needs of the pupils must be met, and next year a wider program of studies must be made. This, taken in connection with the larger school, will require another teacher. In fact the agent of the State Board of Education has stated that another teacher will be required next year.

I have studied the matter from the standpoint of an eight grade system which would allow us to dispense with our ninth grade and make our present eighth grade a part of the high school next year. If you should decide to do this we could then use the room now occupied by the ninth grade for high school purposes and thus seat all of the high school, but in two rooms. The adoption of the plan would result in a very large entering class to the high school, and the difference in the ability of the present eighth and ninth grades to do high school work would require them to be worked in separate divisions, and would also make necessary two, instead of one, additional teacher in the high school, but would make one less teacher in the grades.

Many educational authorities favor the eight grade plan and it is recommended by our own State authorities. The plan must also carry with it some way to have the eighth grade more mature than our eighth grades are. The starting point to accomplish this result is to raise the age of admission to school from five to six years. The plan may be worth your consideration for adoption in future years if not at the present time. If you decide not to make any change in our system of grading, and if the high school must remain in the Ralph Wheelock School, the children will have to submit to many inconveniences. We can take up the desks in the high school room and place them together as double desks, thus reducing the number of aisles and providing more room for desks which can be purchased for the purpose. While far from desirable, this can be done in a case of necessity.

The principal, Mr. Taylor, submits further information in regard to the high school, and I refer you to his report. Your attention is also called to the reports of the supervisors of music and drawing and manual arts. The piano now in use is in a dilapidated condition and should be replaced by one which would not take up so much room. Miss Allan feels the need of a sewing machine, and I think in addition to that we should furnish one or more work benches with tools to aid in her work. It would be a material advance along the line of interest, if we could have a work room for the boys. The good results which would come from such an addition, I know from my experience in other towns, would be far above the cost of the equipment.

The school reference library was catalogued during the summer vacation and has become a very useful department. Only a few books have been added this year, on account of lack of funds for that purpose. The general stock of school text-books is fairly well kept up, but needs replenishing in some particular places. More money will have to be spent for books next year.

The new child labor law has added to the work of the superintendent. While not so very much in one town alone, it amounts to considerable when multiplied by four. Of course the time given to work of this kind must be taken from the time which otherwise would be given to supervision. A full compliance with the law would require the attendance officer to investigate the cases of children who are between the ages of fourteen and sixteen, and who are at home. If they are remaining from school for a suitable reason they should be furnished with a certificate of permission, if not, they should be placed in school. The superintendent does not have the time to look up all these cases.

Last spring the children were encouraged to do home garden work through the co-operation of the Massachusetts State Agricultural College, which furnished seed and allowed a choice of potatoes, yellow corn, sweet corn, garden beans or tomato. Forty-nine children asked for and received seed, and some very good results in the form of harvested crops were shown at the Grange Fair. The Grange is a very helpful factor in this respect and its usefulness might be further extended, if it could be arranged for a committee from the Grange to supervise and encourage the children in their garden work through the summer months. If every child knew that his garden was to be inspected, at least once, between the time of planting and harvesting by such a committee, it would not only encourage him, but it would also serve to induce him to feel a responsibility to put forth his best efforts.

The life of the high school has been saddened by the illness and death of Edith Heard of the Freshman class, and the long illness of Alice Lynch of the Sophomore class. Our sympathy has been with their parents at this time of trial and we hope for the speedy recovery of Alice. Otherwise the children have been generally free from illness and the attendance has been comparatively good.

The teachers are working with a fine spirit and your superintendent appreciates the support he is receiving.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. WEST,

Superintendent of Schools.

TO MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

This is the fifth annual report of my work in Medfield. Some changes have been made at various times but at present the work continues the same as last year.

The drawing lessons are planned with certain subjects in each grade. Additions and changes are made whenever it seems beneficial to the pupils.

The sewing classes are continued as usual. More advanced work would be done if a sewing machine could be obtained for the school.

Several kinds of baskets have been made and twelve chairs are being caned by the sixth and seventh grade boys. The work is slow owing to short periods, but it is useful and interesting.

Altogether the work is progressing favorably and proves helpful.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN.

Medfield, February 1, 1914.

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

DEAR SIR:—I herewith present my second annual report of the work in music in the public schools.

The work is being carried on along the same lines as last year. Always there are some who do excellent work, and many whose work this year shows marked improvement.

The system we employ gives much individual work in all the lower grades. This helps to overcome selfconsciousness in the child, and gives splendid training in accuracy and quick-thinking. It also gives the teacher and supervisor a chance to judge of each pupil's ability, and is used as a basis for credit.

Much written work is required, and in the upper grades written tests, with questions covering the theory studied each week, are given several times during the year. We are striving by this process to make each pupil realize that school music not alone means to sing songs well, but it does mean, also, a mastery of its signs and symbols, and some knowledge of theory and fundamentals.

In April the high school chorus, assisted by a soloist, very creditably presented the cantata, "The Building of the Ship," by Henry Lahu, to a small audience in Chenery Hall. Thus far this year, short choruses, only, have been sung.

The success of our work throughout the schools depends largely on the co-operation of the teachers in their potent daily work with the individual pupils. I wish, here to extend to them my appreciation of their generous support in the furtherance of the work.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIEBELLE E. THAYER.

TO MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

DEAR SIR:—I herewith submit my second annual report as Principal of the Ralph Wheelock School.

The steps which were taken last year to re-organize the High School curriculum have proven most valuable during the year's work, and point the way to further beneficial reform. The lengthening of the class-room period, the concentration of the teacher's energy upon fewer courses, and the centering of the pupil's work upon four unit courses in the year, has produced more efficient work throughout the school. Such restriction of recitation periods, however, necessitated the omission of several courses for a year which must be re-introduced for Normal School and college preparation, thereby requiring an enlarged teaching force.

The large grade to enter next fall from the grammar school will also increase the difficulties of program and teaching arrangements, because of large classes and limited equipment. For some time past the matter of providing for this increase in numbers has been under discussion and need not be taken up here. Conditions at best will be cramped and awkward. Recitation rooms will be too small, and commercial and scientific provision necessarily too limited through practically the entire high school course for this class. The serious contemplation of a new high school building should be taken up at once,—which even under normal conditions is very much needed to give the Medfield boys and girls of to-day and to-morrow educational advantages which are peculiar to the advance in practical secondary school training. This advance represents the response to the present day educational needs of communities such as ours, and gives particular attention to the Practical Arts. It provides for directive and foundation courses for the trades and industrial life; courses in domestic science and economy; courses in applied science designed to aid the prospective farmer or town householder to understand and improve sanitary and hygienic conditions, and to study intelligently the circumstances and agencies of his labor. Such training must be resultant in broader citizenship. Every boy should become a practical artisan; every girl should be efficient in the domestic arts. The present has very generally shifted the responsibility of this training to the schools. We have no power to supply it in our present cramped quarters, but could make such provision in a new building.

There is urgent need of additional science equipment. The college preparatory work in Physics, which will be given again next year, will be very incomplete and below requirement, unless a generous appropriation is made for the purchase of apparatus. If possible this should also cover the cost of a sloyd-bench to be located in the laboratory and to be used as a science "work-shop"; many simple pieces of apparatus could then be made by members of the classes, lessening subsequent expenditure, and affording further utilitarian training. The bench could also be employed in the grade work in practical arts. The "hood"—one of the most essential of laboratory accessories—which was added last year, has been most valuable to the chemistry course, and has permitted a more complete treatment of that science in college preparatory work.

The scholastic atmosphere of the high school is excellent. The pupils are interested and faithful in their work, and the teachers, painstaking and wholehearted in their service. A good spirit is evident. The restrictive re-organization of the school's social events has been loyally supported, and effectively proved best in securing school unity and adequate funds.

Grateful acknowledgment is made of the counsel, encouragement, and aid, which has been so generously rendered by those who share with me the responsibility of the school and its work.

Respectfully submitted,

RALPH W. TAYLOR.

REPORT OF FIRE ENGINEERS FOR 1914.

Feb. 13, still alarm for chimney fire in A. L. Clark's residence on Miller Street.

April 11, brush fire south and west of Medfield Junction Depot about 25 acres burned over.

April 14, brush and grass fire in rear of Harding P. O., nearly 40 acres burned over.

April 15, two still alarms, one near hennery and chimney fire at Geo. Mills residence.

April 19, brush fire at Bartlett's and Angeles land 10 or more acres burned over.

April 19, brush fire on Powells land west of Junction Depot.

April 24, small building of Jewell Estate burned.

May 31, fire on the property of J. Duke Smith a very stubborn fire and much wood burned.

June 20, called to a fire in Rocky woods.

Sept. 29, woods afire at Noon Hill near D. Lynch.

Oct. 14, called to Medfield Inn, damage slight.

Nov. 3, brush fire near Childs Estate.

Nov. 5, fire in woods at Noon Hill.

Nov. 5, chimney fire in house occupied by Robert Dewar, damage slight.

Nov. 7, fire at Town Dump requiring attention for a good many hours.

Nov. 13, brush fire near Town Dump.

Nov. 27, called to Granville Mitchell's house on North St.

By having a small change made in the Partitions in the quarters occupied by the Fire Department we now have room to store the Hand Engine, the Hose Wagon and Gasolene Fire Engine in one room, thereby saving the amount formerly paid for storage.

We have 2800 feet of hose in 1st class condition.

Our Hose Wagon and Gasolene Fire Engine is in good order.

We have a Hose Coupling-tool and are able to make repairs where formerly it was sent away.

The Hook and Ladder Truck is in rather poor condition and we are of the opinion that it is not economical to pay repair bills every time it is used.

Considering the expense of horses and teams with repair bills we can readily recommend a motor truck to take the place of both.

In behalf of the Town of Medfield we wish to thank the E. V. Mitchell Co., for the use of their whistle for fire alarms.

Each company has its full complement of men who are always ready to respond to the calls.

A decision handed down by the Supreme Court last year makes Property holders liable for the expense of extinguishing fires caused by negligence or carelessness. We request the people of Medfield to remove or report such a condition.

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. KINGSBURY,
M. HOWARD BLOOD,
HIRAM KIMBALL.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:

I hereby submit my annual report of the work of the Moth and Tree Warden departments.

Our work the past year has prevented the moths from doing any damage outside of the woodland and probably not much damage was done there. We in common with all the towns in this section have more gypsy moth eggs than usual on our shade trees. There is probably some increase in the number in the orchards.

The Gypsy moths are scattered through most of the woodland although there may still be found woodlots that are not infested. It is impossible to suppress these infestations on account of the expense and they are a serious problem. They are not only an injury to the woodland but the moths spread from them to other parts of the town. They did not do as much stripping in the woodland in 1914 as in 1913. This was probably due to the work of the parasites.

Our work this winter consists of scouting the town, creosoting all egg clusters in apple and shade trees. In June it will be necessary to spray all these trees. In woodland bordering the highways we are not doing much creosoting but are locating the infestations and will spray them later. In woodland back from the highways it will be necessary to leave the moths for the parasites and wilt disease to suppress, unless the owners are willing to stand the entire expense.

The past year the State loaned us a large sprayer for three days. This was used on both public and private work. It will be necessary for us to have a large sprayer for a week or more the coming season for use in the woodland along our highways, and for private work in woodland where the owners wish to stand the expense.

Every apple tree in town should be sprayed right after blossoming with arsenate of lead in the proportion of five gallons lead to fifty of water. The town sprayer will not be able to do all this work in the short space of time when spraying is effective and apple tree owners are asked to cooperate and see that their trees are sprayed by some one. The gypsy caterpillar is hard to kill and the spraying should be early and thorough. The improvement in the quality of the apples will more than pay for the spraying.

I find an increase in the interest taken by the land owners every year. More owners than usual are destroying the moth eggs on their premises this year.

Last year we had a heavy infestation of brown-tail moths causing much expense. This year we have very few.

The apple tree tent caterpillar were very numerous last year and there are many of their eggs at present on the wild cherry. If they are plenty the coming season the trees should be sprayed early, just before the apple trees blossom. Many apple trees and many bushels of apples were injured by them last year. Under a law passed last winter the town has authority to go onto private property and destroy the tent caterpillar and charge the expense to the owner. The favorite food of this caterpillar is the wild cherry and they are the breeding places of this and other insects. If they were cut down it would help in reducing this pest. The town has cut all the wild cherry along the highways and property owners will find it cheaper to cut them on their property than to have them sprayed later.

The past two years the town has been infested to some extent with the forest tent caterpillar. Some shade trees and some woodlands were half stripped by them last summer. Their parasites attacked them last summer while in the pupal state and probably they will not be plenty another year.

Last Spring we set out 274 shade trees mostly Norway maple with a few red oaks and elms which were contributed by abutters. Counting those trees set out by the town and those by citizens along the highways there were 285 trees alive and doing well last Fall.

The elm trees were sprayed as usual during the spraying season. The beetles were not plenty and the trees went through the season in good condition.

It has been necessary to remove a few trees that were dead or dying. The dead limbs have been trimmed from others, and the low limbs that interfere, or will interfere with travel, or that make the streets dark, taken off. Some trees that were inclined to split have been bolted or braced with heavy wire cable. Cavities have been cleaned out and filled with cement.

The moth department will have a busy season from now on. While the brown-tails work will not require as much money as last year the gypsy work will require more.

I recommend that $900.00 be appropriated in addition to the unexpended balance of the moth account.

In the tree warden department there will be trimming, cementing, cleaning of cavities, and spraying, and the setting out of more trees. I recommend for this purpose $650.00 in addition to the balance.

The following contributed to our shade tree fund last spring:

Mr. Richard M. Smalley, Mr. Davenport Brown, Mr. Benjamin Kimball, Mrs. E. V. R. Thayer, Miss Emma Rhodes, Mr. Frank E. Day, Dr. Henry L. Morse, Mr. Harrison H. Childs, pupils and teachers of the High School, Hannah Adams Club.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

I hereby submit to you the following report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year.

January 1, 1914, orders were received from the Commissioner of Animal Industry to make a complete inspection of all neat cattle, swine, sheep and goats, this inspection had to be made between Jan. 15 and March 1, 1914 about two weeks earlier than usual.

During this inspection 64 stables were visited and 528 cattle, 356 swine, 3 sheep and 3 goats were examined, these animals were found free from all contagious diseases under a physical examination and no animals were quarantined, but some premises and cattle were not kept clean enough to be up to the requirements of the law.

March 11, 1914 I received orders again to make a second examination of premises and cattle which were not kept satisfactorily and some had cleaned up but some had not and had to be examined by an agent of the Department of Animal Industry in September, this agent got a number of promises and was supposed to make another inspection in November but on account of Foot and Mouth disease breaking out in some sections of Massachusetts, he has been engaged other ways.

November 5, 1914, Inspectors of Animals from this section of Massachusetts were ordered in to the office of the Department of Animal Industry to attend a meeting and while at this meeting a message arrived stating we had Foot and Mouth disease in this state.

November 7, 1914, a blanket quarantine was placed on all cattle at one place in town as these cattle had been exposed, they were closely watched by an agent of the Department of Animal Industry but did not happen to have the dreaded disease.

November 7, 1914, all cattle, sheep, goats, swine and fowl were forbidden to be moved in any form.

December 3, 1914, livestock was allowed to be moved in a vehicle for immediate slaughter.

The Commissioner of Animal Industry has been modifying the quarantine as fast as safety would permit and now stock can be moved the same as usual except in thirty-two cities and towns where cases of Foot and Mouth disease was located. A few cases of "Cholera" in swine have been reported in the past year.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE S. CHENEY,
Inspector of Animals.

In the past year, the Committee outside of maintaining the cemetery in good condition and attending to routine work, we have done considerable new graveling and have made some repairs on fences substituting wire for lumber in cases where boards were decayed.

There are now more improvements of the same kind much needed and to carry on this, together with our regular work we would respectfully recommend an appropriation of $800 to be used in the cemetery this year.

REPORT OF AN AUDIT
THE TOWN OF MEDFIELD

FOR THE PERIOD FEBRUARY 1, 1913 TO AUGUST 31, 1914.

Made in accordance with the Provisions of Chapter 598,
Acts of 1910, and a Vote of the Town in Town Meeting March 2, 1914.

December 14, 1914.

December 14, 1914.

To the Board of Selectmen,
Mr. Richard M. Smalley, Chairman,
Medfield, Massachusetts.

GENTLEMEN:—

Pursuant to a vote of the town and the provisions of Chapter 598, Acts of 1910, I have caused an audit to be made of the town's accounts and am enclosing the report of Mr. Edward H. Fenton, Chief Accountant of this Bureau, who was assigned to take charge of this work, together with balance sheets showing the financial condition of the town as of September 1, 1914, and also as of October 1, 1914.

Attention is called to certain defects in the collector's commitment book and to the fact that when changes were made, the warrant was not always corrected to correspond; provision has been made for rectifying these methods in the new accounting system being installed. Attention is also invited to the recommendation that in future flat appropriations be made for each department, and estimated receipts used by the Assessors in fixing the tax rate, a method of procedure which will make overdrafts on account of the failure of a department to estimate its revenue properly, impossible; while overdrafts because of inadequacy of appropriations should also be made unnecessary if, as recommended, a reserve fund is established.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES F. GETTEMY, Director.

Enclosures CFG/EAD

Mr. Charles F. Gettemy,
Director, Bureau of Statistics,
State House, Boston.

SIR:—

In accordance with your instructions, I have made an audit of the books and accounts of the town of Medfield as petitioned for by vote of the town March 2, 1914, in accordance with Chapter 598 of the Acts of 1910.

The financial transactions of the several departments were examined for the fiscal year 1913 and all outstanding accounts appearing on the books were checked to September 1, 1914, when the books were opened under the system installed.

A statement of the funds and accounts and accounting practices, with suggestions and recommendations, and balance sheets of September 1, 1914 and October 1, 1914, follow.

Treasurer's Department:—The selectmen's order stubs were checked with the treasurer's payments as shown by his cash book and were found to agree. All payments from February 1, 1913 to August 31, 1914, were supported by proper vouchers.

The treasurer's receipts from February 1, 1913 to August 31, 1914, were checked and found to agree with the department accounts and state settlement sheets.

The several trust funds for which the treasurer is custodian were checked with the investments and found to agree with his books. Certain cemetery funds were in the general cash as the town had not accepted the bequests; but separate accounting had been made on the treasurer's books for these funds.

The treasurer's cash was verified by actual count and bank balances were proved.

The following is a reconciliation of the treasurer's cash September 1, 1914:

Cash on hand January 31, 1914,
per Town Report	$15,671.68
Receipts February 1 to August 31,
1914	10,585.42
			$26,257.10
Payments February 1 to August 31,
1914	$23,625.08
Cash on hand September 1, 1914 .	2,632.02
			$26,257.10
Bank balance September 1, 1914,
per Bank Statement	$3,469.15
Less outstanding checks
No. 774 $94.33	No. 780 $30.00
757 51.98	781 15.00
776 25.00	784 99.88
778 23.70	785 200.00
779 25.00	787 550.54
	$220.01	$895.42	$1,115.43
Bank balance September 1, 1914,
per Check Book			$2,353.72
Cash in office			278.30
			$2,632.02
Cash on hand September 1, 1914,
per Cash Book			$2,632.02

The books and records of the treasurer were neat, and accurately kept. It was not only easy to verify the accounts, but the accounting procedure was such that all funds in the custody of the treasurer were carefully analyzed and reported and material progress had been made in presenting statements showing revenues and expenditures in a classified form.

Collector's Department:—The books and accounts of the tax collector for the years 1912, 1913, and 1914 were checked and reconciled and all differences found have been adjusted.

The collector's cash book was incomplete, as a number of items were omitted. This appeared to be due to his system of noting partial payments. The commitment book in many cases showed only the date when the partial payment was made; when the final payment was made the account was marked "paid," but frequently it was found that the date of payment was that of the first partial payment, which in such cases would not correspond to the cash book.

Payment to the treasurer was made in a lump sum and not necessarily the exact amount collected and on hand at that time; while the amount temporarily withheld was small, still it was sufficient to cause confusion in the audit.

The difficulties encountered and errors disclosed were but natural results of unsystematic recording and reporting, and should in the future be eliminated since proper forms for reporting collections have been supplied.

Changes were found to have been made in the commitment book for which no corresponding corrected warrant had been issued; this of course should not be done. If errors are discovered in the commitment, the necessary corrections should be authorized by the board of assessors,—by abatements in the case of over assessments, or by submitting a supplemental warrant and list for added assessments.

Verification notices representing all the uncollected taxes for the years 1912 and 1913, except the separate polls, were sent to about fifty delinquent tax payers. Specific replies were received from thirteen of these, none of which indicated that any payment had been made to the collector other than those shown by his books. Three notices, undelivered, were returned by the postal authorities. The balance not having made reply, it is reasonable to assume that the notices were received and that the amounts called for were correct and had not been paid.

The following statements show the amounts committed for the years 1912, 1913, and 1914, together with the collections and amounts still outstanding as of September 1, 1914.

Taxes	30,614.21
Moth assessments	257.88
Collections not paid to treasurer	18.84
		$31,226.93

Assessors' Department:—In checking the collector's account it was found that, owing to differences between the total of the list and the warrant of the years 1912 to 1914, it was necessary to check the commitment book with the valuation book and to add both the valuation books and the commitment books. In each of the years 1912, 1913, and 1914, differences were found. Greater care should be taken in order that a proper check may be had on the collections of taxes; for while the collector is required to account for the total of his warrant, this warrant should be in exact agreement with the list.

Necessary adjustments were made in the collector's accounts for the years 1912 and 1913 and a corrected warrant was made by the assessors for the year 1914.

Trust and Other Special Funds:—The library funds, aggregating $6,500, and the town school fund of $3,550 are on deposit in the International and Old Colony Trust Companies of Boston. Certificates of deposits were examined and found to be as reported.

The cemetery funds are deposited in savings banks, with the exception of amounts deposited and not yet accepted by the town.

A special fund from the proceeds of the sale of the town farm is set up in conformity with a vote of the town and is not included in the excess and deficiency fund. This fund represents the proceeds of the disposal of town property and is being held presumable for acquiring additional property for which loans would ordinarily be issued.

Conclusion:—The balance sheets appended show the financial condition of the town to be most excellent. This fact is especially gratifying, as many of our towns find it difficult to meet current needs. The reports and recommendations of the officers show their appreciation of the necessity of a proper classification and accounting of public finances.

The appropriations for the year 1914 are clear and arranged in most particulars in the order recommended by the Bureau of Statistics. However, the appropriations are given a certain amount to which is added departmental receipts; on account of this method, certain departmental appropriations show overdrafts temporarily.

While the result of this method has not caused financial embarrassment to the town, as is frequently the case, I would recommend that flat appropriations be made and estimated receipts used by the assessors in fixing the tax rate.

I would also recommend the establishment of a "Reserve Fund," as provided for by Chapter 645 of the Acts of 1913; for from such a fund transfers might be made to meet unexpected expenditures of the several departments, without the expense and trouble of a special town meeting.

At the present time, items are charged to the contingent account which are similar to those charged to specific appropriations; in order that the entire cost of a given function may be shown, some provision must be made that will admit of a transfer. The Reserve Fund exactly meets this need. While a small contingent fund seems necessary to meet items that do not appear to justify specific appropriations, this fund should be used for those items only and regular departmental accounts should be charged to their respective appropriations.

On behalf of myself and my assistants, I wish to express to the several town officers my appreciation of their hearty co-operation and assistance in making the audit, for they at all times cheerfully supplied us with books and papers in their possession and gave us much valuable assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

EDW. H. FENTON,
Chief Accountant.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The annual report of the School Committee for the year ending December 31, 1914 is respectfully submitted.

By the re-election of Allan A. Kingsbury at last March meeting the board remains unchanged. Organization Allan A. Kingsbury chairman, R. C. Lincoln clerk.

The work of the schools during the past year has been satisfactory and take this opportunity of thanking parents for their co-operation.

It is an honor and privilege to express our appreciation of the services of James E. Pettis, who resigned as janitor of Ralph Wheelock School after 19 years of great faithfulness to duty. Besides many generous acts which the teaching force can testify, there have been no repairs, no money spent that we have any knowledge of resulting from his neglect. Acknowledgment with thanks is made for the gift of the Library Trustees to our School library of a set of books, which are valuable for reference. It was voted to extend the noon hour fifteen minutes allowing children more time for lunch, and ask the co-operation of parents in having children punctual. The doors for those who go home at noon will be open at 12.55. For those who bring their lunch proper care is arranged for as one teacher and janitor will be on duty for this purpose. Attention is called to the reports of Superintendent and Principal to over-crowded conditions, all the available room in the building has been utilized.

The committee have thought whether it would be advisable to put first grade in separate building possibly a portable one, or extend the wing of present building on Miller street end to make more room for high school.

Three rooms were painted this year and one or two should be done each year to keep them in good condition. Attention is called to Miss Allan's report in regard to sewing room and equipment.

The school exhibition in Cheney Hall deserves mention, each succeeding one, if memory serves us, is superior to the last and gratitude of parents for this fine opportunity especially is manifested by their attendance which is a great encouragement to teachers and pupils.

We would recommend an appropriation of $7,900 for school the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

ALLAN A. KINGSBURY,
TIMOTHY F. KENNEDY,
RICHARD C. LINCOLN.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF MEDFIELD:

My seventh annual report which is the sixteenth in the series of annual reports of the Superintendent of the Medfield Public Schools, is herewith submitted for your consideration.

Since my last report a change of teachers has come about in every grade below the high school with results which emphasize what was stated in that report about a definite policy, and the difficulty to maintain one, when so many changes occur. Fortunately the greater number of resignations came at the end of the school year when the pupils naturally change teachers through promotions. This natural time serves to mitigate the evils which appear with a change of teachers. Sometimes the loss which comes is mixed with good, and possibly, sometimes the good results overshadow the evil. We hope this is true in the present case, especially as particular care was taken in the selection of teachers to fill the vacancies, and we venture to predict that the final results will be on the right side.

Fortunately the high school was not called upon to undergo such a process of change, and has been further strengthened by an additional teacher and a growth in numbers which considerably exceeds the estimates which were made. We considered it safe to place the number at sixty, but we now realize that this estimate was too conservative in as much as the membership has reached a total of seventy-one. The present outlook appears to justify the opinion that the school will be larger still next year. It is now a high school of respectable size and a credit to the town. It is, however, handicapped by the restrictions of its environment. The removal of a partition in order to combine two recitation rooms into one room, and the purchase of desks for that room, enabled us to provide a seat for each pupil, but there is no room large enough to allow the entire school to assemble for music or other general school exercises.

The room used for a laboratory is meager in its size and equipment, and must be used for other than science classes to an extent which diminishes its usefulness for experiments by individual pupils. More of our pupils ought to pursue courses in science and doubtless they would do so if our equipment were adequate and could be used as an object lesson to appeal to them. With a present introductory science class of seventeen, a physics class of five and a biology class of nine, it is quite obvious that very little can be accomplished in the way of experiments on a table which is large enough for only four pupils. Under such conditions the teachers and pupils do well to accomplish what they do, and we do not wonder at their lack of enthusiasm over the arguments of those people who contend for the practical in education. Restricted as they are, it is necessary for the work to be done theoretically and from text-books.

The classes in book-keeping and the recitations in other commercial subjects must be conducted in the same room which contains the typewriters. The room is not as large as it should be for the recitations, therefore the restrictions caused by the use of space for the typewriters, and the confusion caused by their having to be in use at the same time that recitations are in progress, must certainly operate to retard the classes.

These young people are the children of Medfield, and their parents are looking ahead to the time when they are to become efficient citizens. They are dependent upon the present citizens to provide, for them, at the only time in their lives when such provision can be made, environment which will furnish the opportunity for them to begin, in the right way, to make the most of themselves.

During the time of my acquaintance with the Medfield schools, the large number of pupils to each teacher has appeared to be one of the serious defects. This has not always been true in every room, but each year the children, of one more rooms, suffer from this cause. I do not see any pr pect for smaller classes in the future. Thirty-seven more pupils have been registered at this date than on the corresponding date last year. There is a large class of primary children, and, if they are all promoted and placed in the same room with the present second grade next year, there will be fifty or more children in that room. Grades eight and nine will contain over fifty pupils next year, and no one teacher, in a five hour day, can do for those grades what ought to be done. Here is a condition, and it should be squarely faced by those who are responsible, and solved by plans which are in line with the needs of the times. The time is long past when the argument that one teacher can do all the necessary work for sixty to seventy-five pupils can carry any weight.

I am placing these matters before you because I feel that it is our duty to inform the citizens of conditions which they are not in position to study out for themselves, and, because they are conditions which I am sure the citizens ought to know. Suggestions have been made in other years with the object of providing a remedy for the congested conditions, and again I wish to offer some suggestions. They may bring out discussion or arouse thoughts which may develop even a better plan than I herewith suggest.

Our Commissioner of Education talks to us about six years of elementary school and six years of high school. By adopting a modified form of this idea we could organize our eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades as a Junior High School, and continue the twelfth and thirteenth grades as a Senior High School. A Junior High School diploma could be given to those who wish to stop at the end of the eleventh grade, and those who wish to enter college, attend a normal school or complete the commercial course could continue through the thirteenth grade and receive a Senior High School diploma.

To organize on this basis, it would be necessary to use all of the building above the first floor for high school purposes, and if organized next September there would be about 130 pupils, which would require a principal and four teachers, one of whom might be a teacher of domestic science. The room previously referred to, which was supplied with desks this year, might be fitted up as a good laboratory and the present laboratory could be used for a typewriting room.

The next question relates to the disposition of the elementary grades. They could be managed for a few years, at least, with the exception of the first grade, on the first floor. Another place would have to be provided for the first grade. If nothing else could be found a portable schoolhouse would answer the purpose. There is room enough in the Lowell Mason building, but, unfortunately it is too far away.

As stated before, these suggestions are for discussion and for a possible solution. I do not offer the plan as the best, but as something which would answer for a time. Public opinion will finally demand something better.

Neither do I offer this plan as one which will not cost anything. Public education has always cost sacrifice, money, time and patience, and it is safe to assume that it will go on costing these more and more. The efficiency of education depends largely upon how much we are willing to put into it.

The school census has been taken, as directed by the State Board of Education, to conform to the law as amended by the Acts of 1914. It now includes, on a separate census card for each child, all children over five and under sixteen years of age, and all illiterate children over sixteen and under twenty-one years of age. This method of recording the census has taken more time than the usual method, therefore has increased the expense.

The reports of Mr. Taylor, Miss Allan and Miss Thayer are submitted for your consideration. I heartily approve such suggestions as Mr. Taylor has made in relation to improvements to the Ralph Wheelock building, because thereby the work of the schools would be facilitated.

The special teachers are bringing about good results with their work, and we hope that the manual work for the boys may be extended.

Those who have the most to do with making and using school reports are generally agreed that their chief purpose is to furnish information concerning the schools, and to present plans for their improvement. No attempt has, therefore, been made in this report to write an educational essay, but rather to furnish a report of historical and statistical nature from which it is hoped the public may obtain information and suggestions.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. WEST,

Superintendent of Schools.

Medfield, Mass., December 31, 1914.

Medfield, Mass., January 2, 1915.

TO MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

Although the general program of drawing and art work in the schools is similar to the work of previous years, constant changes are made whenever pupils can be more benefited. It is the duty of a drawing teacher to make the work as interesting as possible, and in order to get a sufficient amount of drill and variety in any one department, new ideas and new ways of expressing old theories must be studied and worked out.

The new room for manual work in the school basement is a vast improvement. The work-bench and tools enable the boys to make objects in elementary woodworking. If benches to accomodate ten more boys could be acquired, a regular sloyd course might be carried out.

The new sewing machine has doubled the interest of the sewing classes. I feel that the new conditions are adding renewed effort and pleasure to all the pupils engaged in hand work.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN.

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

Dear Sir;—In submitting my third annual report of the work in music in the public schools, it seems unnecessary to give an outline of the system which is being taught, as this has been done in previous reports.

The results obtained from the use of our system are interesting to note, however, and I am glad to be able to say that a gradual improvement in sight reading and general ability can be seen throughout the grades. There seems to be, also, an increased interest from year to year, that is gratifying. A word of appreciation is due the teachers for their interest and support, and their efforts to secure satisfactory results in the daily work.

The high school chorus, which is composed chiefly of freshmen and sophomores, this year, is doing good work. Owing to lack of space in the assembly room, it was necessary to make the subject of music elective with juniors and seniors. This is unfortunate, as only a part of those classes attend the chorus singing each week. There are good voices and musical ability of which the chorus is deprived. It is hoped that in the future, arrangements may be made whereby all high school students may be included in the chorus.

Music in the public schools will eventually come to be thought of not so much as a special, as an essential subject. It is needed by all the boys and girls, and practically all of them are capable of being benefited by it.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIEBELLE E. THAYER.

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

Institutions flourish upon the enthusiasm of those who believe in them. To believe in an institution requires knowledge of its good work. Thereafter loyalty to the institution instigates the good word in its behalf, and others begin to get interested, drop prejudiced views and pessimistic prophecies, and become the institution's friends. Then the institution assumes new life, and anxious to merit its good name and encouraged by the loyalty of those to whom it has a right to look for support, attains to more and more.

No one can be proud of a prejudice either based upon tradition or without basis because of non-information. If conditions of an institution were deplorable, a man's duty could not be fulfilled by simply becoming informed regarding those conditions and deploring them. That criticism only is acceptable which is accompanied by action which will compel the institution to live with profit to the community, or cease to live.

The High School of Medfield has for some years been before the community court. In the past, during its experimental stage, there have perhaps been those who would have passed fatal judgment upon it, even before evidence had been permitted. But the evidence has been allowed, and the belief in the High School has grown steadily. Those who now direct the school work are greatly encouraged by the evidence of the school's large body of friends, and the good word concerning it which has gone abroad. The school moreover has come to believe in itself.

The basis of this belief, within and without the school, is briefly as follows. A steady growth in membership, and a consequent effort to meet the various requirements of the pupils, multiplied courses and developed departments of study. A few teachers labored diligently to direct this additional work, and in spite of large handicaps produced results acceptable to the Normal Schools of the State. The last few years has seen a complete re-organization of courses of study. The late increase in the teaching force, demanded by the growth of the school and its work, has finally made possible a twenty per-cent increase in the number of hours given to each course,—a decided advantage to all concerned. The school is now meeting well the high requirements which the town of Medfield has a right to demand that it shall meet. The immediate application of courses to every-day life, has been much emphasized; while the preparatory work is being proven of high grade by those who are successfully entering normal school and college, and carrying on work in those institutions with credit to themselves and to the Medfield High School.

The High School has this year been made up of seventy-one ambitious young people. There is every evidence of good citizenship developing in this group. The High School is no longer an experiment. It is an established institution which the town has become glad to forward, and of which it has a right to be proud.

I cannot refrain from turning the attention to one great obstruction to the further progress of the school. Though far past the experimental stage itself, the school is still housed in experimental quarters. Several commercial and science classes are no longer held in rooms especially equipped for such courses because the latter are far too small. Neither can much fuller equipment for such courses—though needed—be contained in these rooms. Other handicaps and limitations have been multiplied before and need not be repeated here. But we cannot escape the conclusion that present conditions are serious enough to warrant immediate provision for an adequate high school home. The restriction of a full-grown butterfly to the spheres of its earlier life-stages would prevent the spreading of its wings, and restrict its life,—and the High School, as a well developed institution, is seriously cramped in its activity.

The return to a noon-period of one hour and fifteen minutes has been in the interest of good health. That those who may have to remain during the noon recess may be fully provided for, an arrangement has been made whereby one teacher will remain in charge each day.

The bell-wiring of the building is in bad condition, and since it has never been uniform is difficult to repair. The system is often out of order and partial repair has afforded only temporary relief. I would respectfully recommend that the complete rewiring of the building and the encasing of the wires be provided for in the next appropriation.

Electric lights in at least certain parts of the building would be of great advantage to the upper grade and high school teachers whose work frequently detains them, during the shorter days of the year until after sun-down. It would also provide for alumni association committee meetings, parents' meetings, high school rehearsals, et cetera.

The provisions of the School Committee and Superintendent during the past year have materially increased the welfare of the school and made new and valuable lines of work. In the teaching corps this year there has been a marked spirit of unity and mutual helpfulness. I acknowledge with gratitude the efficient aid of these, my co-workers.

Respectfully submitted,

RALPH W. TAYLOR,

Principal.

CLASS ODE,

Graduating Class.

1914 CLASS ODE.

Into the joy and sunshine
That long has filled each heart,
There steals the thought of sadness
That we from classmates part;
But as the years drift onward,
We, striving on our way,
Shall never cease to cherish
Fond mem'ries of to-day.

Refrain.

As we push ever onward,
May not our strength depart.
Oh Heav'nly Father, guide us;
Sustain each falt'ring heart.

The future—bright with promise—
Is heavy fraught with care
That when our duty calls us,
We'll not be wanting there.
Join now in farewells, classmates,
And when our day is done,
May we return triumphant,—
Our vict'ry nobly won.

Words Gladys A. Murray

In submitting the following report your committee beg to state that owing to the reduction of $300.00 in our appropriation we were unable to maintain the cemetery as it should be and we were obliged to omit many improvements which should have been started the past year.

There are fences which should be repaired, avenues to gravel, the single grave section should be graded and the graves numbered and there are trees which should be trimmed or removed and in view of these improvements together with maintaining our regular work we recommend an appropriation of $800.00 for the ensuing year.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:—

I hereby submit to you my annual report of the work as Superintendent of the Moth Work and as Tree Warden.

The methods used in the suppression of the Gypsy Moth the past year are the same as those used in previous years with the exception that less creosoting was done with the intention of doing more spraying later. The State has loaned us a large power sprayer in other years. This year we were unable to obtain one from them, and, as a result our work was seriously handicapped. The residential sections and the orchards were practically free from the moths but many of our roadsides were stripped.

Many woodland owners were anxious to have their woodland sprayed but were unable to do so because of the lack of a sprayer. We did the best we could with the small one which we had but were not able to reach all places at the proper time and the spraying is expensive when done by our small sprayer which was not bought for woodland spraying. What spraying we did with a few exceptions was very effective.

The Browntail Moths show a slight increase this year over last but there are not many this year compared with other years.

The spraying for the tent caterpillar was very effective. If the tent caterpillar is numerous the coming season owners of apple trees will find that spraying just before the trees blossom will be the cheapest and best way of combating the pest. It will also help in controlling the Gypsy Moth caterpillar.

There were not many Elm Tree Beetles the past year and therefore not much spraying was done. Some were observed, especially in a few localities and it is not safe to say as to how numerous they will be the coming season.

We had a large number of trees blown down; their removal causing extra expense. Much trimming has also been done on the aged elms, removing the dead limbs.

Our liability under Chapter 381, Acts of 1905, is $968.79. This money could be spent to much better advantage in spraying than in creosoting. The state will pay part of the expense of buying a power sprayer, and I would recommend that the town make some appropriation for such an act. Also to appropriate $500.00 for Tree Warden work and $980.00 for Gypsy and Browntail Moth work.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN :

I hereby submit to you the following report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year. In February we had another outbreak of "foot and mouth disease" but as nothing happened in this section we were allowed to move cattle on permits and Inspectors of Animals were allowed to give "service" permits in their own towns, and I gave quite a few. A duplicate had to be sent to the Commissioner of Animal Industry.

In January, 1915, we were ordered to make our annual inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, goats and swine, but I went out only one afternoon in which I visited twelve places which was done in February when another outbreak of foot and mouth disease occurred and all Inspectors of Animals in the state were ordered to cease work until further notice.

In April a horse arrived from out of state and after being examined was found to be alright and was released. In June two more horses came in from out of state and like the other one was examined and released.

In July a complaint was received of a suspicious case of a horse having "glanders" but after an examination was allowed to return to work.

In November, two more horses came to this town from out of state which I examined and released.

In December a calf was shipped from New York State to this town; he had to have a permit following him and after arrival was examined and released.

Orders were received January 15, 1916, to make our annual inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, goats and swine and the premises in which they are kept. At this writing I have not been out inspecting but shall start in a few days, to be all through by March 1, 1916.

January 26. Inspectors of Animals of this section of state were ordered to Boston for the annual meeting of Inspectors of Animals to which I attended.

The Commissioner of Animal Industry wishes us inspectors to give each cow a physical examination in regard to tuberculosis, also to see all hogs are examined carefully in regard to cholera.

At this meeting, January 26, the Commissioner mentioned in regard to salary of inspectors. He said some towns did not want to pay the inspectors but he told the inspectors to get it same as usual, but no need to mention this matter to your Selectmen. As you have paid me, thanks to you.

The Commissioner also wants us to convince owners of cattle that cattle must be kept clean, also stables to be kept clean and have proper light, ventilation and drainage, for if we find any diseased cattle in unclean premises the owners will receive no compensation for diseased cattle.

We have had only one or two cases of cholera and no cases of glanders or rabies in town during the past year.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE S. CHENEY,
Inspector of Animals.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The annual report of the School Committee is respectfully submitted.

Changing of year to end December 31 instead of January 31 necessitated an eleven months' account last year.

The item of reimbursement in receipts is money regained. The first figures on new valuation having been in the hands of the State deprived us of income of Massachusetts School Fund interest for last year. We were fortunate in being paid back by act of Legislature, from state treasury.

On the same basis the money for High School, $500.00, will not appear in our account, which we were in hopes we could receive at the time of giving estimates for our year's work.

The changes in preparing for best work has been satisfactory. The purchase of chemistry table especially in new equipment is of great value to the school.

It has been our endeavor to retain our teachers who have shown such faithful service.

We realize the need of rewiring electric bell system. The Inspector of Boilers informed us last year, that it would be the last year we could use the one made in 1888 and installed here soon after, about twenty-seven years ago. The two heaters, in the last two years, have been retubed, and are as good as new. All return pipes have been replaced. After the installation of new boiler, and cost of connecting is over, the cost of repairs on piping and heating apparatus must, it seems, be shall for a number of years.

The Hannah Adams Club has been a help to the schools, having presented them with Victrola, also prize to encourage written English, which we are grateful for.

The Ralph Wheelock and Lower Mason buildings ought to be painted this year, as when needed, each year adds to the cost of covering.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the people for their co-operation. The desire of our board of Selectmen to be intelligent as to the needs of our schools, has shown itself in the proposed matter of giving the use of Chenery Hall, that all the High School might be together in musical rehearsals or chorus work, and more recently the use of hall for other school purposes. They are placing our young people on their honor, a great incentive, to do right, hoping that we shall not misplace this confidence. The standard of schools we are trying to elevate.

The laws are very rigid in regard to attendance especially, our Superintendent and teacher have worked hard to keep up this percentage of attendance. Your committee have co-operated with them in this matter. The teachers should not be criticized if they do not give excuses for trivial causes, and if scholars are absent for any such cause, they must not complain if they do not pass at end of year. Our strength and attention should be saved for those who are absent for unavoidable causes.

Respectfully,

ALLAN A. KINGSBURY,
RICHARD C. LINCOLN,
TIMOTHY F. KENNEDY.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF MEDFIELD:

My eighth annual report, which is the seventeenth in the series of annual reports of the Superintendent of the Medfield Public Schools, is submitted herewith for your consideration.

Several important changes in our school system have come about since my last report. These changes are important and should receive attention because they are such as will reach in influence far into the future and will have a decided bearing upon other changes which will inevitably follow, in the next few years, if our schools are to maintain a desirable standard of efficiency in the system of modern education towards which leading men of thought and the progress of events are directing us.

These changes are as follows:

1. The age of admission to the first grade has been raised.
2. The elementary schools have been placed upon an eight grade basis.
3. An additional teacher has been employed in the high school.
4. The laboratory facilities have been greatly improved.
5. Additional typewriters and a typewriter room have been provided.

I wish to say a few words about each of these changes and point out the advantages to be derived from them.

By raising the age of admission to the first grade so that none of the children are less than five years and eight months old at the beginning of the school year there will be many over six years of age. This will place the first grade in a position of greater efficiency than ever before because there will be fewer repeaters to retard the class. The effect upon the individual pupil of repeating a grade is likely to be somewhat serious, and we should welcome a plan which will reduce the number of those unfortunate children who must begin thus early in life to look upon themselves as unable to compete with their fellows. Many times we are much more responsible than the children because we require them to do what they are not mature enough to attempt successfully. There is also an advantage from the financial point of view because every time a child repeats a grade it now costs the town about thirty dollars. Investigation has demonstrated that children who start school at a more mature age are able in twelve years to do the amount of school work which we have been accustomed to do in thirteen years. On this basis we can begin our regular high school work with grade nine instead of with grade ten as heretofore. The children thus get through high school at the same age as in the nine grade system and save one year of schoolroom confinement and the extra expense to the town which has been required for that year. The result, this year, of placing grade nine in the high school organization has met my expectations. I am satisfied that the children of that grade are gaining more by being associated with the older pupils and by being under the influence of the several high school teachers, than would be possible in the elementary school with one teacher.

The additional teacher in the high school was made possible by the new organization without increasing the number of the entire teaching force. On the basis of the ratio of the number of teachers to the number of pupils, four teachers and a principal with a registry of eighty-seven pupils, we can claim to be ranked by the State officials as "a fully accredited high school."

The new laboratory equipment is proving to be one of our greatest advances by increasing the efficiency of the science classes.

The typewriting room furnishes opportunity to do that part of the work under comfortable conditions and has greatly aided in the improvement of the commercial department.

With the exception of the room now used by grades seven and eight, the high school occupies all of the building above the first floor and, as now organized, will register about the same number, possibly a few more, next year. Under these circumstances we are in excellent condition to go ahead with the more progressive towns and cities of the country and place our schools under the so-called six and six plan to which I referred in my last report.

This plan is being pushed to the front by the United States Commissioner of Education, and is strongly advocated by Dr. Snedden, our State Commissioner of Education. The system contemplates six years of elementary education and six years of secondary, or high school education; the children to begin their elementary education at about the age of six and their secondary education at about the age of twelve. This plan has in its favor a definite line of action and a definite purpose and is in line with the best educational systems of Europe. This advantage is worth considering when we place against it our present arrangement, or the variety of so-called systems which have come down to us from the past without any definite end in view. If we were to adopt the plan it would incorporate our seventh and eighth grades under the high school organization and would give us next year a school of about one hundred thirty-five pupils; grades seven and eight, or seven, eight and nine as a junior high school and the grades above as a senior high school.

This plan had its beginning about 1909, but in these few years it has been put into operation in two hundred or more cities and towns and others are rapidly preparing to adopt the idea. The rapidity with which the plan is coming into favor is due to its many excellent features and its adaptability to small as well as to large school systems.

We are unable to satisfactorily dispute the fact that there is much repetition in the last two years of the grammar school and that the work is done in about the same way as in the preceding grades. The pupils are approaching the age of fourteen and thinking about getting through school. Many are not interested and simply mark time until they can come to the end of the grammar school period, which furnishes a good excuse for them to leave. Then they drift about for several years without making any headway towards finding a definite vocation. These years might be profitably spent if work of interest with some suggestion along pre-vocational lines could be provided in school. The physiological time to begin such work is at the age of twelve, and about this age, is the logical time to change to secondary methods of teaching with the aims of secondary education in view. The break between the elementary and secondary school would come at a time when the children are not thinking about leaving school, therefore they would go on with a prospect of continuing to the end of the school course. The general desire with most children to finish something, the desires of the parents and the pressure of the entire organization of the school would have a strong influence to keep them in school.

The most difficult teaching positions to fill acceptably are in the upper grammar grades where one teacher must handle so many subjects. She is not likely to be strong in all, unless she is the exceptional teacher, therefore some of the studies are indifferently taught. Under the new plan the teaching is departmental and teachers are selected with particular reference to their special subjects, giving the children the advantage of a specialist as teacher of each subject.

Again, some parents plan at an early age of their children to afford them an opportunity for a college education, but our present system compels the children to force about all of the preparation for college into the four years of the high school, and there is not time to devote to other subjects than just those which have special reference to the college entrance. By giving such children a chance to begin some foreign language at the age of twelve, under the instruction of a competent teacher, at the time of life, when it is agreed that languages are learned most easily, there would be a relief of the strain upon those who are fitting for college. Another argument which appears to the advantage of the proposed plan is that it does away with some of the high school aristocracy and puts the system upon a democratic basis. Pupils of twelve or thirteen years of age are not separated from those of fourteen or fifteen, but all are organized into one definite unit where all are working for a definite purpose. This furnishes a better social understanding and thus becomes a better training for citizenship.

Many other suggestions might be given to show the benefits of the proposed plan, but I shall content myself with one more and that is along the line of vocation.

Parents often make remarks to the effect that a high school education is useless because the children who graduate have to work just the same as other people.

Why should high school graduates not work? There should be nothing in any high school course to suggest in the least that one ought to live without labor. Every moment of the child's school life should be used to impress the truth that knowledge without the ability to do is folly, and worse than useless. Honest labor saves the race.

We should, then, give attention to pre-vocational plans early in the child's life. Very few begin to think about a vocation until they reach high school, and even then many waste precious years before any real definite thought is given to the matter. If the broadening methods of high school could begin at the age of twelve, both pupils and parents would be influenced to think of these things earlier, and, in many cases, definite plans for future years would be made and the danger of losing time would be much less.

In concluding this part of my report, I recommend that our high school organization begin with the seventh grade, because:

The plan has been successfully adopted in many cities and towns.

It avoids the severe break between elementary and high school just at a time when children have a strong tendency to leave school.

The teaching can then become departmental and specialized.

It opens a wider field for pre-vocational studies.

It is more democratic and in harmony with our ideas of citizenship.

It gives greater efficiency without greatly added cost.

The child labor laws should be respected and enforced. We ought to look with disfavor upon the man who will himself break the law and induce a child to do the same just because he can put a little money into his pocket by hiring a boy for less than he would have to pay a man.

The interest of the Hannah Adams Club has served to furnish much pleasure and profit from the use of the Victrola which was so generously given. Also that a prize has been offered to encourage written English in the high school is highly gratifying.

The work of the District Nurse in the schools has but just begun, therefore very little can be said about this new line of work. We can only say that what has been done indicates the possibilities of future benefit.

The children are to be commended for the energy they displayed last spring in collecting the egg clusters of the tent caterpillar whereby they earned the silver cup offered as a second prize by the State Board of Agriculture for the greatest number collected by the school children of towns less than 5,000 inhabitants.

Again we have gone through the process of starting the year with new teachers. Of the ten regular teachers, six are new to us and four are having their first real teaching experience.

Under such circumstances, it would be strange indeed if no mistakes are made, but we should give credit for honest effort and good spirit. Such, I feel, is the attitude of the entire force.

Certain improvements and repairs, that would add materially to the comfort of the pupils and teachers in doing work which is now often done under trying circumstances, should be made before another school year. During the winter months there are many days when, for an hour or more at a time, some rooms are so dark that work must be suspended or done at a great strain to the eyes. The fact that it has been this way for many years is not a sound argument to continue this condition. The Ralph Wheelock building should be provided with electric lights.

In past years your attention has been called to the defective wiring for the bells. The whole system should be done over and a fire alarm system to conform to the laws of the State should be installed. Your attention has also been called to the necessity of having a new boiler and an appropriation should be made to take care of this vital item.

The manual arts teacher could make use, in a profitable way, of several work benches and sets of tools.

There should be money enough to keep on hand a good stock of text books in good condition.

The appropriation should allow for an amount each year to extend and improve the school reference library.

There are some children in town who live so far from school that it is a hardship for them to be regular in attendance at all seasons and in all weather. Something should be done for these children.

Each parent should constitute himself an attendance officer and have an interest in the school attendance of all the children, and not to allow trivial excuses to be given for the absence of his own children from school, and, above all, not to keep them from school for light reasons.

In closing, I wish again to call attention to the large size of some of the schools. The teacher of grades seven and eight has registered fifty-seven pupils this year and the primary teacher has registered forty-seven. When a teacher has two grades and more than forty pupils we ought to be charitable and not expect her to go beyond human power to give special work to backward pupils. The conscientious work the teachers are doing deserves commendation, for the real progress of the schools is determined by the character of the work which they do.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. WEST,

Superintendent of Schools.

Medfield, Mass., January, 1916.

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

Dear Sir:—I herewith submit my fourth annual report of the work in music in the public schools.

The same plan of work in the grades has been followed for the past three years, and I am glad to be able to report that each year steady improvement has been the result.

The Victrola, presented to the school by the Hannah Adams Club, has been an added means of instruction and enjoyment to the entire school. Through its use pupils become acquainted with the music of the master musicians, and by hearing music of this kind, boys and girls gradually cultivate a liking for it, and gain a practical knowledge that cannot be acquired through the study of theory alone.

A word of appreciation is due the Selectmen and School Committee for granting the use of Chenery Hall for the High School chorus singing. It has satisfactorily solved the problem of an assembly room with adequate seating capacity.

In closing I wish to thank the teachers for their interest and helpful co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIEBELLE E. THAYER,
Supt. of Music.

MR. M. J. WEST, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

The aim of a public school art teacher is to make the work practical so that every boy and girl may use it to advantage when through with school. Consequently more pencil work is being done including plan drawing and prospective sketching of common objects and parts of buildings. Emphasis is given to plan drawing in the manual training classes and to costume drawing in the sewing classes. In the upper grades a few talks are being given on appreciation of beauty in community surroundings, home furnishings and dress.

The manual training work consists of chair caning and sloyd work. The latter is not satisfactory because the classes are larger this year and ought to have additional equipment. Three or four more benches and more planes would improve conditions and allow for better work. However the best is being done under the circumstances.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN.

1915 CLASS SONG Melody of "Fair Harvard"

Written by Helen A. Bent '15.

Oh, Classmates, in praises let us unite
For Medfield High School dear,
Our voices we raise on high, to sound
In accents, loud and clear.
Oh, hail to the guardian of our youth,
Our friend and strong ally—
Afar and near send forth a cheer
For cherished Medfield High.

Now let us raise our colors high,
Our chosen Black and Gold;
May we be ever true to them
With love that ne'er grows old.
Hail to our colors, standard brave
Long may our banner fly,
Afar and near send forth a cheer
Once more for Medfield High.

As now we leave these cherished walls,
Embarked on life's stormy sea,
Where'er it is that duty calls
In fancy we'll turn to thee.
Our motto: "Not perfect, but begun,"
Our aim is not too high;
'Tis 1915 leaving you
Farewell, dear Medfield High.

In submitting the above report your committee beg to say that owing to the past season being exceptionally wet the cost of mowing was considerably more than usual which left a small balance for improvements.

For the coming year, besides the regular work, there are fences to repair, as well as a new fence to build on the land acquired from Miss Alice O. Sewall to become a part of the cemetery, avenues to repair and number the single graves, and we would recommend that the town appropriate $800.00 and also the amount received for the sale of lots.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN:—

I hereby submit to you my annual report of the work as Superintendent of the Moth Work and as Tree Warden.

The large sprayer which the town purchased last season with the help of the state was a great aid in the moth work. We were able to spray many acres of woodland for private owners with good results. We sprayed all infected trees growing along the highways, also spraying one hundred feet back from the roads. At the commencement of the season we sprayed many apple trees but were unable to spray all that should have been done. In the spraying of the apple trees we used the small power sprayer, using 4,250 gallons of water and 425 pounds of arsenate of lead. Better results could have been attained if we could have started the large sprayer on the roadside or woodland work at the same time we were spraying apple trees. It was impossible to obtain enough help familiar with the work to run both machines at the same time.

Very little spraying was done on the elm trees as there were not many elm tree beetles or gypsy moths in evidence. At the close of the feeding season of the gypsy moth many larvae were to be seen on the trunks of the maples and elms. Some criticism was made because these were not sprayed at this time or the caterpillars killed by hand. It was of course useless to spray after the caterpillars had finished eating and it is cheaper and more practical to creosote the eggs during the winter than to attempt to destroy them by hand methods in the summer. It may be necessary to spray all the maples and elms the coming season but this can be easily and cheaply done with the sprayer we now have.

With the advice and help of the State this department has been doing some thinning and cleaning up on the side of the roads and in woodland along the roads. Trees that are favored food plants of the moths were cut where possible, those that are moth resistant left. All brush was cut and burned. This is an improvement in the looks of the roads, affords some protection against fire, reduces the cost of spraying, makes the spraying more effective and in some cases it will do away with spraying entirely.

Some trimming of dead limbs, removal of lower limbs and shaping of trees have been done and some dead or dying trees removed. More work of this kind should have been done but with so much work to be done on the moths, the scarcity of help at one time, and the prevalence of bad weather when help could be secured, I was unable to do more and I now have a large balance left in my appropriation.

We received from the State during the year:

- One-half cost of large sprayer, $600.00.
- Four tons arsenate of lead, $520.00.
- Fifty gallons of creosote.
- One 28 ft. ladder.
- One-half dozen axes.
- One dozen bamboo poles with brushes.
- One dozen creosote cans with brushes.
- Two bush scythes.
- One thousand feet large spray hose, $260.00.
- Two hundred feet small spray hose.
- Suction hose.
- Ten gallons cylinder oil.
- Waste, tools and other supplies.

I would recommend that the town appropriate our liability $1,000.00 for moth work and $400 for Tree Warden work.

PUBLIC LIBRARY REPORT.

The Board consists of Stillman J. Spear, chairman, L. K. Conant, Ellery C. Crocker, Dr. F. H. Clough, Waldo A. Fitts and Nellie T. Keyou.

This year, in addition to the usual number of library days, it was deemed advisable to hold one session each week through August. The privilege of using the library during that month seemed to be much appreciated by the patrons.

The following list of periodicals have been on the tables of the Reading Room, and have been ordered for the year 1917:

Atlantic, Ainslie, Banker and Tradesman, Bay View, Century, Dumb Animals, Good Housekeeping, Harper's Monthly, Munsey, Modern Mechanics, National Geographic, Outlook, Popular Electric, Literary Digest, Review of Reviews, Scientific American, Saturday Evening Post, Scribner's, St. Nicholas, Smith's, Technical World, World's Work, Little Folks.

Total number of books in Library	5,377
Total circulation	8,525
Books added in 1916	112

Fewer books have been purchased this year than usual, as the assured and pleasing prospect of a new library building suggests extra expenses attendant upon moving. It will be necessary to recatalogue when expert advise and professional assistance will be required.

We gratefully acknowledge receipt of legacy of $500.00 for the library fund, provided by the will of the late Mr. John M. Richardson.

Secretary.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:

I hereby submit to you the report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year.

As usual I received orders from the Commissioner of Animal Industry to make a complete inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, swine and goats and the premises in which they are kept. During this inspection, I visited fifty-seven stables in which were kept 453 cattle, 428 swine, 4 sheep and 3 goats. Most of these cattle are kept fairly clean and also most of the stables were in fairly good condition, except six stables which I had to report to the Commissioners of Animal Industry. He sent an agent and he tried to make the owners clean up.

On this inspection I found one cow diseased with "Tuberculosis" which I quarantined. She was examined by another agent, found diseased, killed and stable disinfected.

June 13, 1916, a cow was shipped into this town from out of state and after I examined her and she had the proper test papers I released her.

July 26, another cow was quarantined under suspicion of having Tuberculosis; examined, found diseased, killed and her stable disinfected.

September 29, a heifer was quarantined for Tuberculosis; examined, found diseased and killed, she being out to pasture we did not have to disinfect.

September 29, two horses were shipped to this town from Connecticut, and after I examined them and found them all right I released them.

Very truly yours,

GEO. S. CHENEY,
Inspector of Animals.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
SCHOOL COMMITTEE
AND THE

TOWN OF MEDFIELD

For the Year Ending December 31, 1916.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE REPORT

The annual report of the School Committee is hereby presented.

At the annual March meeting Mrs. Susan M. Clark was elected to the board, Richard C. Lincoln retiring.

The Committee organized with Allan A. Kingsbury, Chairman; Susan M. Clark, Secretary.

We were fortunate in being able to keep nearly all of our teaching force, only two changes being necessary by resignations, Miss Ethel C. Lomasney being elected assistant in the High School in Miss Hummiston's place and Miss Josephine B. Buckley in Grade I.

By vote of the Union Committee a change of Superintendents was required and Mr. Albert C. Ames of Danielsonville, Conn., was elected and began his duties Oct. 1, and is very acceptably filling the position. There is a fine feeling of cooperation on the part of Superintendent and teachers. The good work of all the teachers is appreciated by the Committee and should have the esteem of the parents. The Ralph Wheelock building has been greatly improved by the installation of a new boiler, piping, and radiators, new caps have been put on the chimney ventilating shafts to prevent snow and rain entering.

Two flights of stairs have had new treads and one flight to basement changed to make them safer.

New fire extinguishers have been placed on every floor. Electric lights have been installed which helps very much on cloudy days as some rooms and corridors were quite dark at such times, and also assists the teachers in the short days when they have work to finish and prepare for the next day after school hours. The ceilings and walls of several of the rooms have been painted. New wiring for the bells has been put in all over the building. The front vestibules have been enlarged by building on and removing some partitions and making two exit doors in each vestibule instead of one as formerly, which tends to avoid confusion filing in and out and much better in case of fire. The old wooden steps at the front and side entrances have been replaced with cement and iron railings put up, which makes a permanent job.

Both buildings have been painted outside and new outside doors put on the Lowell Mason building. While considerable money has been spent this year we feel that the improvements warrant it. The building is in good shape and should require very little repair for several years. Owing to the increased cost of materials, fuel, etc., the Committee feel compelled to ask for an increase in the appropriation for the coming year.

We therefore recommend an appropriation of $9,600.

Respectfully submitted,

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL'S REPORT.

MR. ALBERT S. AMES, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

Dear Sir:—Our local High School has been undergoing a marked transformation in very recent years, and it seems time for a new definition of its aims, work, and status. Therefore, I herewith present such a definition as my annual report.

The High School of today takes as its broad objective the development of efficient citizenship. It works toward that end along very definite lines.

First, it still believes that mental discipline is a most valuable asset in itself. Each additional year of scholastic training which a student receives means greater intellectual acumen. Intellectual keenness, alertness, means efficiency in any service. Therefore even where vocational training is possible, the High School believes that its business is still fundamentally to train and invigorate the mind. "Improve the man, i.e., make him more efficient intellectually, and he will know how to improve his work and make his labor more productive."

The local High School organization is doing all in its power to keep our young people longer in school. Of the ninety-four pupils graduated from the grammar school during the past three years, three left school later because of actual necessity and against personal desire, seventy-five are now in the local High School, and four others have been transferred to other schools. This represents a shrinkage of a little over fifteen per cent, and relates to the membership of what are now the first three classes of the High School. The class which will be graduated next June includes only eight of its original membership of nineteen. Only one other is studying elsewhere. This shrinkage of nearly fifty per cent was, up to three years ago, the rule. It is to be hoped that the Class of 1917 will be the last small graduating class. The next class will be more than twice as large, and there is every indication that future graduating classes will number twenty or more.

In twenty-five years the total enrollment of High School pupils in the United States has grown from 202,000 (1890) to approximately 1,500,000. Similar gains of membership in the higher institutions of learning are shown. Competition in vocations becomes keener from year to year as a consequence of the ever-increasing number of well trained minds going forth from educational institutions. No young person, ambitious to attain success in any field, can afford to forego the advantage—when available—of additional years of educational training.

The High School, further, is carrying out its mission more effectually as a "preparatory" school. Special and advanced study has been carried on since graduation by twenty-four of the thirty-five graduates of the last four years,—in institutions as follow:

Vocational schools	5
Commercial colleges	2
Normal schools	10
Colleges	5
Professional schools of college grade	2

There are also several non-graduate members of these classes who have entered special schools without further High School training.

Medfield High School sent its first student to college by certificate last September. It will send others next year. These first certified graduates are its "specimen" students, and upon their collegiate record will depend the establishment or withdrawal of the certificate privilege. The privilege of certifying graduates for normal school entrance has been extended to the school during the past several years.

In addition to its efforts in behalf of mental discipline and towards the preparation of students for more special training, the High School has reordered its student organizations and given them new character and purpose; has reorganized its courses; and has revised its class-room method considerably,—with a view to making the High School more a socializing institution. Individuality, personal responsibility, cooperative action, knowledge of community institutions and relations, social and economic sense, physical and moral health,—these are qualities designating good citizenship, and these the High School is bending its energies to realize in its own school community, and to make actual in the lives entrusted to its guiding.

The student organizations are considered important educational and socializing units. The school Executive Council is the "representative" body. Composed of the faculty and officers of the class and athletic organizations, it determines student policies, regulates the number and kind of student activities, allies the school units and interests to the community, and considers the good of the school association.

The Athletic Association became a charter member of the Massachusetts High School Athletic Association, which was organized one year ago under the direction of the High School Masters' Club. The new state-wide organization has unified rules of inter-scholastic competition and clearly defined the relation of athletic interests to the general school life. The socializing values of these interests have thereby been protected and enhanced. Lack of self-control, responsibility to law, consideration of others' rights, dependableness, efficiency in one's chosen vocation, and so on, deprives one of community leadership and withholds from one honors otherwise available. The school community "disqualifies" students from participation in its special interests who are likewise found wanting.

Individual and collective responsibility and action, is represented in class organizations and their interests. All of these bodies are governed according to constitutions which foster the traditions of the school and guarantee the welfare of the school community; and the interests of all are harmonized, and afforded mutual provision, through the Executive Council.

School organization finance requires measures similar to any community organization; drawing of budgets, deposit of funds, auditing of accounts, personal contribution, and management of income-producing enterprises. Executive procedure has the advantage of "advisers." Responsibility to individuals of bodies outside the school has faculty endorsement. Recognition of indebtedness, expressions of gratitude, study of interscholastic comity,—build good citizenship.

Finally it is desirable to explain the revision of curricula and define briefly the newer courses of study. Here again the conception of the High School as a socializing institution has been most influential. The large number now attending High Schools shows that the secondary school is no longer a special fitting school, but the school of the masses, the school of citizenship.

Election of studies is permitted in accordance with individual need. During the year each pupil of the upper grammar grade and High School has conferences with the High School Principal and teachers. On the basis of individual qualifications and interests, courses of study are tentatively outlined or revised for the number of High School years still before the pupil. Special information is supplied according to vocational interests. Pupils names were supplied this year to half a hundred special and advanced educational institutions of such types as pupils expressed an interest in during these conferences, and placed upon the mailing lists of such institutions. Pupils have thus been afforded ample information to guide them in choice of special and higher study.

Again, although courses "required" are few, there are many special requirements for particular curricula. The vagaries of the elective policy are further avoided by such governing specifications as:—"freshmen shall choose either General Science or Community Civics" (both studies of the broadly socializing type); "any language elected under advisement during any of the first three years shall be continued for, at least, two consecutive years"; "all students are expected to elect at least one course in science and one course in history for sophomore, junior, or senior years."

Freshmen formerly were confronted with a formidable list of formal subjects. Now, "General Science" (which deals with the foundation knowledge of formal science as studied from the everyday science of any community) has replaced the earlier course in theoretical and mathematical Physics; "Community Civics" (which studies community topography, history, government, institutions, health, social problems and inter-community relationships) has driven formal history out of the first year; "Introductory Business" (which includes business penmanship, rapid computation drills, business forms, commercial correspondence, and simple personal, farm, and business accounts) prepares the student well for both advanced bookkeeping study and a thriftier and more responsible community life.

Although the earliest years are the more important as regards the socializing influence of the High School, because of larger numbers enrolled and because then the social tendencies begin to become fixed, yet the endeavor has been to "humanize" all courses. "Biology"—studying the vegetable and lower animal species for a fuller interpretation of the human organism, as regards function and hygiene,—has replaced "systematic" structure—analyzing Botany and Zoology. "American History" reviews the presidential administrations for epoch-making acts, and for the principles of the nation's progress in all spheres of life, incorporating the discussion of political science. "Physics" is made "practical"; and "Chemistry," "applied." Modern language courses use readers containing letters, accounts of travels, discussions of current issues in foreign lands,—content which stimulates comparative discussion of national institutions and policies. The "conversational" method prevails in modern language recitations.

The English classroom occasionally takes the character of an open meeting. The minutes of its daily proceedings are kept. It employs current literature, and emphasizes oral composition.

Current literature finds its place also in history and science courses. "Report topics" are frequent in many subjects. Personal inquiries are invited; personal interests are the teachers' cues in assignment of supplementary reference and exercises in English composition; personal views are exchanged.

As emphasized by one of our state agents, speaking this year to a local body, the avocational contribution of the High School is also an important consideration. The High School aims to develop lives whose interests will extend into many fields outside the merely vocational spheres; and to provide interpretive powers, through the study of art, music, and general cultural courses and reference, which will add diversion and profit in leisure hours, and a broader community sympathy.

Thus has the local school joined with the movement to revitalize secondary education, and make it in reality citizenship training. The effecting of the reorganization, and revision of course data, has been largely the task of the teachers of the past three years, and full credit is due them for the patience, scholarship, and extra hours of voluntary labor, given to its evolution. The bureaus of education and other educational agencies, have led the movement and contributed helpfully to its development.

The school could of course do much more with enlarged facilities. Laboratory provision cannot be extended in the present building where it is at a minimum. The present building limitations also prevent the introduction of domestic science and practical arts courses, which, as developed in secondary schools, are made most valuable to future housekeepers and householders. The average householder calls upon tradesmen frequently for labor he ought to be able to supply himself. The practical arts course gives the necessary elementary instruction and the spirit of self-reliance, which the rural home of a generation or two ago afforded. The value of instruction in household economy never was so apparent as in this day. The courses which are most peculiarly those of the community school, are unfortunately the last to be provided for.

In conclusion, the local High School looks forward, too, to that day when its socializing efficiency will be much increased by the advantages of its own gymnasium (where constructive exercise and within-the-school competition, for all students, may become the chief objective of athletic training), and its own auditorium (wherein may center the co-operative activity of the school).

RALPH W. TAYLOR,
Principal.

MR. ALBERT S. AMES, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

I herewith submit my seventh report of the work in drawing in the Medfield Public schools.

The plan of work in the grades, including Representative Drawing, Mechanical Drawing, Design, and Color study continues the same as the plans of previous years. At various times changes are made in the methods of presenting the subjects so that the children may receive the most interesting and helpful instruction.

In the High School there are two classes: the freshmen, and an advanced class. Each class works forty minutes a week which is a short time and necessitates a limited course. The subjects taken in the freshman year are Representative Drawing with pencil, Mechanical Drawing, and a brief study of House Planning and Decorating. The work in the advanced class consists of Representative Drawing in color, Design, and a study of Architecture or Master painters and their Pictures.

A great deal of the work depends on the grade teachers and I am very grateful to them for their interest and help.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN,
Supervisor of Drawing.

MR. ALBERT S. AMES, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS:

During the past year the same general plan of work has been followed throughout the grades, with good results.

We are striving to overcome the old idea that music is a cultural subject alone. When presented and studied in the right way, we find it has as great an educational and intellectual force as any other subject.

Nearly every subject studied in the grades,—reading, writing, drawing, spelling, arithmetic, history and geography are more or less used in the study of music, and it demands as much concentration and mental alertness, as other subjects. With very few exceptions, we find any normal boy or girl in the schools who is doing average work, doing good average music work.

Good results in music depend largely upon the co-operation of the teachers in their daily work with the pupils, and I wish to extend to them my appreciation of their efforts.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIEBELLE E. THAYER,
Superintendent of Music.

With our high school days now over

 The dark blue and the gold,
 Cheering for dear old Medfield High School.

Chorus:

 Discouragement never; hurrah and hurrah,
 For our motto e'er will cheer us,
 We sing it once again;
 "Work Conquers Everything" forever.

We will take our chosen places

 Praising our dear old Alma Mater;
 We will keep our standards high,
 Like the standards of our school,
 In reverence for dear old Medfield High School.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen :

I hereby submit to you the report of my work as Inspector of Animals for the past year. In February as usual I received orders from the Commissioner of Animal Industry to make my annual report of all neat cattle, sheep, swine and goats in town and the premises where animals are kept. During this Inspection, I visited seventy-six stables, in which were kept 438 cattle, 436 swine, 1 sheep and 1 goat.

On this Inspection I found one cow under suspicion of having Tuberculosis, which I quarantined ; she was examined by an agent of the Department and was released.

June 21, I quarantined this cow again and another agent examined her, found her diseased, killed her and had stable disinfected.

May 21, a horse was quarantined under suspicion of having Glanders, examined by an agent but was released.

June 16, a cow was quarantined as being affected with Tuberculosis, examined by an agent of Department, found diseased, killed and stable disinfected.

Oct. 18, at request of owner, the horse that was quarantined May 21, was again placed in quarantine, examined by an agent and was again released.

Dec. 16, another cow was quarantined for being Tuberculous, examined by an agent, found diseased, killed and stable disinfected.

June, two horses arrived from out of state and after I examined them and they seemed all right, I released them.

September, two more horses arrived from New York state, and after examination and found all right, were released.

November, two other horses arrived from Connecticut, and like the others were examined and released.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. S. CHENEY.

Inspector of Animals.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF PROVISIONS.

Honorable Board of Selectmen:

Gentlemen:—

I have inspected, during the past year, 252 Hogs and 5 Beef—and have condemned 3 hogs having tuberculosis. I have made several inspections of markets and found same to be in excellent condition.

Respectfully submitted,

Owing to the fact that the ending of our financial year does not correspond with the dividend paying dates of the banks, it is impossible to give the exact amount of interest due at the time of making this report. This will adjust itself from year to year but there will always be a fraction of six months' interest remaining in the banks at the time of making the Annual report.

Some of these funds, deposited during the past year have not earned the full year's interest, and one deposit of $300.00 was received too late to be entitled to any interest for the time covered by this report.

REPORT OF MOTH SUPERINTENDENT AND TREE WARDEN.

To the Board of Selectmen:

I hereby submit to you my annual report of the work of the Moth and Tree Warden departments.

The work of both departments has been carried on in the usual manner. The work for the coming year will require about the same appropriation. As the mowing of bushes along the highways has been transferred from the street department to the tree warden department there is need of increasing that appropriation. I would recommend that the town appropriate $1,000.00 for the moth department and $500.00 for the tree warden department.

The engineers wish to state that it will be necessary to purchase new hose the ensuing year and recommend that the sum of $400 be appropriated for that purpose. We would also suggest that some action be taken in relation to motorizing the apparatus of the department. Our Hook & Ladder truck is too light to carry the men and equipment now required and unless some plan is devised whereby the load of the truck can be reduced, we shall be obliged to have a heavier one. We recommend that the sum of $1400 be appropriated to meet the expenses of the ensuing year, in addition to the sum asked for new hose.

LIBRARY REPORT FOR 1917.

To the Board of Selectmen the following report is respectfully submitted:

The Board of Trustees consists of Stillman J. Spear, chairman, Lewis K. Conant, Waldo A. Fitts, Ellery C. Crocker, Dr. F. H. Clough and Nellie T. Keyou.

The library has been kept open as usual with the exception of two weeks when it was closed for the purpose of moving. In August, as last year, it was open for one session each week, Miss Frances Newell substituting as librarian.

The splendid new Memorial Public Library building, the generous gift to the town, by Mr. Granville F. Dailey of New York, in memory of his wife and daughter, was dedicated by appropriate exercises in Cheney Hall on July 25th, after which the public were invited to inspect the building. As it was not completed in every detail for several weeks after its dedication, the transfer of books did not begin until the latter part of September. While the books were in more or less disorder, they were temporarily arranged so that the new library opened its doors to the public on October 10.

At the present time the library is undergoing the process of recataloguing and it is expected that the work will be completed by March 1st.

All books are being examined, discarded if worthless, repaired if necessary, carefully classified, most conveniently arranged, and a modern charging system installed.

We have been most fortunate in securing for this work the services of Miss Wiggin from the State Free Public Library Commission, who is an expert on all library matters, with the assistance of Miss Ethel Wood, volunteer helpers from the High School, and others who are doing most satisfactory work, and to whom we are very grateful.

This work is being done at considerable expense, although the state pays a portion of Miss Wiggin's expenses and furnishes supplies necessary for the work.

When the cataloguing is finished and the library in order, the trustees hope that the finances will warrant keeping open some part of every day.

Few books have been added during the past year as it seemed inadvisable under the unsettled conditions to purchase more books until they could be catalogued with the others. A list is now being prepared and new books will soon be upon the shelves.

As many books are being discarded, it is impossible to give the total number in the library at the present time. The circulation for 1917 was 4327.

Ordered for the year 1918 are the following periodicals:

Atlantic, Ainsley, American Boy, Banker and Tradesman, Bay View, Century, Dumb Animals, Good Housekeeping, Harper's Monthly, Munsey, Modern Mechanics, National Geographic, Outlook, Popular Electric, Literary Digest, Review of Reviews, Scientific American, Saturday Evening Post, Scribner's, St. Nicholas, Smith's, Technical World, World's Work, Little Folks and Dedham Transcript.

We gratefully acknowledge a bequest of $1000.00 from the estate of Mr. Willard Harwood.

Thanks are due Mr. Bracey Curtis for the book, "Arizona the Wonderland," which has recently been received. During the Million Dollar Campaign in September $78.00 was raised by subscription for the War Camp Libraries.

For the trustees,

NELLIE T. KEYOU,

Secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT
of the
SCHOOL COMMITTEE
and the

TOWN OF MEDFIELD

For the Year Ending December 31, 1917

SCHOOL COMMITTEE REPORT.

The annual report of the School Committee is hereby presented.

At the annual March meeting Allan A. Kingsbury was re-elected to the board and the organization is unchanged.

At the April meeting of the Union Committee, Mr. Albert S. Ames was elected superintendent of the district for the term of three years.

There have been many changes in the teaching staff; Misses Cameron, Vaile, Delano, Gray, Taft, and Goodwin resigned in the Summer and their positions were filled by Misses Barr, Howe, Higgins, Woodman, Carbrey, and Clark. There have been two changes since September—Mrs. Goodwin taking the grades of Miss Woodman and Miss Lawson those of Miss Carbrey. Many towns do not engage a teacher without one or two years of experience, while we do employ them directly from college or Normal school. The fact that nearly all our teachers leave to accept a position carrying a larger salary proves that we secure young women of promise and we have the benefit of their first enthusiastic work.

In April, an evening session was held in the Ralph Wheelock building that parents and friends might see our children at work. The crowd that attended, including visitors from another town, proved its success. The work displayed was exceedingly creditable to our young folks and to the teachers who directed it. The oral work from that in Grade 1 to the debate in the High school was carefully observed. At its close, Mr. Ames was introduced and he gave a talk that was appreciated.

In the Spring term, Miss Gwendoline Morse gave her time and service to the children and their busy teachers, and not only this, but a gift of money to be spent for the grades. Our thanks are due to her and to the Hannah Adams' Club, for its prize, again, of a gold piece to encourage written English, and for a set of Audubon Bird Charts.

A petition has been received, signed by many of the residents of the North part of the town, asking for transportation of pupils. After careful consideration we find the expense, with our present appropriation, prohibitive. As Harding is becoming the center of the North district, it might be cheaper, in the long run, to move the Lowell Mason school to that location, rather than to transport the children. In view of uncertain outside resources and increasing costs, the committee asks for the same appropriation as that of last year, $9,600.

In these disturbed days, we hear often that the morale of our soldier boys is fine. We urge our boys and girls in school to earn the same high praise. We ask them to do their bit by maintaining unflinching courtesy, by remembering that "Obedience to Law is Liberty" and that majority rules, and by acquiring those habits of industry and thrift that will make them the workers and not the slackers of the future.

We are grateful to all for their interest in our schools, and to our Superintendent, to our Principal, and to our Teachers for their fine example and faithful work.

Respectfully submitted,

ALLEN A. KINGSBURY,
TIMOTHY F. KENNEDY,
SUSAN M. CLARK.

Mr. Albert S. Ames, Superintendent of Schools:

While there has been no material modification of high school courses this year, the building-up of individual subjects receives constant consideration. Weekly periods for composition conference have been arranged for the advanced English classes without sacrifice of time given to other divisions of the subject. The value of the work in United States History and Civics has been much increased by the introduction of a series of advanced lessons in Community Life, which emphasize social and economic development, resulting modern institutions, the necessary disturbance and conversion of the latter and peculiar obligations of individuals and communities during the period of war. Current events are as closely correlated as possible with general subject-matter. A large class in Chemistry has necessitated three laboratory divisions. The introduction of a new set of experiments in "The Chemistry of Common Things" has provided more practical experimentation with less dependence upon the rarer chemical substances now almost unobtainable because of war conditions.

Commercial courses are receiving special advantage in business practice. The Stock Room is managed by the class in Bookkeeping A. Under the supervision of the teacher inventories have been drawn up, orders filled upon requisition, invoices checked, adjustments made with the supply houses, and stock ordered. Applied patriotism also has entered into the large amount of extra time given by commercial students and others in taking dictated matter, type-writing letters, reports, card records, etc., duplicating, and organizing a variety of matter. Various war-service committees and special agencies have thus been assisted. The Commercial department is now responding to an invitation from the Library Trustees to assist in preparing the new card file. Special work has occasionally been done for the Hannah Adams Club and other social organizations. Such work, as a supplement to the drill-work of the advanced pupils, is valuable practice.

The High School and Grades are purchasing a high-grade Bausch and Lomb stereopticon lantern and a set of six hundred stereographs, for school use. About one-half the total cost of the equipment has already been raised. The outfit is a most valuable supplement to the teaching material of all grades. The lantern has been loaned to the town and operated by responsible students, for illustrated war lectures.

During the fall the Worcester Polytechnic Institute has extended to the school the privilege of certifying qualified graduates for entrance. The Institute is not represented by the New England College Entrance Certificate Board which has granted the certificate privilege to the school for the past two years.

Of the class of 1917, six members are continuing their studies: two at Boston University, one each at Jackson College, The New England Conservatory of Music, The Allen School for Girls; one, by correspondence, in The Federal School of Commercial Designing (Minneapolis). Two other recent graduates were entered at Bates College and Worcester Polytechnic Institute respectively.

The High School is proud of the number and record of its former members who are enlisted in the service of the United States. From the highest sense of patriotism it advises its present students, and its graduates now enrolled in higher institutions or contemplating entrance to the same, to continue their courses of study until their Government calls them into military service or their courses are completed. The Government urges this attitude for it realizes that the near future will need the more highly trained mind, even more than the present. The call, then, is for our youth to prepare itself for the largest possible service to the country and to mankind.

Whole-hearted patriotism is abundantly evidenced throughout the school and in its varied interests. The young people have realized the importance of their junior citizenship through the many calls which the Government and Town have made upon them for special service. Their response has been admirable. Public exercises and entertainments have been predominantly patriotic in nature. High school assemblies have kept before the older students the trend of events, the significance of the United States in the world program, the seriousness of the responsibilities they will be called upon shortly to assume, the welfare of former associates now in the service, and so on,—while providing as well periods of patriotic song and expression.

Respectfully submitted,

RALPH W. TAYLOR.

Mr. Albert S. Ames, Superintendent of Schools:

During the past five years the Weaver System has been employed in our schools with satisfactory results. Many of the boys and girls are doing good work in music, and others show marked improvement from year to year.

One of the most noticeable results of the use of our system is the increased ability for sight reading, especially in the upper grades and in the High School.

If music is introduced into the schools as a special subject, simply for the purpose of publishing the fact that a school is up-to-date and progressive in its methods, it is bound to have unsatisfactory results on the work in general. The subject of music is gradually being recognized as an essential subject, a training in which is necessary to the proper development of every girl or boy. The ability to sing and understand good music is a source of pleasure, and gives to life a means of recreation. The influence of good music is always refining and elevating.

To quote Phillips Brooks, "A School song in the heart of a child, will do as much for his character, as a fact in his memory, or a principle in his intellect."

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIEBELLE E. THAYER,

Supervisor of Music.

Mr. Albert S. Ames, Superintendent of Schools:

During the past year the same course in drawing has been carried on throughout the grades. A constant endeavor is made to train boys and girls to use their eyes, hands, and minds quickly through plan drawing, object drawing and design.

The High School freshmen are following a course similar to the one of last year. Owing to limited time, the plan of work in the advanced class is arranged for alternate years. The design work this year has included various problems in book-binding.

The teachers have been active in promoting the work and I feel that it is progressing favorably.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLEN.

Medfield, Mass.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

To the School Committee of Medfield:

There have been eight changes out of ten teaching positions in the schools of Medfield since June 22, 1917. This condition is not confined to Medfield. Teachers are continually being drawn from smaller communities to more attractive positions in the larger towns and cities throughout the state.

These changes, however, emphasize the necessity of careful attention to the problems of school organization and management. Courses of study, reports, suggestions should all tend to make the administration of the schools as simple and effective as possible.

The State Course of Study for Elementary Schools is a most valuable outline. This course, however, is arranged for six grades only. The outline of work for grades seven and eight must be derived from other sources. Some cities and towns have organized the seventh and eighth grades as a Junior High School. This plan allows pupils in these grades to elect certain advanced studies making the High School course practically six years. Since it confines the work of the elementary school to a period of six years, it necessitates a more intensive course each year, as well as some departmental teaching in the two years of the Junior High School. To maintain efficiency under these conditions calls for experienced and skillful teachers.

It is noticeable that the Junior High School organization is represented mainly in the larger cities and towns having greater facilities for investigating educational problems. We may not infer that cities and towns where this system does not obtain are non-progressive. Many intelligent parents prefer for their children eight years in the Grammar School with a diploma, and four years in the High School to the so-called "Six and Six" plan.

In connection with the work indicated by the course of study each teacher in the elementary schools has prepared a brief monthly statement of points emphasized in the four major subjects, Language, Arithmetic, History and Geography. This constitutes part of a "Monthly Progress Report"—indicating conditions in the schools. Sets of papers have also been prepared by the pupils each month illustrative of the work in the different studies.

Formal examinations to determine a pupil's fitness for promotion have undoubtedly been misused in many elementary schools. Proper tests, however, may indicate that points in teaching need to be emphasized, and may also show in some degree progress and attainments. Examinations at mid-year are to be given to all pupils from the fourth through the eighth grade in Language, Arithmetic, History and Geography. An average of 85% in daily work and mid-year examinations releases a pupil from a final examination.

The chief object of the public schools is to fit boys and girls for better living and better citizenship. Language, writing and arithmetic are fundamentals which must be carefully taught and emphasized throughout as the tools for all further acquisition of knowledge. Manual training and proper physical exercise are also fundamental parts of a true education. A careful course in manual and physical training is most desirable for all schools. Much of the work in Drawing is valuable manual training and may be emphasized as such. Simple gymnastic exercises, singing, and correct positions in standing and sitting all offer opportunities for physical culture.

The burden of school work falls directly upon the teacher. Courses of study, conventions, teachers' meetings and school visitation may inspire but the teacher must do the work. The greatest help teachers can receive is the sympathy and support of parents and school authorities.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT S. AMES,
Superintendent.

High School Chorus

All together,
 Loyal ever,
 Toil we with a will.
 Firm endeavor, now and ever,
 Our motto to fulfill.
 Youth is fleeing,
 Always seeing
 The school our guardian still.
 Glad our hearts, our voices gay,
 To her we tribute pay.

Chorus:

Give three cheers for Medfield High,
 And now three cheers for seventeen,
 Cheer our colors, gold and green,
 The best that e'er were seen.
 Guiding motto "Labor Omnia vincet"
 Lead us forth to win the day!
 And keep us true to dear old Medfield High
 And the Class of Seventeen.

Hope and sadness,
 Pain and gladness,
 Await us as we go,
 Striving onward, ever fearless,
 Shall we defeat the foe.
 True and faithful,
 Always grateful,
 Our praises we bestow,
 Glad our hearts, our voices gay,
 To her we tribute pay.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:

I hereby submit to you the work as Inspector of Animals for the past year. In January I received orders from the Commissioner of Animal Industry to make my annual inspection of all neat cattle, sheep, swine and goats and the premises where animals are kept. On this inspection I visited 64 stables in which were kept 416 cattle, 298 swine, 1 sheep and 2 goats.

On this inspection I found no diseased cattle and most stables in very good condition, five or six stables are not kept quite satisfactorily but on account of the war and the state being short of help we did not make a second visit to try and make owners clean up. I have not had to quarantine any cattle the past year.

GEO. S. CHENEY,
Inspector of Animals.

Medfield, Mass., Dec. 31, 1918.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF PROVISIONS.

Honorable Board of Selectmen:

Gentlemen:—

I have inspected during the past year, 267 Hogs and 39 Cattle—and have condemned 4 cattle. I have made frequent inspections of the Provisions in the markets and stores of this Town and have found things in good condition.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH W. CURTIS,

REPORT OF CEMETERY COMMISSIONERS, 1918.

Our work in the Cemetery the past year has been confined to general maintenance, leaving improvements for the future, and hoping to be able to make a beginning in this line the coming year.

Such improvements consist of laying out a section of the new grounds, building additional fence, numbering the lots and single graves with cement markers, and revising the plans somewhat of the old part of the cemetery, besides our regular work.

In consideration of this work we would recommend for the ensuing year an appropriation of $800, and the funds received from the sale of lots.

The Engineers feel that the time has arrived to motorize the apparatus of the department, if we expect to get efficient work from it, as it is almost impossible to get horses for this work. We have only one pair that we can depend upon at the present time.

We have been over the Town and located the available water supply and charted it, and with Motor Apparatus, including a good chemical, we feel that we can give the property owners very much better protection than we can with the present equipment. We are looking up different motor apparatus and will have facts and figures to present at the annual meeting, and we trust the voters will make a special appropriation sufficient to put the department in good working condition. We recommend the sum of $2,000.00 as the regular appropriation for the year 1919.

PUBLIC LIBRARY REPORT.

To the Board of Selectmen the annual report of the Public Library is hereby presented.

At the annual town meeting Mr. Spear and Mr. Crocker were re-elected and the organization of the board remains as last year.

Cataloging continued from January 2 until early in March, when Miss Wiggin from the State Library Commission completed her work. During the period of classification the circulation of books was necessarily limited, but the patrons were served as well as possible considering the unsettled conditions, and the library was kept open the regular hours. Since April 22, the hours have been from 4 to 9 o'clock every working day, except through August when the hours were from 6 to 9 o'clock; and during the influenza epidemic, when the building was closed by order of the Board of Health.

The trustees feel that they are fortunate in having secured for assistant librarian Miss Ethel Wood, whose duties began on March 23.

There have been purchased during the year a war map and ninety-four new books, consisting of fiction, thirty; non-fiction, thirty-three, including thirteen war books; juvenile fiction, fifteen; and non-fiction, sixteen. This also includes several reference books obtained from the State Library Commission in exchange for the old filing cases. Donations have also been received from different sources, which are valuable additions. Thanks are due Mr. Granville F. Dailey for "Beacon Lights of History" in fifteen volumes, Mrs. E. V. Mitchell, Mr. Benjamin Kimball and Dr. H. L. Morse for large miscellaneous collections, Mr. W. H. Garfield for "A Photographic History of the Civil War" in ten volumes.

Among the books presented were a set of messages of the Presidents, twelve volumes, which have been given to the High School as there are two other sets in the library.

Four lectures on the Use of the Library were given before the High School and the eighth grade by Miss Wiggin in mid-winter at the schoolhouse. The same course is again being given by her this year in the library.

Books received from various sources for the War Camp Libraries have been forwarded.

Total circulation for the year, 3,421.

Periodicals subscribed for are: Atlantic, Ainslie, American City, American Boy, Banker and Tradesman, Century, Good Housekeeping, Harper's Monthly, Munsey, National Geographic, Illustrated World, Little Folks, Literary Digest, Outlook, Popular Science, Popular Mechanics, Smiths, Scientific American, Scribner's, Saturday Evening Post, Review of Reviews, St. Nicholas, World's Work, and Dedham Transcript.

A careful study of the cost of maintaining the library has been made, and the present income and appropriation for last year is found to be insufficient for the up-keep of the building, librarians' and janitor's salaries, and to meet the constant demand for up-to-date books. Therefore the trustees would recommend an appropriation of $950.00 to meet the necessary expenses.

Respectfully submitted.

NELLIE T. KEYOU, Secretary.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE REPORT

The annual report of the School Committee is hereby presented.

At the annual March meeting, Mr. T. W. Kennedy was re-elected to the Board for three years and the organization remains the same.

In the school year of 1918 there have been changes in the teaching staff as follows: Mr. Ralph W. Taylor resigned in June to accept a position in Boston University and Mr. C. Harold Risley was elected principal of the High School; Miss Lomasney became a teacher in the Ware High, and Miss Elizabeth Falvey takes her place; Miss Howe went to Manchester, and Miss Margaret Kanally is now in charge of the commercial department; Miss Houston, who succeeded Miss Higgins was advanced to a post in the Newton High, and her department is filled by Miss Evelyn M. Hussey. Miss Barr was the only one of the teachers of the High who returned after the summer vacation. In the grades, Miss Isabel Sullivan took the 7th and 8th following Mrs. Goodwin who was made a principal in Conn., in April; Miss Mary E. Park has the 5th and 6th as Miss Lawson, her predecessor is now placed in Natick; Miss Lanfair preferred a grade in Greenfield to a district school and so Miss Margaret Fealy has the Lowell Mason. Miss Buckley and Miss Clark continue in grades I and II, III and IV and we have been able to retain for some years, our special teachers, Miss Thayer and Miss Allan.

Changes during the year are disturbing and we suffer in this respect as do other towns. In one that has 17 teaching positions there have been 27 changes.

Our teachers who left us for other positions secured the higher salaries that the larger towns seem able to pay. The moderator of Saugus is presenting a bill to the Legislature asking the State to furnish the funds to run the schools of his town and others, perhaps, and so remedy the loss of good teachers in small towns.

The Committee wish to go on record as of the opinion that a satisfactory teacher of our schools through honor, should remain one year; that it is a commercial advantage to stay two years, and a greater one yet to stay three, which gives tenure of office.

Our schools have suffered a large loss of time by the prevalence of Spanish influenza.

The only course left to the pupils is to work with all possible diligence and to maintain a well nigh perfect attendance. We urge the parents to bear this in mind and we hope that in this way the usual promotions may be attained.

The town at the annual meeting, voted for the support of the schools, the sum of $9,500 and the unexpended balance of $513.71. The town records do not seem to agree with this vote. The total revenue amounted to $11,030.31. The total expenditure was $11,605.06, making a deficit of $574.75.

The coming year promises no reduction in the price of salaries, supplies, or labor. Therefore, the Committee asks for an appropriation of $12,000. We hope that this sum with the money from other sources, including the State Distribution due in March will cover the expenses of education and make some needed repairs.

As always, we thank the townspeople for their generous support of the schools, and the teachers who unselfishly devote their service.

Respectfully submitted,

ALLAN A. KINGSBURY,
TIMOTHY F. KENNEDY,
SUSAN M. CLARK.

Mr. Albert S. Ames,

Superintendent of Schools,

In submitting my seventh annual report of the work in music in the schools, I wish merely to say, that the same general plan of work is being followed from year to year, and I feel that the work is progressing favorably, through the active co-operation of the teachers.

The work for the fall term has been somewhat retarded on account of the enforced vacation, but we hope, through greater endeavor, to carry out our usual plan of work, and to accomplish the usual results, in spite of unfavorable conditions.

Respectfully submitted,

CARRIEBELLE E. THAYER.

Medfield, Mass.,

January 8, 1919.

To Mr. A. Ames,

Superintendent of Schools:

In viewing the drawing work of the past year I believe the work in the grades is progressing as well as can be expected. The various interruptions owing to the changes of teachers, and enforced vacations due to illness, have not allowed time for the necessary drill which produces successful work.

In the High School there is an increasing demand for mechanical drawing for boys intending to take up technical work. Yet time cannot be spared from the pupils who take advanced freehand drawing as they are usually girls who expect to go to Normal schools. At present all the pupils beyond the Freshman year work together in one period. Sometimes the class is not large, but as various grades of work must continue at the same time, sufficient instruction cannot be given and good work cannot be obtained. I hope arrangements can be made for at least two separate advanced classes in the High school.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To The School Committee of Medfield:

Good, Constructive work has been done in the schools during the past year. In spite of lost time and interruptions, due to coal shortage, epidemic disease and withdrawals of a few pupils to work, school interest has been maintained. State and national authorities, during this war period, have emphasized the value of popular education and the necessity of maintaining high standards. The people in general have responded by voting more money for the support of the schools, paying teachers better salaries and demanding satisfactory results. In a republic like ours there is no other way. Schools, like any other institution must either go backward or forward.

The establishment by the state of a minimum salary of $550 per year for public school teachers has done much to advance and strengthen the profession. The minimum salary law and the retirement fund, or pension system, indicate the desire of the people to secure and maintain good schools.

During the past year the State Board of Education has issued various pamphlets and detailed courses of study containing important helps and suggestion for all grades. These are some of the general reasons why high educational standards have been maintained.

The support of the public and of school authorities emphasizes the necessity for careful, well-trained teachers. The teacher is the strong factor in the educational system. It is because of the character of the teaching corps that good, constructive work has been done.

To quicken in pupils a sense of their own power for good, and to stimulate in the immediate public an interest in school work are all important duties of the teacher.

Report cards, school exhibitions, interviews with parents are all helpful in maintaining public interest in education. Preparation by the pupils of monthly papers illustrating the work in the various subjects has proved a valuable device. Children like to know that others besides their schoolmates are interested in what they are doing.

Early in the year each teacher in the grades was given the following outline of subjects to be prepared by the pupils each month:

September—Writing
 October—Arithmetic
 November—Language
 December—Geography
 January—History

This outline is repeated during the last five months of the school year with noticeable improvement. These sets of papers shown to different classes, committees and visitors have a decided influence in bringing forth what is best in the pupils.

Careful effort on the part of the children in every study should be one result of school training. While character building is the primary object of education, the development of character depends to a great extent upon the manner in which work is done. Emphasis placed upon Language, Writing and Arithmetic does not mean that Physiology, Drawing, Music or any school activity shall be neglected. Language, Writing and Arithmetic are of first importance because they are the fundamentals necessary for further acquisition of knowledge.

Special efforts have been made throughout the schools to improve the work in Writing, and Geography. A careless, scrawling handwriting is a poor recommendation for a graduate of the public schools. Good control of muscular movement producing neat, legible writing is no small part of an elementary education. Geography is a subject of very practical value in all grades. It touches the life of the children in many ways. Stories of travel and adventure, collections of pictures, descriptions of persons, animals and places are all parts of the work in Geography helping to interest and broaden the mind.

One feature of school work which has the approval of many of the best educators is the departmental system in the upper grammar grades. There are various advantages to be derived from this system when properly carried out. It serves as an introduction to High School work. It enables teachers with special aptitude for a particular subject to inspire pupils with greater interest in their studies. It broadens the pupils and teachers. The tendency of education is undoubtedly toward a definite amount of departmental work.

The pupils throughout the schools deserve commendations for patriotic zeal in contributing to various war funds. Even the little children in the primary grades have been enthusiastic in saving pennies to help the cause.

The descendants of various races have shown that they are all good Americans who love and serve their country.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT S. AMES.

Joyful be Commencement Day.
Swiftly thoughts do backward fly
O'er bright days in Medfield High.

Chorus

Happy school days, happy school days
Thy mem'ry'll cling where'er we go
And ever we shall strive to be Loyal to our dear motto.
And for our colors black and gold
A constant pride we e'er will hold.

2 Work together now has ceased,
Pressing onward evermore
We will waver not the least
From the tasks we see before;
Treading paths as yet unseen,
We'll be true to dear "Eighteen."

Respectfully submitted,

SUSAN M. CLARK,
Clerk of Committee.

The Town Clerk's record of the annual March meeting, shows the appropriation for Schools to be $9,000.00 together with the unexpended balance from 1917 of $513.71, and not $9,500.00 and unexpended balance as appearing in this report. This makes the appropriation exceeded $1,074.75. This amount will have to stand for the reason the Assessors used $9,000.00 in making up the tax levy. The larger part of the excess is accounted for by the loss of about $800.00 interest on State School Fund which has been paid the Town in December of each year, but owing to a change in the State Accounting, will not be available in the future until March. With the exception above noted, the financial report of the Schools is correct.

Accountant.

REPORT OF ENGINEERSRecord of Fires for the Year 1919

January 19. Alarm for fire at Geo. Mills, Miller St. Two Story hen house. Loss $400.

February 12. Alarm at 12 a. m. Grass fire at Pederzinnis.

June 13. Alarm for fire at barn owned by Wm. Ryan, Adams St. Damage small.

June 16. Alarm for wood fire back of Longacre Farm. Two small buildings burned and about 100 acres of second growth wood and sprout and swamp.

August 26. Alarm for house owned by Levi Taylor at Medfield Junction. Damage $4500.

October 15. Alarm for chimney fire at 33 Frairy Street. No damage.

November 21. Alarm for grass fire between Medfield junction and Farm St. on Railroad land. No damage.

19 still alarms for grass and chimney fires.

At a special meeting $5500 was voted to purchase motor apparatus. After testing out several makes of trucks we decided to purchase two Republic chassis. A one ton we had equipped by the O. J. Childs Co., at Utica, N. Y., with two 35 gallon chemical tanks, ladders, extinguishers, etc., a 1½ ton chassis we had equipped in Town by Albert A. Dean, with steel body for hose, brackets for ladders, etc. Both pieces we had painted in Town by Fred M. Smith. The fire August 26, at Medfield Junction was the first alarm the chemical responded to and was on the job inside of 8 minutes after the alarm struck. Unfortunately the hose truck was not in commission at this time. We are satisfied that we have two good pieces of motor apparatus. If we had an auto pumping engine to go with these we would be as well equipped as any town around us. We would strongly recommend the purchase of an auto pump this year. We were obliged to pay out over $225.00 in repairs on the old pump this year much against our judgement, in order to keep it going until we can get something better. We should have 500 feet more hose. We recommend $1200 as the regular appropriation this year if we get the new pump. If we keep the old one with liability of expense of repairs we shall feel obliged to ask for $1800.

PUBLIC LIBRARY REPORT

To the Board of Selectmen the following report is respectfully submitted.

The organization of the Board of Trustees remains as last year. Mr. James Atherton being the new member and Mrs. Keyou having been re-elected.

There have been 61 books presented, and 92 purchased, making a total of 153 books added during the year. Of this number 121 are fiction and 62 juvenile. For the donations we are indebted to Mrs. Frank Day and Mrs. Laura H. Smith for the greater number, and to Miss Gwendolyn Morse, Mr. Geo. H. Ellis, Mr. W. H. Everett and Mr. Geo. Boose for others.

Most of these books had been used but were in good condition when received and are much appreciated.

We are also indebted to Mr. Granville Dailey for the brass door-plates and the door mat.

The list of periodicals subscribed for are the same as last year except The Ladies Home Journal has been added and American City omitted.

The circulation for the year is 8,103.

The resignation of Miss Lucretia Johnson as librarian took effect January first, after a period of about thirty-five years of faithful and devoted service. In recognition of her untiring efforts in the interest of the library, the honor of Librarian Emeritus has been conferred upon her and we will continue to have her advice in matters pertaining to the welfare of the library.

Miss Ethel Wood has been appointed librarian and Miss Gladys Wright has been engaged as assistant, while Mrs. G. F. Mitchell will continue to act as substitute.

During the winter Miss Wiggin from the State Library Commission gave four lectures to the pupils of the High School and 8th Grade, on the use of the library. Owing to the increased expense of maintaining the library, the trustees recommend that the town appropriate the sum of $1,200.00 in addition to the regular resources.

NELLIE T. KEYOU,

Secretary.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The School Committee present their annual report. At the annual March meeting Mrs. Susan M. Clark was re-elected for three years and the organization remains the same. The few changes in the corps of teachers is noted in the Teachers' Directory of Dec. 31, 1919.

The annual prize of the Hannah Adams Club for excellence in English was received by Florence Wright, and a second prize of a gold piece given by Dr. Henry Lee Morse was awarded to Katherine Griffin. In June, Mr. Charles Mason, Bursar of Harvard College, presented to our School an excellent piano which adds greatly to the equipment.

We acknowledge these gifts with appreciation. The matter closing the Lowell Mason School and transporting the children to the Ralph Wheelock School is one which should be brought before the town for decision.

A circular letter from Payson Smith, Commissioner of Education advises that the expenditure for schools be arranged regardless of assistance from the State which may or may not be granted. It would seem that the salaries of the teachers in the four towns of this district should be nearly uniform and on a par with other towns as prosperous as ours. So, in making up the budget for 1920, your Committee ask for a flat appropriation of $17,000.00.

Respectfully submitted,

ALLAN A. KINGSBURY,
TIMOTHY F. KENNEDY,

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Committee of Medfield:

PERMANENT TEACHERS

Efficient, permanent teachers make good schools. A permanent teacher may be defined as one who considers teaching a profession not a stepping stone to something else, and who remains one complete year or more in a posiiton. During the past year the normal schools of Massachusetts have lost approximately one thousand students. This decrease must inevitably tend to lower the standard of public instruction. The state and the nation are striving in various ways to increase the number of permanent teachers. Progressive towns and cities have followed the example of state and national government. Increased appropriations have been necessary in order to insure proper educational results. Good teachers and good schools are the surest safeguards for the welfare of the state.

PRACTICAL INSTRUCTION

The wise teacher works for something more than school room discipline, and lessons in books. Habits of obedience must be formed and books must be used, but only as a means to an end. The aim of school training should be control of body and mind and the formation of proper ideals of character. The pupil must be led to adjust himself to the times and environment in which he is placed.

Practical instruction simply means instruction put into practice. The strain of modern life demands sound, strong bodies; hence, the necessity for emphasizing physical training. Penmanship does not properly consist of exercises and flourishes; it must be made an easy means of expression for daily use. Arithmetic should give but little time to solving mathematical puzzles, and much practice to the fundamental operations as applied to ordinary problems. The study of English tho demanding a special, definite period, should not be confined to that period. History and Geography should take special note of present events and near-by places.

At the beginning of the school year each teacher, in the grades, was given the following outline:

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Physical Training:

Regular Exercises.

Correct Standing and Sitting.

Writing:

Muscular movement.

Forms of letters.

English:

Drill on Oral and Written Expression.

Drill on Correct Forms.

Arithmetic:

Drill on Addition, subtraction, multiplication, division; Applications.

Suggestions:

Visiting Schools.

Exchanging work and rooms.

Required:

Monthly papers on some subject according to outline.

These topics are suggestive of work to be emphasized during the year. Physical training, Writing, English, and Arithmetic do not constitute the entire school curriculum, but are of fundamental importance. They are the foundation of practical instruction needing constant and careful attention.

INDIVIDUAL PUPILS

Every school is made up of individual pupils often differing widely in attainments and abilities, even in the same room, or grade. In dealing with classes and grades there is undoubtedly a tendency to overlook the individual. A lesson prepared and taught for the average of a class may fail to impress some of the slower ones, or it may not furnish proper material for the more active members. All groups must be provided for. If a pupil is really unfitted for a certain grade, he should be placed where he belongs. It is sometimes better for a pupil to remain two years in a grade than to be demoted or put back. Each case must be judged by itself. If a pupil is thoroughly able to perform advanced work, he should receive promotion. This is not only an act of justice to the individual, but an incentive to others.

VISITING SCHOOLS

School systems throughout the state and the nation have many points in common. Classification by grades, courses of study, methods of teaching and promotion may be much the same in two cities or towns with quite dissimilar results. The schools of one community are unsatisfactory, while those of another are a source of pride. Various causes may help produce these dissimilar results, but the chief factor in a good school is a good teacher. Valuable help may often be obtained by observing the work of such a teacher. Visiting good schools followed by an oral or written report is a requirement that should be met by each teacher at least once a year.

EDUCATIONAL LITERATURE

The best educational literature represents the careful investigation and thought of experts. Every instructor of youth needs help and inspiration in solving various problems. A single article in some standard educational publication may furnish the needed help. Training the children of a nation is so great a task that each worker sees but a very limited portion of the whole field. We may gain a more complete idea of our relation to others, and inspiration for better work by broadening our view thru good educational literature.

ALBERT S. AMES, Superintendent.

Mr. A. S. Ames,
 Superintendent of Schools,
 Medfield, Massachusetts.

Dear Sir:

I came to the Medfield schools in the fourth week, and lost two weeks in November, owing to holidays and an accident, and therefore, my report on the music in the schools extends over a short period of time.

To make a beginning, the pupils, of each class, learned some new songs, appropriate to their grades and of various mood. Soon, they began the study of a new principle in music, also in accordance with the graded method used in the school.

All the time, they work for good tone, ability in reading and correct interpretation of songs.

The high school sing from two books of the Musical Art Series, one, a book of folk songs, the other, a book of standard popular songs.

There is an orchestra in the school, consisting, besides the piano, of four violins, played by three members of the high school and one pupil from the grammar school.

At Christmas, we had a new supply of Christmas carols, and they were sung with accompaniment in all of the rooms. The orchestra assisted in the high school.

The same work has been done in similar grades of the Lowell Mason School.

The very bright faces of the pupils, from the first grade up, are a great inspiration to me.

I wish to thank the teachers and the Superintendent for their very kind assistance and co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

NETTIE F. HAMANT, Supervisor of Music.
Medfield, Mass., January 6, 1920.

To Mr. Albert S. Ames,
Superintendent of Schools

Since writing a report last year on the drawing work in the Medfield schools, there has been scarcely any change in the course. In several rooms where the teachers were unusually crowded with regular work, less time has been given to drawing. Consequently there has been less drill in parts of the work.

The Mechanical drawing class in the high school is larger than it has ever been. I am glad to see that more pupils are interested in it. The course is brief but it gives an insight to work that is widely practical.

In resigning at this time I am glad to say that I have enjoyed teaching in Medfield. Sometimes it has been difficult to keep it somewhere near the standard but I have always found it interesting.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN M. ALLAN.

Mr. A. S. Ames,
Superintendent of Schools,

Dear Sir,

I herewith submit my report as principal of the Medfield High School for the term ending December 31, 1919.

School opened in September with an attendance of fifty-nine. This has since increased to seventy: viz, twenty-one freshmen, twenty-one sophomores, fifteen juniors, and thirteen seniors. With a small graduating class in the high school this year and a large class in the grammar school which should enter this fall the membership in the high school next year should be seventy-five or more.

During the first part of the term, work was considerably handicapped because we were running on a sort of makeshift program with only three assistants. It was thought that the work could be carried on by four teachers, but as the year progressed this arrangement became more and more unsatisfactory. We were unable to give some subjects which the pupils wanted to take. Recitation divisions and study divisions had to be crowded together into the same room. Finally, when the resignation of one teacher made a change in program necessary, it seemed an opportune time to again have a fourth assistant. The Committee voted to hire a fourth teacher. This will give an opportunity to offer subjects in addition to those which could be taught the first term; to have each subject taught by a teacher specially prepared in that subject; and to separate study classes from recitation divisions. This will help materially in scholarship and discipline. No teacher can do justice to her class if she has to watch a group of study pupils while she is trying to teach. Also few pupils will do their best work in recitation if they feel that study pupils are listening, with a chance to criticize later outside of class. With four assistants we will again be able to furnish a room for study pupils only, and allow the recitation pupils a room where they are separated from all pupils except those of their own recitation division. The gain in efficiency is well worth the extra expense.

My experience this fall would indicate that the course of study, or at least the working out of it, needs some slight revision. Apparently there have been three courses: College, business, and general. But pupils have chosen subjects haphazard from all courses, with no subject except English actually required. In other words the elective system has been carried to extremes. This has resulted in the following condition. There are a senior, a junior, and seven sophomores who take algebra with the freshman class; two seniors and a junior who take Latin with the freshmen; three juniors who take geometry with the sophomores; two seniors and three juniors who take biology with the sophomores; one senior who takes junior French; and two sophomores who take freshman business. Under these conditions it is impossible to arrange a program without conflicts between the various classes. Courses should be so arranged that only in extreme cases will it become necessary for pupils to be taking classes outside of their year. In order to do this, it is necessary to make certain courses required or compulsory. The average high school pupil does not know when he enters, just exactly what he wants. If left to choose his subjects, he naturally selects those which to him seem to require the least work, or those which some member of his family or influential friend suggests to him. Frequently he realizes later that it would have been better had he taken some study which he omitted, as witness the nine upper class pupils who are this year taking freshman algebra. For this reason the work of the first year should be rather carefully prescribed for the pupil, and courses should be strictly limited. As the pupils grow older and advance in school, more courses can be made elective and greater freedom of choice given to the pupils.

For this reason all the members of this year's freshman class have been required to take algebra, civics, and general science, and to choose between Latin and business. Algebra can do no harm to any pupil, even those wishing the business course; civics ought to be taught to all children in these days when so much distrust of and antagonism towards the government is rampant; and certainly every person should know at least as much as a course in elementary general science teaches about the world in which he is to live. For the first two years then it seems that courses might well be limited to two: Business and college; with a larger choice of subjects in the last two years from which the pupil who is not going to college may select a general course. I should recommend the adoption of the following course; at least four full subjects to be taken by each pupil each year.

First year

English R
 Algebra R
 Community Civics R, $\frac{1}{2}$ course
 General Science R, $\frac{1}{2}$ course
 Latin C
 Introductory Business B
 Drawing E, $\frac{1}{4}$ course

Third year

English R
 Review algebra and geometry C
 History (Europe and since 1700) E
 Latin (Cicero) C
 French C
 Physics C
 Shorthand and typewriting B
 Bookkeeping B
 Drawing E, $\frac{1}{4}$ course
 R—required of all pupils
 B—business course

Second year

English R
 Geometry C
 Biology E
 Latin (Caesar) C
 French C
 Bookkeeping B
 Commercial Geography B,
 $\frac{1}{2}$ course
 History (to 1700) E
 Drawing E, $\frac{1}{4}$ course

Fourth year

English R
 Economics R
 U. S. History and govt. E
 Latin (Virgil) C
 French C
 Chemistry C
 Shorthand and typewriting B
 Drawing, $\frac{1}{4}$ course
 C—college course
 E—elective in any course

Such a course would furnish the equivalent of a first class college course, also a good business course, with opportunity for those not going to college nor yet wishing business work to take a good general course. Pupils choosing subjects for a general course, however, should take such subjects in the years when they are offered in order to avoid conflicts in the program. This course does not differ materially from the present one, except in the first year. Spanish and commercial law have been dropped; the former because it does not seem very popular, the latter because of its doubtful value in a high school course. By proper alternation, of subjects in the last two years, such a course could easily be carried out by five teachers as at present.

Before closing, I wish to say just a word or two about attendance. Absence and tardiness are very prevalent—in fact, much too prevalent. Some pupils have been tardy on an average of two days a week all during the fall term. I wish to ask the co-operation of the parents in preventing this. Pupils should realize that while going to school they are forming habits which will stick to them during their lifetime. Unpunctuality in the business world often costs dear. A pupil whose school record is full of absence and tardiness can not be recommended as wholly reliable to a business man who is looking for help. Parents must realize this, and should see that absences occur only when absolutely necessary, and that tardiness is very infrequent. Can we not have a great improvement in this during the rest of the year.

In closing, I wish to thank you and the members of the School Committee for the courtesy and spirit of co-operation shown towards me and my work.

Respectfully submitted,

ALTON H. HARTFORD.
